

U.S. to Get Soviet Reply

Rogers, Gromyko Confer Tonight On Several International Issues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Nixon administration looked to a meeting between Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko tonight for signs of whether the Soviets intend to negotiate seriously on some outstanding East-West issues.

Items for the dine-and-talk session at Rogers' Waldorf suite included the long-awaited Kremlin answer to President Nixon's bid to begin missile curb talks, the Middle East crisis, European security and Berlin.

It is the first private, high-level U.S.-Soviet parley since Nixon took office with his "negotiation rather than confrontation" posture toward relations with the Communist world.

Moscow's responses to the new U.S. leadership, in Washington's opinion, have added up to a mixture of pluses and minuses—and an unexpectedly long silence on the U.S. notice, given June 11, of American readiness to begin talks with the Russians on limitation of missiles and other strategic arms.

State in Helsinki?

Finnish Foreign Minister Ahti Karjalainen said over the weekend that the two nuclear superpowers probably will start the disarmament talks in Helsinki in mid-October. But U.S. officials said no word had been received yet from the Russians.

Some clues to the Kremlin's negotiating stance appeared in Gromyko's speech Friday to the U.N. General Assembly—which U.S. diplomats rated as standard Soviet fare and somewhat disappointing—and in private contacts.

On Vietnam, for instance, Gromyko's strong public rebuff of Nixon's plea for help in persuading Hanoi dimmed U.S. hopes for a favorable reaction should Rogers broach the question with Gromyko.

More Reasonable

On the Middle East, Rogers expects Gromyko in private may pursue a policy more reasonable from the U.S. standpoint than his public defense of the Arab cause. Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin scheduled another meeting this morning to do some groundwork for tonight's talks, and on Saturday the Soviets agreed to further Big Four power discussions.

On Berlin, some Western diplomats suspect Moscow's latest approaches to Bonn are aimed at influencing the West German elections next Sunday.

The European security question has been raised frequently by the Soviets this year. As Washington sees the Communist proposal for an East-West meeting of European powers to work out a permanent settlement, it seems similar to past Moscow efforts to get withdrawal of U.S. forces from Europe without an equivalent Soviet cutback.

Another Meeting

The Soviets have not made clear whether United States would be invited to the proposed European security conference, U.S. sources said.

A second dinner meeting for Rogers and Gromyko is scheduled Friday, with the Russian as host. Whether Nixon will invite Gromyko to Washington—as presidents have sometimes done in the past—may depend, at least in part, on how the Rogers-Gromyko talks work out.

Nixon talked with Gromyko for only about half a minute when the President held his reception for U.N. diplomats here Thursday.

Rogers had a full schedule of meetings with other foreign leaders during the day today.

A newlywed couple, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Charlton of Wheel- ing, Ill., were among those who escaped with minor injuries.

Two other newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marshall of Chicago, were reported in serious condition.

James Waters, 22, Joliet, Ill., and his 21-year-old bride of one day, Patricia, also were aboard the plane. Members of the family in Joliet, said they were told by embassy officials that Waters was in serious condition in a hospital and that his wife was missing.

Some passengers were trapped in their seats and rescuers had to use blow torches to free them.

It was raining slightly at 5:29 p.m. when the crash occurred, a few moments after the plane had been cleared to land. The mud and water made the wreckage area difficult to reach.

Rescue teams, officials and newsmen waded through mud and water up to their waists and deeper, carrying stretchers with dead and injured on their shoulders. Many tied handkerchiefs over their noses and mouths to keep from choking on swarms of black gnats.

As night fell, a television station appealed for persons with portable lighting equipment. Helicopters lifted out some of the injured and also hovered overhead to help illuminate the rescue work.

The crash was the second of a Mexicana jet in four months. On June 4 a domestic flight crashed in Monterrey, killing all 79 aboard including Mexican tennis star Rafael Osuna.

New Military Cuts Revealed By Pentagon

Economy Moves To Include 77,500 Slice in Manpower

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced plans today to cut U.S. armed strength by another 77,500 men, sidelining more than 200 planes and mothballing another 22 ships.

The new economy moves will save an estimated $356 million this year.

The manpower reductions include deactivation of two-thirds of the 5th Marine Division which was activated for the Vietnam war in March 1966.

A total of 20,300 Marines are involved but the division's 26th Regiment will stay in Vietnam.

The Navy ship layup, which brings the total for the year to 98, includes the intelligence gathering ships Banner—sister ship of the USS Pueblo which was seized by North Korea—and the Palm Beach.

The Air Force will reduce its manpower strength by 50,000 and is to cut its civilian employ payroll by 13,000.

A total of 209 planes will be cut off the Air Force active inventory or phases out.

These include such special types as 24 WB47 weather reconnaissance aircraft, F100 and F4 fighters and big cargo planes.

The latest defense cutbacks are part of Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird's program to cut $3 billion from his previously planned defense budget.

Counting today's announced cuts, the Pentagon has now made $1.256 billion in spending reductions, with further ship layups, aircraft phaseouts and manpower reductions still to come.

Total U.S. military strength cuts—which to some extent reflect the American withdrawals from Vietnam—now stand at about 196,000. This will leave the over-all U.S. military force at 3.26 million by next summer.

U.S. Cost of Living Climbs Even More

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paced by higher costs for food, housing and medical care, the cost of living went up another notch in August, four-tenths of one per cent, the government reported today.

Egg prices went up 20 per cent from July to August.

Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the demand for eggs and consequent lower supplies reflected a shift from higher priced red meats to eggs.

Rents went up four-tenths of one per cent, the largest monthly increase in 13 years.

The Consumer Price Index rose to 128.7, in August, meaning it cost $12.87 to buy the same goods and services that were bought for $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

The August price rise was slightly less than the five-tenths of one per cent from June to July. It meant that the annual rate of increase is 4.8 per cent, compared to the 6 per cent annual rate reflected in the June-July increase.

However, Chase told a news conference "The August prices first time in eight months, but seem to indicate no significant change from what we've been experiencing the last few months."

Smaller Climbs?

He said that it was encouraging that the cost of living was not going up any more sharply, but he wouldn't draw any further conclusions.

So far this year retail prices have increased by 4 per cent, compared to 3.1 per cent in the first eight months of 1968. Food prices in August were 5.7 per cent more than in the same month of 1968.

Charges for consumer services went up seven-tenths of one per cent, led by significant increases for mortgage interest, property taxes, residential gas and electricity rates and home repair services.

Alcoholic beverages, gasoline, housekeeping supplies, automobile insurance, automobile repairs, movie admissions and medical care services all advanced in cost.

Beef prices declined for the first time in eight months, but beef prices were offset by increases for other meats.

Stroke Reported by Soviets

Rumors of Mao Illness Called 'Lies'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Chinese Communist Embassy denounced as "lies and slander" today reports circulating in Moscow that Chairman Mao Tse-tung is critically ill.

The reports, lacking any official Soviet confirmation, have been attributed to "reliable Communist sources." One report said Mao had suffered a stroke Sept. 2 and that only massive medical attention was keeping him alive.

"This is typical of the lies and slander of the American bourgeois press which is always hostile to People's China," said a Chinese Embassy spokesman. Informed that Communist sources in Moscow had circulated the report, he snapped "That is the same thing."

Western diplomats commenting on the reports said they were impressed by the specific detail of some of the accounts, adding that illness of Mao would help explain such events as Premier Chou En-lai's abrupt departure Sept. 4 from Hanoi in advance of the funeral of Ho Chi Minh, president of North Vietnam.

Others Untrue

Skeptics here, however, noted that there have been many Moscow reports in recent years on Mao's failing health, and that despite specific details, the reports later proved to be untrue.

China watchers in Hong Kong generally discounted the rumors.

Although rumors had been spreading in that British colony for more than a month, sources there with contacts in China say they have no confirmation of the rumors.

One source noted, however, that some China specialists believe there may be a link between the rumors and reports that few posters of Mao are being put up in Hong Kong in preparation for the celebrations of Red China's National Day Oct. 1.

"They may not want to overglorify him if they believe he really is ill and may die," the source said.

Time magazine said Sunday that Communist sources in Moscow reported that the 75-year-old Chinese Communist party chairman suffered a stroke on Sept. 2 and was in critical condition. It said "a massive medical effort" was keeping him alive.

Observers in Hong Kong discounted the report, saying the Soviet Union "would stoop to anything" in its feud with Red China.

"Those who say Mao is dead or dying are bound to be right some day," one observer said. "We get these stories of illness about every two months, and I don't believe this is any more accurate than the others."

May Appear Oct. 1

A Japanese correspondent in Peking reported today that there are "strong" expectations that Mao will make his usual public appearance in Peking on Oct. 1. The correspondent said this expectation was based on a

Smugglers Met at Border By 'Operation Intercept'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Operation Intercept, the government's drive to cut off drugs from Mexico, netted uncounted illegal pills and thousands of pounds of marijuana as it reached full operation over the weekend along 2,500 miles of the U.S.-Mexico border.

The intercepted contraband included half a ton of marijuana aboard a plane that was seized. Some 90,000 persons in 30,000 cars who went to Mexico for the bullfight at Tijuana and horse racing at Agua Caliente Sunday statement Sunday that Operation Intercept was in full swing for inspection at San Ysidro and would continue indefinitely.

A spokesman for the program at Los Angeles said a rented airplane leaving Mexico tried to evade Operation Intercept aircraft but was forced to land at Bakersfield Friday. It carried 1,000 pounds of marijuana, the spokesman said, and the pilot, Michael Thomas Mitchell, 23, a University of Washington student from Seattle, was arrested and booked for investigation of smuggling.

Authorities said Mitchell told them he had paid $27,000 for the cars who went to Mexico for the bullfight at Tijuana and horse racing at Agua Caliente Sunday statement Sunday that Operation Intercept was in full swing for inspection at San Ysidro and would continue indefinitely.

Pilot Narrowly Avoids Crash

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A Trans World Airlines pilot said he put aircraft that he was not able to identify.

Drummond said he quickly dropped about 300 feet and then that happened was, "a little coffee spilled out of some cups."

He continued to St. Louis for a stop then went to Wichita, Kan. "The other plane passed right in front of us from left to right," said William F. Rosenthal, a St. Louis advertising executive who was a passenger on the flight.

Rosenthal said nearly every one gasped and one of the plane's two hostesses fell in the aisle. He said the worse thing that happened was, "a little coffee spilled out of some cups."

Eighty-three persons were killed at Indianapolis Sept. 9 when an airborne Allegheny Airlines DC9 was struck in the rear by a private plane that had not been sighted on radar.

Compressed Air Hose Is Dangerous Plaything

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

An item in this column about compressed air hoses, as used in shops and factories, has brought me information from a variety of sources which is of grave importance.

Compressed air can be dangerous, even to the point of death.

A blast of air at 40 pounds per square inch can rupture an ear drum at a distance of four inches; worse yet, it can cause a brain hemorrhage and be fatal.

At 40 pounds, such an air jet can drive metal chips and other debris at speeds of 70 miles an hour.

Such an air jet, directed into the mouth, can rupture lungs and intestine. Aimed at the eyes, it can cause blindness. An official warning from provincial authorities in Alberta adds that using an air hose with due only maimed but killed some it has been estimated that as little as four pounds of pressure can rupture the bowel.

Thosteson

quite apart from any dirt, fragments, or chips that can be driven into the flesh.

Safety goggles should always be worn when using compressed air, but the danger is to more than just the eyes.

Apart from the hazards of not using an air hose with due only maimed but killed some it has been estimated that as dangerous practices.

One is using air for the wrong thing. There is a temptation, it seems, to use an air jet to blow dust and dirt out of the hair, or clothing.

Safety authorities warn flatly that this should never be done. Danger of ruining ears or eyes is obvious, but there is a further danger. If there is even a slight scratch or puncture of the skin, air can be driven into the flesh causing swelling and agonizing pain. And perhaps bubbles of air in blood vessels.

But perhaps the worst damage — and certainly the most unexcusable — is from horseplay. It is sheer stupidity for a so-called prankster to turn an air hose onto a fellow worker or fellow student, but I have been told by more than one source that this happens, and has not only maimed but killed some victims.

An industrial arts teacher writes, "I have always had trouble with my students, curious as they are, playing with the air gun. After reading your article, many of my students now feel it is perfectly safe to play with compressed air."

Well, I don't think they will C.S.P. Oldest example I find cited in the medical literature was a man past 120. At lesser ages (80 to 100) there are more. Women become infertile with the menopause. Men may be fertile as long as they live.

that lines at 70 to 80 pounds are not uncommon. Yes, it's just air. But air driven at high velocity. So is a typhoon "just air." But deadly

Dear Dr. Thosteson. Is it impossible for a 68-year-old man to father children? A friend and I are arguing. He says it is, I say it isn't. At what age does it become impossible? — Miss

Swing Your Partner, Promenade

Chet Shouldice, Neenah, a member of the Fox Valley Squares shows LeRoy Konkle, Menasha, Mrs. Norbert Dohr and Mrs. Konkle one of the basic steps in square dancing. At right, Brad Landry, Green Bay, square dance instructor and caller, and his wife, show Mr. and Mrs. Roy Simmerling, Menasha, and Mr. and Mrs. Deris Kloes how to swing your partner, during a session for beginners Tuesday evening. Sponsoring the session were the Fox Valley Squares.

Allemande left, allemande right, swing your partner, promenade. So goes the call as square dancers move about the floor.

Because of the ever-growing popularity of square dancing, some of the square dance club in the area are sponsoring beginners' classes to acquaint people with modern square dancing and to promote participation in the activity. During the classes, beginners begin to unravel the mystery behind the caller's words, learning to respond with quick, moving feet.

Tuesday evening at Sabre Lanes and Thursday evening at the Starlite Bar, north of Kaukauna, the Fox Valley Squares and the Village Squares respectively opened a new season of beginners' dancing classes. Couples interested in learning were invited to attend to learn the steps and to share the pleasure of dancing round and squares with others.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Van Boxtel, known across the nation as "Mr. and Mrs. Square Dancers" and two of the teachers at the Thursday evening event, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary early in October at a square dance party.

Auxiliary Installs Mrs. Harold Dodds

SHERWOOD — Mrs. Harold Dodds was installed as president of the American Legion Auxiliary unit Thursday.

Other new officers are Mrs. Jacob Mueller, first vice president; Mrs. Gordon Funk, second vice president; Mrs. Clarence Zahringer, treasurer; Miss Ann Zahringer, chaplain; Mrs. Gilbert Thiel, historian; Mrs. Andrew Kees, sergeant-at-arms, and Mrs. Elmer Wundrow, color bearer. Mrs. Kenneth Ott will continue as secretary. The new officers were installed by Miss Zahringer, a past president.

Committee chairmen appointed by Mrs. Dodds include Mrs. Edward Rogalska, Americanism; Mrs. Carl Hendrickson, Badger Girls State; Mrs. John Stumpf, child welfare; Mrs. Clarence Mueller, community service; Mrs. John Dietzen, constitution, by laws and legislation; Mrs. Adrian Mader, rehabilitation and music; Mrs. Leslie Stumpf, national security and civil defense; Mrs. Thiel, foreign relations and publicity; Mrs. Ott and Mrs. Wundrow, poppy; Mrs. Julius Schmidt, hospital equipment, and Mrs. Arthur Kiefer, service officer. Mrs. Dodds will serve as membership chairman.

The unit will again sponsor a used clothing drive for Indians at Neopit. Clothing may be taken to Mrs. John Stumpf's home in Sherwood where it will be packed and sent to St. Anthony Indian School for distribution.

All future meetings will be conducted on the third Thursday of the month. Miss Mary Stumpf, whom the unit sponsored at Badger Girls State, will speak at the Oct. 16 meeting. Delegates also will be named to the annual Calumet County council meeting Oct. 22 at Stockbridge.

Challenge of Office Is Employing the Mature

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — It is an office much like any other office, except that the staff members have a bit more white hair than is usual—and a whole lot more enthusiasm.

It is an office that practices what it preaches, which is that bringing retirees back into the business world provides an experienced and dependable source of needed manpower. Three of its own employees are 74, and the ages of the rest range downward—but not far downward.

It is the office of TEMPS, acronym for Temporary Employment and Mature Persons Services, Inc., which is aimed primarily at supplying older persons with positions in clerical, management and professional fields.

Except for Joseph Kastenholz, in charge of operations, and personnel director Lorraine Beyer, the work of TEMPS is carried on mainly by men and women whose ages match those of the workers they recruit and place in temporary jobs.

All of the interviewers who talk with job applicants to determine how to fit their skills and backgrounds into current needs are over 65, have PhDs and have spent a lifetime in personnel-type work. An 81-year-old former accountant works for the firm, selling its services to businessmen.

"Believe me, our people do a day's work," declares Kastenholz, an accountant who has served as controller for one of the nation's largest temporary placement companies. "They have worked a lifetime and demonstrated that they can perform and hold a job. Regardless of the position, they want to give the full measure of their experience to it."

The organization started in Philadelphia and was so successful that a New York office was opened a few months ago. Other branches are scheduled to open shortly in Boston, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles, the Baltimore-Washington area and New York suburbs.

Initial inquiry letters to determine if retirees were interested in returning to work were directed to members of the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons. Of the 3,500 who answered in New York, 1,200 have already been interviewed.

"Our interviewers seek to put the older person at ease," explains Kastenholz. "The older job applicants are afraid and embarrassed to go to a general agency because a number have had bad experiences, even though there are laws against discrimination because of age."

Learn Qualifications

Counselors seek to learn what the applicants are qualified for, what they are interested in doing and how many hours a week they want to work. The general impression the applicant makes goes in his file along with comments such as these: "Very alert, neat, personable, does not look his age, likes dealing with people."

Job-seekers are concentrated most heavily in the clerical field, a fact that also accounts for the sex ratio being 75 per cent women, 25 per cent men, age 55 and up. The oldest applicant to date is 87.

"Some want to supplement their retirement incomes and want to earn only enough so that their Social Security payments won't be cut," Kastenholz says. "On the other hand, many don't care about the money but just want something to do."

A typical case is a 79-year-old man who owned his own typewriter repair and rental business and had been doing volunteer work in a veteran's hospital since retiring in 1958. He has been placed as a mail clerk in an advertising agency.

Blochs to Mark 60th Wedding Anniversary

NEENAH — Mr and Mrs Max Bloch, route 1, will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary at a family dinner and Open House Sunday. The Open House will be from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Eagles Hall.

The Blochs were married Sept. 22, 1909, at St. Patrick Catholic Church, Menasha. Honor attendant, Mrs. Arthur Niles, plans to be present at the anniversary celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Bloch operated a farm in the Town of Vnland until moving to Neenah in 1950.

The couple has one daughter, Mrs. Willard Schundler; one granddaughter and one great-granddaughter.

Eleven Women Are Cited For Contributions to Society

CHICAGO, ILL. — Mary Wells, New York, the originator of multicolored airplanes; Mrs. Coretta Scott King, Atlanta, Ga., wife of slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and a civil rights leader in her own right, and Dr. Margaret Mead, New York, a well-known anthropologist, are among the 11 women cited for significant contributions to society by the editors of the currently published sixth edition of "Who's Who of American Women," a Marquis-Who's Who, Inc., publication.

Other women cited include an artist, a doctor devoted to furthering sex education, a newspaper critic, a poet, an urban sociologist, a pediatrician, an opera singer and a U. S. congresswoman.

Advertising: Mary Wells Lawrence, New York — Pastel-colored airplanes and Pucci designs for stewardesses are the trademarks of Mary Wells and of her agency, Wells, Rich & Greene Advertising. Co-founder and president, Mary Wells (Mrs. Harding Lawrence), with vibrant fem Vnity-tiny and her vibrant femininity and daring imaginativeness, has rocketed herself to the highest known salary in the agency business — $225,000 — and to a niche in the Copy Club of New York's Copywriters' Hall of Fame.

Anthropology: Margaret Mead, New York — The study of anthropology is the "whole of life" to Dr. Margaret Mead, world renowned anthropologist. She is cited for her pioneering efforts in bringing methods of anthropology to bear on the urgent problems of contemporary "civilized" society. She has researched and written prodigiously. Her first cultural studies, "Coming of Age in Samoa" and "Growing Up In New Guinea," have become classics of anthropology.

Art: Georgia O'Keeffe, Abiquiu, N.M. — "I think more about tomorrow than today or yesterday" says 81-year-old Georgia O'Keeffe, a distinguished pioneer of modern art. She developed the art form most representative of herself, a combination of experience and her adventurous spirit, to paint with an excitement that elicits praise from her critics.

Civil Rights: Mrs. Coretta Scott King, Atlanta, Ga. — Mrs. Coretta Scott King has taken up the burden of her husband's dream of brotherhood, freedom and justice realized through nonviolence and love, to become a force in her own right within the civil rights movement. She has developed an ideology of her own linking the fight for civil rights with the struggle for world peace.

Education: Dr. Mary Steichen Calderone, New York — Dr. Mary Steichen Calderone received a citation for her central leadership in providing information on sex to local educational efforts. Recognition for her position as Medical Director of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America in 1964, she formed an independent nonprofit organization called SIECUS (Sex Information and Education Council of the United States), to provide local efforts with films, books, articles, lectures and newsletters in holding with her belief that sex is a total relationship — racial, religious, international and interpersonal — to be dealt with openly.

Journalism: Ada Louise Huxtable, New York — The urban environment is her beat. Ada Louise Huxtable and her pen are on guard against tasteless architects, short-sighted developers, and inept city planners, leveling her criticisms with stucco strokes. About the Pan-American building, she wrote, "immensely bad, immensely expensive, (and) immense." She is cited for her discerning eye and her "consistently bold and

Autumn Good Time to Begin Growing Roses

There's a springtime sort of pleasure this season of the year for gardeners who discover that autumn is a good time to begin growing roses. Wherever winter temperatures rarely go below zero, fall planting is right for roses of most types.

The American Association of Nurserymen has provided some suggestions on the subject which will contribute to the success of the planting and the future beauty of the plants.

Locate Carefully
Choose the location of the rose bed with care, advise the nurserymen. Put the roses where you can see them frequently, enjoy them intimately and care for them conveniently. Plant them as far as possible from any big shrubs or trees. Roses need privacy, because they just can't compete with other roots for the moisture and food they need to survive.

Roses like the sunlight for about six hours — at least for half the day. Morning sun seems best and some types of roses burn or bleach under hot afternoon sun.

The planting hole should be 15 to 18 inches wide for each rose plant, even if the roots don't look as though they require that much space. The depth of the hole should be just enough to bring the bud union (the bulge where the main stem starts) about level with the surface soil.

Mound of Soil
In the center of the bottom of the hole there should be a mound of soil over which the roots of the plant will be spread. Hold the bush in the

Octoberfest Scheduled at St. Therese

An Octoberfest will be held Oct. 5 at St. Therese Catholic Church, it has been announced by the Rev. Edward Wagner, pastor.

Festivities will begin at 11 a.m. with a chicken dinner. Rides, games and handwork sales will continue through the day. A buffet chicken dinner will be served again beginning at 3 p.m. Entertainment and dancing is scheduled and will continue through 11 p.m.

Grand marshals are Mr. and Mrs. Bob Helser assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Zaromski.

There'll be a polka band in the afternoon in the tent and a rock group in the evening in the gym.

Something has been planned for every member of the family, according to the pastor.

forthright" insistence on a quality urban environment.

Literature: Marianne Craig Moore, New York — The "First Lady of Poetry," Marianne Craig Moore, has brought precision, restraint, wit and sharp sensuous perception into her poetry to elicit her citation and John Fullers' comment . . . "Miss Moore is tough and quizzical, one of those rare poets who makes a joke out of a moral without sounding preachy. This is because, although her conception of man's nature is guided by an intense secular joy, she is absolutely no sentimentalist."

Medicine: Dr. Virginia Appgar, Tenafly, N.J. — Millions of children throughout the world may be alive today because of the concern of a single individual Dr. Virginia Appgar. Aware of a lack of immediate examination at birth for critical heart and lung conditions, Dr. Appgar devised a 10-point examination, now standard procedure in many hospitals worldwide. Her recent attention has turned to the prenatal period and the dangers of drugs, X-ray, and German measles to the unborn infant.

Music: Beverly Sills, New York — To Beverly Sills, "Opera is a wonderful opportunity to be someone else for three hours a night . . . They're hours of pure joy." Her citation is for adding a new dimension to opera with her voice, to earn the Italian critics title of "the incomparable," and Rise Stevens praise of "a phenomenon."

Politics: Shirley St. Hill Chisholm, Brooklyn, N. Y. — The first Negro woman in the House of Representatives, Mrs. Shirley Chisholm, is concerned with the problems of the community she represents, so much so that she fought to have her committee assignment changed from agriculture to something of more immediate concern to the people she represents in New York's 12th Congressional District, the Bedford-Stuyvesant area of Brooklyn. Mrs. Shirley Chisholm wants to be known as a "politician who developed trust in public servants for the young, both black and white."

Social Science: Jane Jacobs, Toronto, Canada — Jane Jacobs received a citation for her passion for analyzing the work of the city and for her physical involvement in civic battles and urban renewal projects to improve the city. She is willing not only to write but to fight on the streets for her vision of the modern city, yet her love for the city does not embrace beautification programs, which she considers a superficial cosmetic idea.

Penchant for Pearls Predicted

BY AP NEWSFEATURES

This is the season of the cultured pearl. Fall designer collections drip with the gem ... and pearl accessories, in everything from dog-collars and bibs down to knotted strands dominate the fashion picture.

But buying pearls is not simply a matter of selecting the proper length and design. As with most other things, quality and price are prime considerations.

The five factors that determine the quality of pearls are: size, shape, color, luster and surface smoothness. It is the degree of excellence of all these factors combined that decide the quality of a cultured pearl.

Quality in Any Size

The size of cultured pearls is measured in millimeters, and fine quality can be found in any size. Obviously, large pearls of fine quality are more rare and therefore more expensive than smaller ones. There are necklaces available up to $100,000 in which the cultured pearls run as large as 16 mm. However, pearls in the 6 mm. to 8 mm. sizes are much more reasonable in price and will give the fashion effect you want.

The shape of cultured pearls varies from perfectly round to semi-round to baroque. Many women find baroque pearls, with their interesting shapes and fine luster, more desirable than perfect rounds. And baroque cultured pearls run less than half the price of the rounds.

The colors of cultured pearls are almost limitless. Some shades are considered more flattering for certain skin and hair tones. As a general guide, jewelry experts advise creamy tones for brunettes, blue-greys for grey haired ladies, pinks for blondes and golden pearls for darker-complexioned women.

The luster of a pearl can best be described as the iridescent glow from within the pearl, as opposed to shine, which is a surface effect. Only real pearls — cultured or Oriental — possess luster because of their crystalline structure. To see this quality for yourself, compare imitation pearls and cultured pearls under an indirect light. Both will have a shiny high-light area. Only the cultured pearl will show an iridescent glow from its shadow areas.

A Seven-Strand Bib of Cultured pearls is tucked into the dramatically deep neckline of a high waisted, little girl evening gown done in navy jersey and white satin by Geoffrey Beene.

Surface smoothness can be as easily judged by a novice as by an expert. Almost all cultured pearls have some slight indentions in their surfaces. Some have tiny spots of discoloration. The perfectly smooth and spotless cultured pearl is rare indeed, and very valuable.

According to the Cultured Pearl Association, there will be an increase of 15 per cent to 20 per cent in the retail prices of cultured pearls by October. The Association gives several reasons for the impending rise.

Fewer Pearl Farmers

Due to the decreased pearl demand during the last years, the Association says that many of the smaller pearl farmers in Japan dropped out of the business. This cut the size of the pearl crop by about 25 per cent, mostly in the smaller sizes of pearls the 3mm. to 5mm. range. This year's pearl crop is down 50 per cent on top of that because of an extremely cold winter in Japan that killed many of the remaining oysters.

Then European buyers went to Japan in unprecedented numbers this year and bought 30 per cent more than their usual supplies. The threat of devaluating European currencies encourages people to put their money in "portable wealth" commodities such as gems.

Finally, growing conditions in Japan are not improving. The waters in some area are completely farmed out and must be "rested." This means a constant search for new areas where fine quality cultured pearls can be grown. Labor costs are rising, too, since for the first time in Japan's long history, there is a rapidly developing labor shortage. The Association points out that all of these factors are already being reflected in cultured pearl prices.

Knit it yourself

Knit Direction

BY LOIS HOLMES

Be in tune with those who establish fashion direction. Knitters can always be selective because they can knit to suit their own busy lives and the changing social scene.

This traditional cardigan features an interesting zig-zag eyelet pattern, easy enough for beginner, with dainty knitted in picot hems at neckline, cuff and bottom edge for easy finishing. Four - ply knitting worsted makes quick knitting and since it's knitted on circular needles, finishing is really at a minimum. Perfect for that white sweater that's always needed, regardless of age or size, make it in synthetic yarn if desired. Extend the purpose of your garment by knitting a matching skirt by hand or machine and save the price of a new fall suit.

To order the pattern for the Zig Zag Cardigan, Hand Knit 555, send $1 in currency, check or money order to: Lois Holmes of California, Post-Crescent Box 6002, Inglewood, Calif. 90302.

Please print your name, address, zip code and pattern numbers plainly. Send 15 cents for each pattern for first-class mail and special handling, or 25 cents each for air mail.

Dear Lois: How can I learn about different kinds of yarns without spending a great deal of money? — Annette D. Dear Annette: The variety of lovely yarns available to knitters today is overwhelming. Yarn sample cards may be purchased for about 50 cents each from several different mail-order knitting supply firms. To find these firms, look in the advertisements in the knitting and needlework magazines sold at your newsstand. Examine the yarns closely.

Familiarize yourself with the different uses for and characteristics of each yarn. Of great assistance in your study of yarns is an interchangeable yarn chart, which tells you just what yarns of different brands and types may be substituted for others. You can take this with you when you go shopping for yarn.

McCall's publishes such a chart, revised annually, which you can order by mail. Request "Interchangeable Yarns List" and enclose 2 cents in cash plus a large stamped, self-addressed envelope. Send order to: McCall's Needlework Leaflet Service, McCall St., Dayton, Ohio 45401.

Don't forget, Annette, that your local yarn shop owner will also be willing to help you. Decide on your project, tell her any special problems you have and let her guide you. If you are co-operative and thoughtful concerning her time, she can be your most valuable knitting asset.

Orders Stand Until New Directive Given

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband shoved your column under my nose this evening. "Don't miss this," he said smugly. "It was written especially for you."

The letter he wanted me to see was from Missouri Mule — the girl who stubbornly refused to call her mother-in-law Morn. "Mule" relented when her mother-in-law was on her death-orders until you get a new directive. Place the burden where it belongs — on Mrs. Jones.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A fellow executive has caused me no end of irritation because she consistently arrives late for every appointment. This same woman always manages to be late for every social engagement. Not only does she fail to apologize but she seems uncommonly proud of her habitual tardiness.

Recently I decided to speak to her about it. She informed me (in high dudgeon yet) that people who arrive promptly for business or social engagements are ignorant — and, in a sense, admitting their inferiority. Also, she argued, the person who is Johnny-on-the-spot at the appointed time advertises the fact that he had nothing else to do. This, she insists, is damaging to one's prestige.

I say people who keep others waiting are rude and inconsiderate. Will you please express your views? — Avid Reader

Dear Av: The person who is consistently late is indeed rude and inconsiderate. Also poorly organized. Intentional tardiness, designed to give the illusion of importance, is stupid. The most important people I know are the most considerate — and the most prompt.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am going to marry a very fine girl in a few weeks. We have gone together for almost a year and are compatible in every way. Only one problem: She has admitted to one serious love affair in her life but she refuses to tell me who the guy was.

I am going crazy trying to figure it out. Every time we run into one of her former boy friends I torture myself wondering, "Is this the one?"

If we are going to have a good life together I think she should tell me everything. I have told her all about my previous affairs — who, when, where, how — every detail I could think of. Now, I'd like the same consideration. What do you say? — V-12

Dear V: I say you have a very big mouth. Stop bullying the girl and think of something else to talk about.

Too many couples go from matrimony to acrimony. Don't let your marriage flog before it gets started. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage — What to Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long-stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Copyright, 1969)

UW to Sponsor Women's Day With the Arts

MADISON — The third annual Women's Day with the Arts, scheduled for Oct. 28 at the University of Wisconsin, will include a look at pre-Columbian art and the early Romans in France as well as songs of the Romantic period.

Sponsored by the Wisconsin Alumni Association which has been running a spring Women's Day for the past nine years, the program will be held at Wisconsin Center and Alumni House. A special guided tour of the new Humanities Building will be featured this year.

Mrs. Wade Plater is general chairman of the day, which will begin with a coffee hour at 8:30 a.m. and end with a concert by the University Tudor Singers conducted by Prof. Vance Madison Chancellor Edwin Young will welcome the women at the noon luncheon. Other UW faculty members taking part are Prof. Paul L. MacKendrick of the classics department and Dr. Louisa R. Stark of anthropology.

bed. (Enter violins — and don't forget a mop for the tears.)

It so happens my mother-in-law gave me orders the day her son and I became engaged. They were as follows: "Don't ever call me Mom because I am not your mother." I was so hurt I went to the bathroom and cried. From that day on I have called her Mrs. Jones.

The old battle-axe has softened up these past 10 years, but she'll always be Mrs. Jones to me. My husband says I'm hard as nails. Am I? — Santa Fe Rose

Dear Rose: Tell your husband his mother gave you your orders ten years ago and you'll continue to follow those

Sheinwold Brilliancy Exhibited By Singer

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Like millions of my countrymen, I have been a fan of Jo Stafford's for some years, but I think I saw the singer at her best during a bridge game recently. The opening lead would have thrown me completely off the track, but Miss Stafford didn't waver from the path of brilliance.

West should have led a spade, of course. It pays to lead your partner's suit unless you have something better to offer. Nothing about West's heart should have given him the feeling that they were better than his partner's spades.

Miss Stafford, East, won the first trick with the ace of hearts and considered returning a heart. This would produce three heart tricks if West had as little as the queen at the head of his suit.

Declarer would win a heart return and try a diamond finesse, losing to the queen. Now nothing could stop South from winning six diamonds, two hearts and a club. South might even score an overtrick or two.

Kills Dummy

Instead, at the second trick Miss Stafford returned the king of clubs. South might have made his contract if he had refused the trick, but he was delighted to win with dummy's ace. This play killed the dummy.

South eventually tried the diamond finesse and wound up making no diamond tricks at all. He had to play carefully to get six tricks, but down three was not really a result that gladdened his heart.

The correct play of the hand by both sides is very complicated. West should lead a spade. East takes the ace of spades and returns the king of clubs. Declarer refuses the trick, and East must lead the queen of spades to the king.

South now runs three clubs, and East discards one spade and two hearts. A heart from dummy forces East to take the ace of hearts and get out with a heart. South cashes the other top heart, squeezing East out of

Judge Schaefer Won't Attend Meeting on Non-Support Cases

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer said today he will not attend a Thursday night meeting concerning non-support cases or any other cases prior to the trial of the cases in court.

Dist. Atty. James R. Long worked with other county officials in scheduling the public meeting. Schaefer was one of several county officials invited to attend the session.

Schaefer, in a letter to Long, indicated he was in favor of such a meeting and believed the session could be "constructive."

He added, "However, in my position as judge in the court

5 Hospitalized After Crash

Cars Hit Head-on On Prospect Street In Combined Locks

COMBINED LOCKS — Five people were injured in a head-on crash of two vehicles on Prospect Street about 4:15 p.m. Sunday, and all were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, Appleton, for treatment.

Lloyd Hermesen, 32, 117 Birch St., Kimberly, driver of one of the cars, suffered a broken leg and lacerations. His wife suffered bruises and lacerations and eight-month-old son, Mark, was admitted to the hospital for observation. Other passengers not injured included two daughters, Nancy, 7, and Donna, 9.

Gary Watry, 19, 1190 Depot St., Little Chute, the other driver, suffered a broken leg and lacerations, and a passenger in his car, William Hietpas, 16, 720 Depot St., Little Chute, suffered lacerations and bruises.

According to police, Hermesen was traveling west and Watry east when the accident occurred. Police were investigating a report that the Watry vehicle crossed the centerline of the roadway just prior to the accident.

Both cars were demolished.

Final Verdict on Post Office for Appleton Expected This Week

BY CLIFF MILLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The director of the Minneapolis postal region expects to decide sometime this week whether Appleton's post office plans are carried on or postponed as part of the 75 per cent cutback in federal construction ordered recently by President Nixon.

Clarence Gels said in a telephone interview this morning that the Appleton project is among 15 or 20 construction jobs on the drawing boards this year for the four-state region.

If the director feels he can justify the need for the local facility after measuring it against a stiff set of criteria, he has the authority to make the decision. He said he hopes to decide by Wednesday.

No Hints

Gels expressed sympathy with the Appleton situation, but he declined to offer any hints which way he would rule, pending evaluation of all the projects in his region.

He did state that contractors who have contacted his office asking whether bidding is to proceed on schedule for the Appleton project, have been told "at this point it is not to be cancelled." Bidding has been called off in some other projects in the region, however Gels revealed.

A jury trial had been scheduled for today in Van Susteren's court.

In Ohio Prison

However, Van Susteren was informed today that Lutchin, on July 8, was placed in the Ohio State Penitentiary at Columbus as a parole violator. His term is to run from 2-12 years, according to a letter from prison officials.

The letter stated that Lutchin's maximum sentence expires Jan. 24, 1957, and that he will have a parole hearing July 15, 1972.

Smoky Basement Results From Faulty Furnace at Residence

A malfunctioning furnace filled the basement with smoke at the Rudy Cherkasky home, 810 E. College Ave., about 1 a.m. today.

Four fire department units were sent to the home. Fire fighters used smoke ejectors.

A malfunction in the plant alarms system brought five fire department units to the Hoepner Manufacturing Co., 1012 N. Lawe St., at 10:35 a.m. Sunday.

At 1:20 a.m. Sunday, fire fighters were summoned to the home of Mrs. Darlene Lamb, 1316 N. Kenilworth St., after a mattress caught fire. Damage was confined to the mattress.

He referred to the three-point gauge being used to determine whether a project goes ahead or is delayed. Health and safety of employees, effects upon the efficiency of operations and the likelihood that rented space may cease to be available are the points to be considered.

Gels said while he has authority as director to give the stop or go signal, he and the other regional directors also must be certain they can support their decisions on the basis of the three criteria.

While the cutback is to be 75 per cent, he added, "That does not mean each region will

Judge Postpones Lutchin Trial Again

Bond Not Forfeited, New Date Set in Spite of Strong Objections

Chamber Asks Unified Effort For Retailers

Appleton's northside businessmen will be urged Tuesday night to join an Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce effort to organize a committee for promoting specifically the common interests of all Appleton retailers.

This is in line with the plans of the Chamber to expand its scope to keep pace with the growth of metropolitan Appleton. John J. Dixon, Chamber president, said this morning.

Dixon will speak Tuesday night before the Northside Advancement Association, outlining the program. Other retailer groups separate from the Chamber also will be urged to join the cooperative effort, Dixon said.

Unable to Appear

Henke asked that the bond not be forfeited, saying that because Lutchin was in prison, he could not possibly appear voluntarily for trial.

R. Thomas Cane, assistant Outagamie County district attorney, held that both Lutchin and the bonding company had been served with a notice of the Sept. 22 trial date. He contended the bond should be forfeited.

Van Susteren, however, said he was not forfeiting bond and was merely postponing the trial to Oct. 15. If Lutchin does not appear then, his bond will be forfeited, Van Susteren held.

Cane held that Van Susteren's ruling was "contrary to law." Lutchin's trial has been postponed several times.

All Sections

"We hope to gradually develop a committee which will deal with the retail affairs of the community and have membership representing all sections of the city and all retail groups," Dixon said.

While the Chamber has not neglected retailers outside the downtown area, he said, there is much to be gained by a united effort. He noted the rapid expansion of metropolitan Appleton demands such an organization and effort.

He said this would strengthen all groups involved.

Dixon noted groups such as the advancement association have grown in activity and strength in recent years.

Tobias Roth, association president, said he supported the idea of a unified front, but added the association would retain its individual identity and projects which promote the north side.

"I think we should become more integrated with the Chamber because we have to work together in this area in many citywide projects," Roth said.

"We can help each other," he added, "it's a two-way street."

Roth noted the northside group has been "surging ahead on its own projects," and will continue to do so.

2 Children Hurt In 3-Car Crash

Two children suffered head bumps when a car driven by their mother was involved in a three-car rear end collision on Memorial Drive at Third Street about 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Cars involved were driven by Mrs. Audrey M. Stecker, 2525 Southwood Drive, whose children, Donna and Carol, were hurt; Ronald A. Rump, Chicago; and Paul R. Humphrey, 24, 211 N. Fair St.

Appleton police said the Stecker and Rump cars were southbound on Memorial, stopped for a red light, when they were struck by the Humphrey car which also was southbound.

Damage Is Extensive

If somebody could figure out a way to stop vandalism, he might or might not get rich. But taxpayers wouldn't get poorer quite so fast.

Appleton's parks and swimming pools are an example. Members of the park and recreation board and other city officials were touring the city last weekend looking for sites for a third municipal swimming pool. The trip turned into a vandalism inspection trek.

One stop was at North Side Kiwanis Park, in the Gillett Highlands area which one official termed Appleton's "jet set neighborhood."

Officials Appalled

The park, one of the newer ones in the city, is in view of some of the costlier homes built in recent years. Presumably the children who use the facilities are not from underprivileged homes.

Officials were appalled at the conditions they found. A charred ring atop the park shelter house was identified as the seat of a toilet inside. "Vandal-proof" metal doors were scarred with obscenities scratched in the paint and someone had tried unsuccessfully to remove the door-knob.

Sturgeon Bay Woman Killed On U. S. 41 Near Oshkosh

OSHKOSH — A Sturgeon Bay woman died late Sunday of injuries sustained early that morning in a two-car collision on the northbound lane of U.S. 41 near its intersection with State 26, five miles west of here.

Mrs. Lena Bosman, 65, Sturgeon Bay, was pronounced dead as a result of head injuries at 11:15 p.m. Sunday at Mercy Medical Center.

She was a passenger in an auto being driven by Louis P. Bosman, 75, Green Bay, which collided with the second vehicle

World's Jews Observe Solemn Yom Kippur Today

Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, is being observed today by Jews throughout the world.

The observance of one of the most solemn days of the Jewish religious calendar climaxes the 10-day penitential period called the High Holidays. The period began with Rosh Hashanah, the start of the new year 5730, according to the ancient Jewish During Yom Kippur services, worshippers seek the spirit of penitence and an attitude of forgiveness toward those who have done them harm.

Prayers and sermons call upon man to use his capacities to overcome personal error and remold the coming year through self-improvement and better understanding of family and neighbors.

The prayers include supplications for elimination of poverty, hunger and prejudice and attainment of world peace.

Yom Kippur began with the chanting of the Kol Nidre (All Vows), one of the most celebrated of liturgical melodies. It is a prayer beseeching divine mercy for rash conduct during the last year.

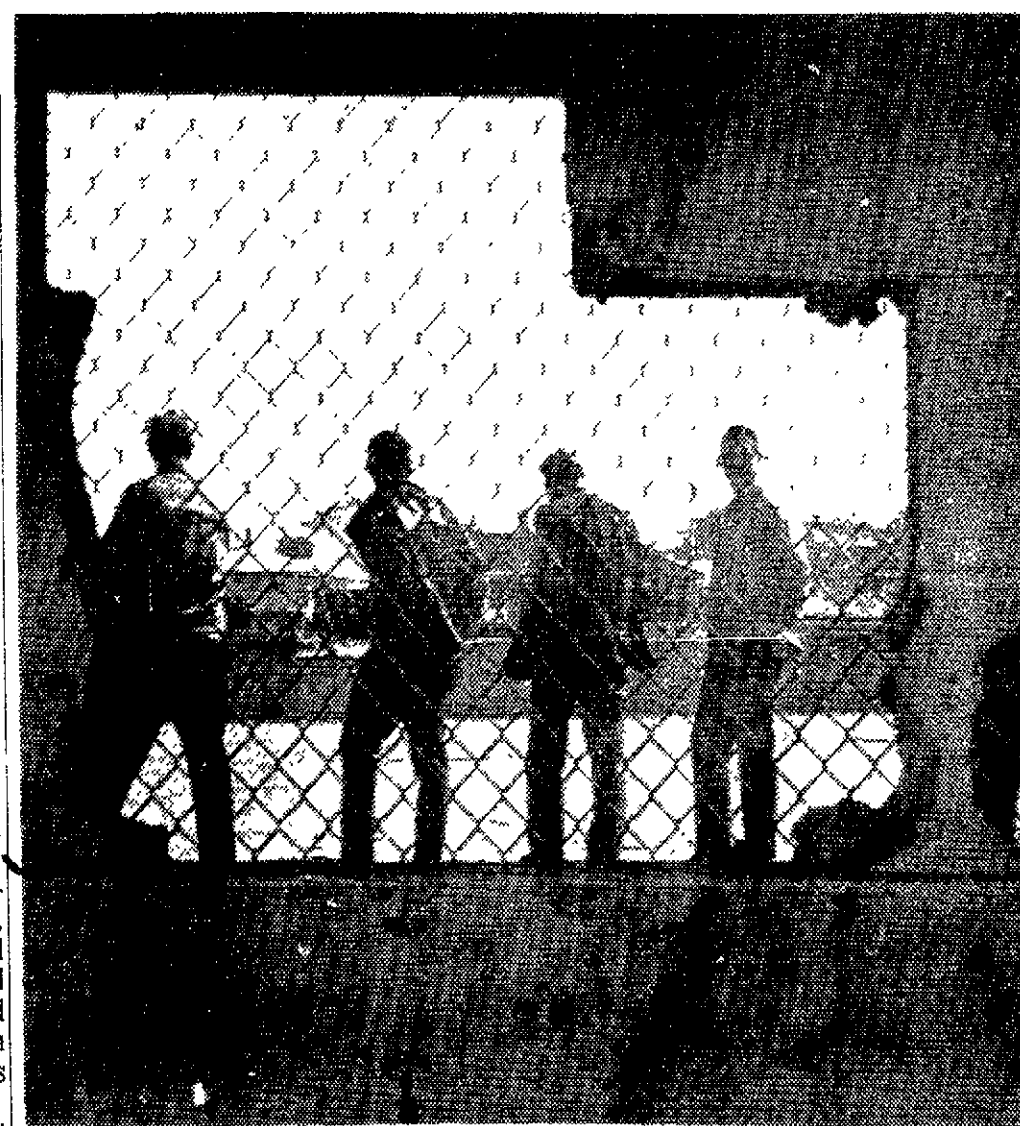

The Day of Atonement and the High Holidays will end at sundown with the final sounding of the shofar the ram's horn, which had started the penitential period on Rosh Hashanan.

According to Park Supt. Roger Reint and Recreation Director Lloyd (Bud) Koehnke, the destruction at the northside park is typical for the entire city. And usually it costs taxpayers directly, because the damage usually is less than the $50 deductible sum in the city's insurance coverage.

Koehnke said damage at the two dugouts at the park's base-two municipal pools amounts to

Judge Rules To Reinstate Police Officer

Neenah Veteran Richey's Hearing Termed Unfair

OSHKOSH — Veteran police officer William T. Richey, discharged from the Neenah Department five months ago for "conduct unbecoming an officer," has been reinstated in the department.

Circuit Court Judge William Crane this morning ruled that Richey had not been given a fair hearing by the Neenah Police and Fire Commission on April 23.

"The commission acted beyond its jurisdiction in suspending rule 27," Judge Crane said. That rule, adopted by the commission in 1950, provides

Plan Group to Study Housing

Commission In-Depth Probe Planned in 9 Member Counties

The Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning commission is laying the ground work for an in-depth study of the housing needs of its nine member counties.

Charles Hervey, executive director, said he has assigned Herbert Rieckmann, community planner and coordinator, to take a preliminary look at the possible needs, plus coming up with a list of prospects for a housing technical advisory committee.

"Rieckmann began inventorying the areas late this summer to determine the need for deeper analysis," Hervey said, noting planners working on the sewer study and land use mapping also have been gathering data for a housing study.

The preliminary work will culminate Nov. 18 when public officials and residents of member counties will be invited to a housing seminar in Appleton to be sponsored by the commission and the University of Wisconsin Extension.

"Housing shortages and resulting implications—both statewide and regional—will be described," Hervey said. "Methods by which private citizens, local governments and industry may increase the supply of adequate housing will be explored," he added.

Hervey said he hoped to have Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., at the seminar to speak on the federal funding which will be available for house construction.

Hervey said there is no question there is a shortage of adequate housing in Wisconsin, particularly for low and moderate-income families and the elderly.

He suggested the federal government should not be relied upon exclusively to satisfy the need. Wisconsin industry and government must bear the principal responsibility of meeting this need, he added.

Particular housing problems will be cited in the seminar, as well as methods with or without federal aid for eliminating them, Hervey said.

Conducting the seminar will be the Extension's department of engineering and the institute of governmental affairs, in cooperation with the State Department of Local Affairs and Development and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Hervey said the technical advisory committee members will be named in October and Appleton will provide a cross-section of persons involved in housing.

Regents Riled by Boy-Girl Housing Experiment at UW

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The idea of boys and girls living together riled the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents Friday as they heard of an experimental fraternity housing concept on the Madison campus.

The experiment, which has turned one fraternity into a co-educational housing unit with girls segregated to the top floor, but using joint eating and lounge facilities with the boys, drew strong reaction from the regents.

The board should have been consulted before such a policy was made, the regents maintained.

Gained Approval
The fraternity, Phi Kappa Theta, gained approval last spring for the experiment from the Campus Student Housing Office while a special regent committee was studying campus housing regulations.

About 29 girls and 20 boys are involved in the experiment which started with the fall semester.

The head of the committee, Walter Renk of Sun Prairie, said that housing chairman Newell Smith had failed to tell the committee of the experiment until his appearance before the committee.

Smith replied that it had not occurred to him — and that approval may not have been given for the experiment before his last appearance before Renk's committee.

Smith said that the program is similar to those being carried out on many campuses across the country.

Here Are Some Ways To Test Your Prestige

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Have you given yourself a prestige checkup lately?

If not, why not?

Millions of Americans now get some kind of annual medical checkup. This is good as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough.

A medical checkup only determines the state of your physical health. It lets you know how much wear and tear your body is showing and whether you still have muscle tone or have gone flabby.

What you need to know in addition is the state of your social health. Competition is not only the life of trade, it is also the life of our business-oriented society.

Are you still clawing your way up the ladder of success, or, unknowingly, have you begun to zoom on a toboggan path toward Nonentity Swamp? Only a regular prestige checkup can give you the answer.

In time, of course, these checkups will be given by computers. But there is no reason why, if you are one of those do-it-yourself guys, you can't figure out yourself the state of your prestige.

You can congratulate yourself that you're doing okay if—

The wife of the boss insists that you dance with her at least twice at the annual office spring get-together.

Instead of your getting an occasional dunning letter from the alumni office, the president of your college suggests having lunch with you when he drops into town.

You quit hanging around pool halls and spend more time at country clubs.

When you drop into the bank to explain how your wife overdrew your joint account, the banker no longer looks at you in chill disbelief. He calls you by your first name—or, better yet, by your initials—and says not to worry about it until the bank does.

On a business trip you don't feel it necessary to wash your own socks in the hotel wash bowl; at home your wife has quit ironing your shirts and now sends them to the laundry.

At least one member of the family has had a small nervous breakdown and emerged from it successfully.

You have been asked to head a charitable drive in your community, even if it was only to that any person bringing charges or accusations against any member of the police and fire departments must sign a written complaint. The rule was suspended 15 minutes prior to the April 23 hearing.

Judge Crane noted that this rule was meant to protect the officer and its suspension "does not seem to indicate a fair meeting."

He also said that one commission member "indicated he made up his mind before hearing and considering the case."

Judge Crane added, "One person prejudiced in such a body taints the final decision of the body as a whole."

Richey was charged following an unsigned complaint by a 29-year-old Neenah woman who said the detective sergeant made improper advances at her home on March 4.

Richey, a veteran of 22 years with the police department, denied the charge.

He appealed the commission's April 23 ruling and Judge Crane ordered a new commission hearing. The commission on Aug. 21 sustained its earlier decision.

Richey's attorney, Morris Warzink, who claimed his client hadn't received a fair hearing, appealed that decision to the circuit court.

Menasha Man Asks Preliminary Hearing On Burglary Charge

Jerome Baer, 34, 1350 Manitowoc Road, Menasha, this morning asked for a preliminary hearing on a burglary charge brought by a Kimberly man.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer continued the case until Friday afternoon, at which time he said he would set a hearing date. Baer was released on bond.

George Langenhuizen, 388 Schindler Ave., Kimberly, alleged that Baer entered his home Sept. 14. The Kimberly man said he caught Baer leaving the home, and that Baer then accompanied him.

And you might take comfort that we're getting even with Hong Kong at last. That British Baer Friday. He turned himself in to authorities this morning, of — guess what? B virus flu.

Our Nursing Homes...! Bonanza for Some, Tragedy for Others

BY JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a billion-dollar bonanza from the federal government, America's nursing homes are a stark and lonely place to die. Abuses in money and medicine, an air of death and despair shadow the aged through the dusk of their days. Studies show some doctors rarely see their nursing home patients. Nurses use drugs freely to restrain the elderly. Mental patients are dumped into nursing homes by the thousands. And fraud feeds on the federal dollar.

Through medicare and medicare, the government suddenly has taken over financial responsibility for most of the nursing home care in this nation. The taxpayer now pays $2 out of every $3 pouring into private nursing homes. Profits are healthier than ever. But other ills festering—tough federal regulations have been slower than federal dollars in reaching nursing homes. For this hidden million Americans the end can be an empty, grim even degrading tragedy. The Associated Press in an extensive nationwide study of nursing homes, found facts and cases like these:

—In El Granada, Calif., a nursing home operator is accused of stealing a dying patient's savings of $13,000 after she and a lawyer lifted his feeble hand to guide his signature on a legal paper.

—In one of the largest nursing homes in Cleveland, Ohio, a patient wandered away from his room and stayed into a crawlway where he died. His body lay there decomposing, for more than a year until a maintenance man stumbled across it this spring.

—A suburban New York City nursing home billed medicare for nearly $400,000 for physical therapy in one year. When the government tried to recoup part of the money by suspending Medicare payments, the nursing home discharged all its medical patients.

—Some physicians, dentists, X-ray firms and other medical specialists have been accused of making investigations of making nursing home visits to profitable "mass visits" to nursing homes where patients are plentiful. Records show one doctor who operates his own nursing home in Jefferson, Tex., billed medicare last year for 4,560 visits to just 34 patients.

—For the most part, however, doctors' care in many nursing homes across the country is so scarce that it is a national scandal. In one large home in Topeka, Kan., a survey showed three-fourths of the patients checked had not been seen by a doctor in at least half a year.

—Tranquilizers, sedatives and other drugs are used in abundance to keep patients quiet. Doctors agree to prescriptions over the telephone to nursing homes without examining them. Patients One Michigan woman was thought to be speechless for two years until a new doctor stopped the sedatives and found she could talk.

—Nursing homes have become warehouses for elderly mental patients that state hospitals turn down or turn out. Few homes have any hint of psychiatric care, and most use drugs—keep the patients belted in chairs. A woman who spent almost 50 years in a mental hospital now sits and stares in a Detroit nursing home tied in a for brief stays in nursing homes. But the better carpeting does after leaving a hospital, raise not always mean better care.

Tied to Her Wheelchair, this elderly medicare and medicare, has assumed financial responsibility for most U.S. nursing home care. (AP Wirephoto)

—Regular hospitals, faced with serious overcrowding, to $1.6 billion—more than two-thirds of all the money that nursing homes took in last year.

Run For Profit
About 90 per cent of the nation's nursing homes are run for profit. And with the government now paying for care that the old and needy couldn't afford before, business is booming.

The president of Four Seasons, one of the biggest and best nursing home chains, has reported an anticipated annual pretax profit of $1,000 a bed.

The owners of one rural home in Tennessee reached that profit figure on welfare payments of less than $2,000 a year per bed, a hospital official said. More than 50 nursing home chains have burst onto the stock market in the past two years as prices soared. Four Seasons went on sale last year at $11 a share. Now its stock is selling at $60, and that's after a 2-for-1 split.

Many New Homes
The big boom has built hundreds of new nursing homes, with shining equipment, soft carpets and smiling administrators, to replace the fetid, faded boarding houses of a past era. Real efforts are being made today at recreation and physical rehabilitation. Many homes attempt therapy programs. The facilities are cleaner, more modern, more attractive. And there has not been a disastrous nursing home fire for nearly five years.

Medicaid, the vast federal-state program that pays the health costs for the poor, now pumps more than $1.1 billion a year into private nursing homes. Other federal programs, including medicare which pays for brief stays in nursing homes. But the better carpeting does after leaving a hospital, raise not always mean better care.

In the money-minded world of big business, profits can depend on keeping the basic cost of medical care as cheap as possible.

You tighten up on nurses—fewer nurses, less care, said a small Los Angeles chain's nursing home administrator, who didn't want to be identified.

Give Patient Drugs
"And if you've got too a short staff, you keep the patient snowed on drugs," said a Los Angeles public health official.

A recent California study has shown more medicare money is spent on tranquilizers than any other group of drugs. In Minneapolis, a random check of a nursing home's medicine cabinet found 8 of the first

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Monday, Sept. 22, the 256th day of 1969. There are 100 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1862, President Abraham Lincoln issued the preliminary Emancipation Proclamation.

On this date: In 1776, the American patriot, Nathan Hale, was hanged as a spy by the British. His last words were "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

In 1789, Congress authorized the office of postmaster general. In 1792, the first French republic was proclaimed.

In 1927, Gene Tunney successfully defended his heavyweight boxing title against Jack Dempsey in the famous long count bout in Chicago.

In 1949, the Soviet Union exploded its first atomic bomb four years after the first U.S. detonation.

In 1961, the Interstate Commerce Commission ordered an end to racial discrimination against bus travelers.

Ten years ago — The second U.S. atomic submarine, the "Patrick Henry," was launched at Groton, Conn.

Five years ago — The Pentagon said it was believed that one and perhaps three unidentified craft were sunk in a recent encounter with two U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin off North Vietnam.

Doug Hart Decided Not to Play Hunches

GREEN BAY — "There's nothing dumber than a smart football player." Still in uniform and just off a regional television appearance, "something of a novelty for a 'new regular,'" Doug Hart was jovially explaining his Sunday success against the Bears in Lambeau Field.

"I was trying to do too many things during the pre-season," said Hart, whose fourth quarter interception and 44-yard run-back loomed large in the Packers' 17-0 triumph, "and I got burned a few times. 'Today I decided I was going to play just what the defense told me to do and not play hunches.'"

It had been a highly profitable decision. Hart not only triggered the Pack's second touchdown with that fourth quarter theft but also short circuited an earlier Bear drive with an interception of a toss to the Bruins' Dick Gordon along the eastern sidelines in the second quarter.

Over and Over

The former Arlington State athlete, who Sunday officially succeeded the departed Tom Brown at left safety, was required to reconstruct his fourth quarter heroic over and over in the light-hearted room as each new wave of reporters arrived. Hart, who has been waiting since 1946 to crack the Pack's starting lineup, admitted with a smile, "this day has to be the highlight of my career."

Another highly effective member of the defense, elder statesman Ray Nitschke, summed up a tight-fisted performance in one sentence.

"We were ready," he said, "to play football."

"We didn't make mistakes," Nitschke added, "and we had our poise. We had the right coverages and the right people in the right places. . . they gave us a lot of formations, but we kept our poise and we played the sound football."

Capt. Willie Davis, discouraging on the hazards of pursuing Bear quarterback Jack Concanon, he explained, "two or three times he ran out of there. He's hard to get to — he moves around well. . . With any average quarterback, we would have had time to get him three or four times. But he's faster than any quarterback in our league, even faster than Fran Tarkenton of the Giants. It's like trying to tackle another running back."

Davis, the only Packer to trap the Bear scrambler, added, "another thing is that you have to try to keep him in the pocket, you can't gamble as much as you normally would. He forces you to do things you don't want to do."

It had been a hectic afternoon, but the Pack's defensive leader had no complaints.

"This," he said contentedly, "has got to be one of the most satisfying days I've ever had."

"How," Bart Starr was asked,

"is the ankle?"

He flashed a big smile and replied in somewhat uncharacteristic fashion, "beating the Bears is soothing balm. . . it makes it feel real good now."

Starr, forced to exit temporarily early in the fourth quarter because of the injury, reported in a more serious vein, "somebody stepped on my instep and twisted it a little bit."

Bart, who soaked the foot in ice water during the happy

after glow, obviously didn't expect the hurt to prevent him from appearing against the San Francisco 49ers in Sunday's game at Milwaukee County Stadium.

Asked if he was satisfied with the game, he replied, "I don't mean to give you a cliché, but in any time you're satisfied in this

Rams Voice Cautious Optimism After 27-20 Conquest of Colts

BALTIMORE (AP) — Well, the next National Football League game is Dec. 21 as far as Los Angeles and Baltimore feel. At least, they would like to give that impression.

After the Rams came off top dog 27-20 in their opener Sunday, spokesmen for both sides were carefully guarded about drawing any conclusions.

Rams Coach George Allen, speaking on behalf of his offensive tackle Bob Brown, did volunteer that he wasn't overly impressed by Bubba Smith, the Colt goliath at defensive left end.

Brown himself quickly tried to dispel that. "I'm saying all nice things about Bubba. I don't want to make him mad. We have to play the Colts again."

That will be the last game of the season. In a similar schedule windup two seasons ago, Los Angeles whipped the Colts 34-10 to wrap up their conference title.

Something Special

Even recalling that victory, Allen said that Sunday's opening triumph was No. 1 in his coaching book.

"I think that way because the odds were against us," he said. "We had some preseason injuries, the Colts are tough to beat in their own backyard and they're the NFL champions."

The veteran Ram defensive end, Deacon Jones, also termed it "the biggest game of my career."

Quarterback Roman Gabriel, who threw three touchdown passes, acknowledged that "since the first day of practice we had been pointing to the Colts in Baltimore."

The Colts are not downtrodden.

Bob Vogel offensive tackle, remarked "it seems like we spend most of our time coming back from something. We have a lot of games left and it's still too early to quit."

Hidden References

His unspoken reference to the past was the 16-7 loss to the New York Jets in the Super Bowl, that 1967 finale loss to the Rams, an overtime 1965 conference playoff defeat at Green Bay and loss of the NFL championship to Cleveland in 1964.

"We can either pull ourselves together and have a fine season, which I think we'll do, or we can quit, and I don't think we're quitters," was the outlook by Billy Ray Smith, defensive tackle.

Shula figured that three pass interceptions and two fumble recoveries by the Rams were the difference in the outcome.

One of the interceptions by Ed Meador set up the second field

New York Scores 2 Touchdowns in Last Five Minutes

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a bit like old times at Yankee Stadium Sunday as the New York Giants players, keyed up in the spirit of "win one for the Gipper," carried their popular new coach, Alex Webster, off the field on their shoulders.

Big Red's coaching debut was an exciting 24-23 victory over favored Minnesota, last year's Central Division champs.

"It never happened to me before," said Webster, who dates back to the old glory days of the Giants, under both Jim Lee Howell and the departed Alie Sherman. "Beating a team like this will give us a big lift."

The 62,920 fans, who used to chant "Good Bye Allie" while the Giants ran up a nine game losing string (four last season and five exhibitions) even booed the new regime in the first half.

Deserves Winner

"I told the players to go ahead and play and let me worry about the boos," said Webster. "It will take time, but New York deserves a winner. If I didn't think we could win I wouldn't be here."

"When I talked about the Super Bowl the other day people thought I was kidding. It's a long long way but these kids don't know how good they are. The biggest thing was to get everybody together again."

The Giants were trailing 23-10 on two touchdown passes by Gary Cuozzo and three field goals by Fred Cox when they started to move in the final five minutes.

"Nothing was working so I had to find the last resort," said quarterback Fran Tarkenton. "I called the draw to 'Tucker' (Frederickson), that was the play that started it."

Seven plays later Tarkenton hit Don Herrmann with a 16-yard scoring pass, making it 23-17 with 4:48 to go. Gene Washington, who caught a 48-yard TD pass earlier, fumbled a

Giants Rally, Hand Vikings 24-23 Defeat

New York Scores 2 Touchdowns in Last Five Minutes

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a bit like old times at Yankee Stadium Sunday as the New York Giants players, keyed up in the spirit of "win one for the Gipper," carried their popular new coach, Alex Webster, off the field on their shoulders.

Big Red's coaching debut was an exciting 24-23 victory over favored Minnesota, last year's Central Division champs.

"It never happened to me before," said Webster, who dates back to the old glory days of the Giants, under both Jim Lee Howell and the departed Alie Sherman. "Beating a team like this will give us a big lift."

The 62,920 fans, who used to chant "Good Bye Allie" while the Giants ran up a nine game losing string (four last season and five exhibitions) even booed the new regime in the first half.

Deserves Winner

"I told the players to go ahead and play and let me worry about the boos," said Webster. "It will take time, but New York deserves a winner. If I didn't think we could win I wouldn't be here."

"When I talked about the Super Bowl the other day people thought I was kidding. It's a long long way but these kids don't know how good they are. The biggest thing was to get everybody together again."

The Giants were trailing 23-10 on two touchdown passes by Gary Cuozzo and three field goals by Fred Cox when they started to move in the final five minutes.

"Nothing was working so I had to find the last resort," said quarterback Fran Tarkenton. "I called the draw to 'Tucker' (Frederickson), that was the play that started it."

Seven plays later Tarkenton hit Don Herrmann with a 16-yard scoring pass, making it 23-17 with 4:48 to go. Gene Washington, who caught a 48-yard TD pass earlier, fumbled a

Hart Stars Against Bears

Packers Open Season With 17-0 Victory

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — It could have been a video re-run.

True, Travis Williams and Jim Grabowski were stationed where Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor recently crouched. And there were a few tactical departures on offense, chief among them a trend to greater variety and deception, implemented by some new found speed.

But the Packers who throttled the Bears in Lambeau Field Sunday afternoon smacked strongly of the 1965-66-67 Green and Gold — only team ever to win three consecutive National Football League titles since the playoff system was launched.

Contain and Control

Operating by their longtime watchwords, contain and control, Phil Bengtson's athletes executed their battle plan in almost flawless fashion to blank the Bruins' 17-0 and climax the Pack's golden anniversary weekend for a capacity of 50,861 fans, including more than 80 delighted alumni.

In the process, they dispelled whatever doubts may have remained that the Pack, as the Bears Sunday as "the faithful have been contending, would be back. The chastened Bruins, in fact, are wondering if their ancient adversaries ever had been away.

It was the first shutout for the Bays since game 10 of the 1967 season, when they felled San Francisco, 13-0, in the same turf. It also was their first blanking of the Bruins since their opening victory of 1966 over the Bears, registered by the same 17-0 score in Chicago's Wrigley Field.

As a result of the sterling performance in company with two highly opportune upsets, the Packers today find themselves in sole possession of the NFL's Central Division lead.

Unexpected cooperation came from the New York Giants, who shaded the Minnesota Vikings, 24-23, and the Pittsburgh Steelers who beat the Detroit Lions, 16-13.

These were welcome fringe benefits on an afternoon which has seen quarterback Bart Starr artfully engineer the control game, particularly in third quarter when the Packers owned the football for all but six of 27 plays.

Along the way, he connected on 9 of 14 pass attempts for 90 yards one of them a 31-yard pitch to Williams for the Pack's first touch down of the game, which capped a 4-play, 59-yard push.

Doug Hart's runback, following his second theft of the afternoon keyed the second TD in the fourth quarter which came on a 14 - yard smash by Grabowski on the following play and all but sealed the verdict.

Overall, the home forces to Doug Hart and the Packers mounted a 59-51 bulge in total yardage, including an impressive 196 yards by rushing as Williams, Grabowski and rookie

Dave Hampton repeatedly shot enhanced the efforts of the defense which, enabled to get hind crisp blocking by Francis Peay, Bill Lueck, Ken Bowman, Gale Gillingham and veteran Sayers and his scrambling colleague, quarterback Jack Concanon, throughout the afternoon.

Sayers, who had vowed to carry the ball 20 times in this one, emerged with a mere 36 yards in 10 attempts as Packer defenders effectively cut off the

Phil Calls Packer Shutout of Bears 'The Ultimate'

GREEN BAY — Head Coach Phil Bengtson referred to the Green Bay Packers' feat of blanking (17-0) the Chicago Bears Sunday as "the ultimate" missus a lot of tackles. We missed some today too, but we also tackled a lot better."

Specifically, he declared in the aftermath to the Lambeau Field spectacle, "To shut out a first rate pro football team is quite an accomplishment. Our defense always has that in mind every week as the ultimate."

Cincinnati Surprises Chargers 34-20

Broncos Upset Jets, 21-19

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer
Denver's Broncos, treated like a stepchild during most of their American Football League lives, may at long last be on their way to success.
The Broncos, after trailing 13-0, stormed back Sunday and edged the world champion New York Jets 21-19 in a nationally televised game played before Colorado's largest sports crowd ever, 50,853.

And it was Denver's No. 2 quarterback, Pete Liske, who broke the Jets' backs with a passing performance that overshadowed Joe Namath's aerial wizardry.

Liske, who entered the game in the second quarter when starting quarterback Steve Tensi was injured, tossed two touchdown passes. One was a 23-yarder to Mike Heffner and the other 42 yards to Al Denson.

Dazzling Runs
Ex - Syracuse All - America Floyd Little teased the Jets with his dazzling runs, collecting 104 yards and scoring from the one yard line after his 53-yard punt return set up his touchdown opportunity.
Cincinnati staged the day's other AFL upset in thrashing the San Diego Chargers 34-20. In other games Sunday, Kansas City rolled on undefeated with a 31-0 triumph over Boston and Houston defeated Buffalo 17-3. Oakland just managed to get by Miami 20-17 at Oakland Saturday night.

Namath was superb for the Jets in the first quarter and late in the game. Between these periods of brilliance, however, he had a long spell when he couldn't hit his receivers. He connected on 19 of 37 passes for 283 yards.

Afterwards, Jets coach Weeb Ewbank predicted the AFL race may be tighter than usual this season. Namath said he couldn't recall ever being hit harder by opposing linemen than by the Broncos.

The Jets salvaged one thing out of the game. Steve O'Neal established a pro punting record when his kick came to a rolling halt on the Denver two for a 99-yard boot.

78-Yard Bomb
Cincinnati's fabulous rookie quarterback, Greg Cook, was responsible for four touchdowns, passing for three and running for one. Cook threw a 78-yard bomb to Bob Trumpy, passed 39 yards to Bruce Coslet and nine yards to Speedy Thomas.

San Diego led shortly before the half when Brad Hubbard scored from the two after John Hadl's 50-yard pass to Gary Garrison put the ball in the shadows of the Cincinnati goal. The Bengals, however, bounced right back on three plays in 51 seconds for a touchdown on a Cook-to-Thomas pass and Cincinnati led 17-13, a lead it never relinquished.

Grow Leads Ground Game

Troge's Pass Theft Helps Foxes Past Onalaska, 20-6

ONALASKA — Eric Troge intercepted a pass and ran 24 yards for a touchdown, breaking a 6-6 tie in the fourth quarter and igniting a 20-6 Fox Valley Lutheran victory over Onalaska Lutheran Saturday afternoon.

It was the Foxes' second win against no losses and a tie, while the Cadets were tasting their first loss after three consecutive victories.

Fox Valley held a 6-0 edge at the half on fullback Jeff Grow's 60-yard scamper in the second period. However, a Foxes' mis-handled punt in the third period gave the Cadets the ball on the FVL 4-yard line, and soon after Rick Gaets rammed across from two yards out to tie it.

Troge's key pick-off came early in the final stanza. Later, the Foxes added an insurance TD when quarterback Bill Lecker climaxed a 30-yard drive after a fumble recovery to score from one yard out.

Overcome Penalty
Lecker also added a 2-point conversion — the hard way. He had to run eight yards after a 5-yard penalty set the Foxes back on the first try.

Despite the relative closeness of the final score, FVL had a substantial edge in the statistics. The Foxes outgained the Cadets, 221-45, in total yardage. The big margin was in rushing yards, where FVL churned 210 while Onalaska was limited to a minus two yards. The Passing Lennie Dawson and yards, he has a career total of 5,002.

Houster had little trouble with the Bills and their celebrated Dawson floated a 16-yard pass rookie from Southern California, onto the fingertips of Otis Tay-O. J. Simpson. Pete Bethard's passing alone was too much for the Buffalo. He passed 12 yards to Alvin Reed for a touchdown and set up another with a 56-yard throw to Roy Hopkins. Simpson ran more Sunday than in any previous game, picking up 58 yards in 19 carries.
A 47-yard field goal by George Blanda with 11 seconds left gave Oakland its narrow margin over the Dolphins Saturday night.

The Chiefs' running back Paul Lowe became the second player in AFL history to reach the 5,000-yard mark in ground gaining. After eight carries for 40 outside and invariable gang-tackled the Kansas comet when he tried the inside.

They were unable to trap the footloose Concannon until late in the fourth quarter but his ramblings netted him a mere 10 yards in five carries and, often forced to throw on the run, he settled for 114 air yards on 13 completions in 26 attempts.

The Packer's performance took on added luster because they refused to permit two untoward developments, both of which came while they were nurturing a somewhat precarious, 7-0 lead, shake their aplomb.

Grabowski Stopped Twice
Starting from their own 20 at the start of the third quarter, after Mac Percival's kickoff had bounced into the end zone, Starr escorted them to a first down at the Chicago 7 in 10 plays.

With third and one, however, Grabowski was stopped a foot and a half short of the goal by the Bears' bulky front four and on fourth down, he was felled for a half-yard loss by Roosevelt Taylor, in company with linebacker Dan Pride.
If that was not sufficiently disquieting, another scoring opportunity went glimmering one exchange later when a 40-yard Mercer kick attempt veered to the left of the uprights with little more than a minute remaining in the third quarter.

That was the second such misfortune for Mercer, who had seen a 34-yard attempt deflected by the Bears' huge Frank Cornish in the first quarter, shortly before Starr's td strike to Williams.

To compound the situation, Starr's left instep was injured early in the fourth quarter and he was forced to the sidelines temporarily.

But Hart intervened minutes later when Concannon attempted to hit Gordon along the east sidelines. The transplanted Texan zoomed in front of Gordon, pilfered the ball at the Bear 45, and ran over a desperate Concannon at the 10-yard line before being bounced out of bounds at the one. Grabowski did the rest.

goal by Bruce Gossett which sent the Rams into a 20-17 lead to stay at the end of the third quarter.

Key Fumble Recovery
Recovery of Preston Pearson's fumble of a punt at his 13 by Bob Klein, a rookie from Southern Cal. set up the deciding third touchdown pass by Gabriel.

The Colts came within striking range three times after that, the last gasp dying when Richie Petitbon intercepted another Johnny Unitas pass at the 13.
Shula went all the way with Unitas and said he had no idea of substituting Earl Morrall, the quarterback all last season and voted the most valuable player in the NFL. "A lot of things weren't Unitas' fault and he was throwing long well," Shula said of the chronic sore elbow thrower.

Third Period Decisive
The lead changed hands three times and the score was tied twice before the Rams took charge at the end of the third quarter on Bruce Gossett's second field goal, which put them ahead 20-17, following Ed Meador's interception of a Unitas pass.

The intense rivals went into the halftime break tied 10-10. Gossett and Lou Michaels, who also kicked two field goals, each booted for three points, while Unitas threw a 13-yard touchdown pass to Tom Mitchell and Gabriel a 4-yarder to Billy Truax.

The Colts scored with the second half kickoff when Jimmy Orr made a great catch of a Unitas pass between Richie Petitbon and Ron Smith at the Ram 20, shook their tackle and ran across the goal. The Colts were on the Ram 41 when Unitas turned loose the heave to Orr. Larry Smith put the Rams into position for a 17-17 tie when he ran 46 yards through the questionable right side of the Colt defense to the 12. Two plays later, Willie Ellison caught a touchdown pass from Gabriel.

Packers Exceptional Both Ways, Says Bears' Dooley After Defeat

BY JIM ZIMA
Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Four words is all it took Jim Dooley, the youthful Bear head coach to sum up his Bruins 17-0 loss to the Green Bay Packers at Lambeau Field Sunday afternoon.

"The better team won," an obviously dejected Dooley said in the coaches room following the game and then he added, "what more can you say."

Asked if the Packers' Doug Hart interception, which led to a fourth period touchdown and virtually assured the victory, was a key factor Dooley said, "it was not the key. That play certainly was a big part of it but they (the Packers) just played an exceptional game on both offense and defense."

Halfback Pass Aids Cowboys

53-Yard Aerial by Hill Breaks Up Close Contest With Cards

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Rookie Calvin Hill stunned the St. Louis Cardinals with a 53-yard touchdown pass to Lance Rentzel Sunday to break open a defensive struggle and gave the Dallas Cowboys a 24-3 National Football League victory.

Until Hill's surprise play deep in the third period, the Cowboys held a thin 7-3 lead on the strength of rookie quarterback Roger Staubach's 75-yard scoring bomb to Rentzel in the opening period.

Hill, who threw the halfback pass for four touchdowns in his senior year at Yale, found Rentzel sailing in the clear behind Cardinal safety Larry Wilson. Rentzel tucked the ball in and galloped untouched to the goal as 62,000 fans in the Cotton Bowl roared.

Good Defense

As for his Bears who managed only 204 yards, 90 rushing and 114 passing, Dooley said, "We just couldn't get our offense off the ground and they (Packers) had a very good defense."

"It was ball control on their part and we couldn't get going. They controlled the ball very well, especially in the third period. That one time we got the ball on the one yard line and what are going to do there?"

Dooley dispelled all rumors that running sensation Gale Sayers was playing injured. "He is having no trouble at all," Dooley admitted.

Sayers was held for 36 yards in 10 carries while Ron Bull churned for 35 in seven trips to lead the Bear rushers. It was noted that Sayers did not run to the outside as much as he usually does to which Dooley said, "It was just that the situation didn't call for it."

Working Well
The Packers' Jim Grabowski and Travis Williams blasted their way for 85 and 67 yards respectively, a point which prompted Dooley to note without comment, "Their draws and traps were working real well."

The third time the Bears held the ball they marched from their own 29 to the Packer 30 before Doug Hart foiled the scoring attempt with his first interception.

"We thought we could hit Wallace (wide receiver Bob) up the middle but Hart came over. We figured he would be over on the other side, Concannon drilled noted."

The second interception by Hart, which he returned from the Bear 45 to the one yard line in the fourth period, was a bad pass Concannon said.

"I had to throw it over a linebacker and I threw too high. It was just sitting up there like a duck," he said.

Offensively, we couldn't get anything going, if it wasn't an interception it was a penalty."

Little of Everything
The Bears drew a total of 76 yards in penalties. "It was a little bit of everything, illegal receivers down field, illegal

Successful Lombardi Debut Redskins Edge Saints, 26-20

By BEN THOMAS
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The broad face, one of the most famous in football, had a toothy grin, but that noise which has been put down in written English as "aaarrggghhh" was heard only once.

Vince Lombardi's layoff from football was officially over. In his first regular season game with the Washington Redskins, Lombardi emerged a 26-20 victor Sunday.

"But remember, there are still 13 games to go," said Lombardi.

Sonny Jurgensen threw three touchdowns passes, two in a 40-second span, to lead Washington past the rejuvenated Saints, who got a team record 142 yards rushing by Andy Livingston, a running back last year with the Chicago Bears.

Have to Pass
"Jurgensen was superb," said Lombardi. "We pass because we have to pass and that makes it nice to have a man like Jurgensen around. What I think was significant was that we fell behind 10 points early and came back without losing our poise."

"We bent a lot on defense, but we didn't break. The Saints were very aggressive and picked up lots of yards, but we held them to two touchdowns." Jurgensen wasn't decked a single time before he released the ball.

"We had a real good rush on him and we must have dumped him a dozen times as he threw the ball," said New Orleans defensive end Doug Atkins, who tied Lou Groza's longevity record of 17 years in the National Football League.

Jurgensen, playing all the way, completed 10 of 23 passes for 229 yards without an interception. Charley Taylor hauled in five tosses for 92 yards and two touchdowns.

Tarkenton threw a long desperation pass toward Herrmann that bounced off Earsell Mackbee of the Vikings and was grabbed by Butch Wilson on the 10 with two minutes to go. Tarkenton then found Herrmann open in the end zone for a 10-yard winner with 59 seconds to go.

Mitchell Scores Twice Berry Leads Falcons Past 49ers, 24 to 12

ATLANTA (AP) — Quarterback Bob Berry threw two touchdown passes to tight end Jim Mitchell Sunday, sparking Atlanta to a 24-12 National Football League season opening victory over San Francisco.

It was the Falcons' first triumph over the 49ers, who had won the five previous meetings.

Berry and Mitchell broke the game open for Atlanta with a 32-yard scoring play in the third quarter, giving the Falcons a 17-5 edge.

Early in the fourth quarter the burly Mitchell lumbered 40 yards on an end around play, breaking several tackles as he reached the 49er 24. It set up a nine-yard touchdown run by rookie running back Paul Gipson that pushed the Atlanta cushion to three touchdowns.

The Falcon defense harrassed San Francisco quarterback John Brodie throughout the game intercepting three of his passes, one by end John Zook, who took the ball from Brodie's hands and ran it back 15 yards before Brodie tripped him to save a long touchdown run.

Berry, who hit on seven of 12 passes for 102 yards, hit Mitchell on a 13-yard touchdown pass in the second period to give Atlanta the lead for good 10-5.

San Francisco scored with 8:41 remaining on Ken Willard's one-yard plunge.

Kelly Injured, But Browns Clip Eagles Anyway

Johnson, Morrison Pick Up Slack in 27-20 Triumph

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rookie Ron Johnson and sophomore pro Reece Morrison took over for injured Leroy Kelly and ran the Cleveland Browns to a 27-20 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday in a National Football League opener.

Kelly, the NFL's defending ground game champion, suffered a hamstring pull in the first quarter, but the Cleveland running game lost none of its power as Johnson and Morrison ripped the Philadelphia defense to shreds.

Johnson gained 118 yards on 17 carries and scored two touchdowns while Morrison picked up 48 on 18 attempts. Cleveland's defending Eastern Conference champions never trailed as quarterback Bill Nelsen guided the Browns 80 yards on nine plays for a first period touchdown. Nelsen threw 35 yards to end Gary Collins for the TD and Don Cockroft converted.

In the second period, Cockroft kicked a 22-yard field goal to make it 10-0. The Eagles closed it to 10-7 on a one-yard score by Tom Woodeshick after Philadelphia recovered a fumbled field goal return at the Cleveland 2. Cockroft's 37-yard field goal made it 13-7 at halftime.

Cleveland boosted its lead to 27-7 after three periods as Nelsen directed a 14-play, 76-yard drive for a touchdown scored by Johnson from the one, and Johnson raced 48 yards for his second score.

U.S. to Get Soviet Reply

Rogers, Gromyko Confer Tonight
On Several International Issues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Nixon administration looked to a meeting between Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko tonight for signs of whether the Soviets intend to negotiate seriously on some outstanding East-West issues.

Items for the dine-and-talk session at Rogers' Waldorf suite included the long-awaited Kremlin answer to President Nixon's bid to begin missile curbs talks, the Middle East crisis, European security and Berlin.

It is the first private, high-level U.S.-Soviet parley since Nixon took office with his "negotiation rather than confrontation" posture toward relations with the Communist world.

Moscow's responses to the new U.S. leadership, in Washington's opinion, have added up to a mixture of pluses and minuses—and an unexpectedly long silence on the U.S. notice, given June 11, of American readiness to begin talks with the Russians on limitation of missiles and other strategic arms.

State in Helsinki? Finnish Foreign Minister Ahti Karjalainen said over the weekend that the two nuclear superpowers probably will start the disarmament talks in Helsinki in mid-October. But U.S. officials said no word had been received yet from the Russians.

Some clues to the Kremlin's negotiating stance appeared in Gromyko's speech Friday to the U.N. General Assembly—which U.S. diplomats rated as standard Soviet fare and somewhat disappointing—and in private contacts.

On Vietnam, for instance, Gromyko's strong public rebuff of Nixon's plea for help in persuading Hanoi dimmed U.S. hopes for a favorable reaction should Rogers broach the question with Gromyko.

More Reasonable On the Middle East, Rogers expects Gromyko in private may pursue a policy more reasonable than his public defense of the Arab cause. Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin scheduled another meeting this morning to do some groundwork for tonight's talks, and on Saturday the Soviets agreed to further Big Four power discussions.

On Berlin, some Western diplomats suspect Moscow's latest approaches to Bonn are aimed at influencing the West German elections next Sunday.

The European security question has been raised frequently by the Soviets this year. As Washington sees the Communist proposal for an East-West meeting of European powers to work out a permanent settlement, it seems similar to past Moscow efforts to get withdrawal of U.S. forces from Europe without an equivalent Soviet cutback.

Another Meeting The Soviets have not made clear whether United States would be invited to the proposed European security conference, U.S. sources said.

A second dinner meeting for Rogers and Gromyko is scheduled Friday, with the Russian as host. Whether Nixon will invite Gromyko to Washington—as presidents have sometimes done in the past—may depend, at least in part, on how the Rogers-Gromyko talks work out.

Nixon talked with Gromyko for only about half a minute when but it is anticipated that Asian nations will be able to handle their own defense problems, perhaps with some outside material assistance but without outside manpower.

Rogers had a full schedule of meetings with other foreign leaders during the day today.

Wet

Several State Persons In Mexican Air Crash

Officials Fear as Many as 40 Aboard Plane Perished

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I remember walking out on saving the lives of many of the admitted, five of them in critical condition. The count of the dead and injured varied widely. An Associated Press newsman saw 15 bodies laid out on a hill 20 yards above a marsh 3,000 feet west of the wreckage. Another newsman said there were nine bodies on the other side of the sections but did not catch fire. The plane broke into three pieces on the other side of the sections but did not catch fire. The nose section embedded itself in the swamp, burying the plane. Other sources said from 17 to 20 persons were killed, but one cockpit crew member was killed. Many passengers in the second section were thrown out by the impact and landed in waist-deep water and mud. Some waded to a wing of the plane and waited for rescuers. Another spokesman for the airline said 102 persons had been and waited for rescuers. ## Thrown Clear

Stewardess Graciela Flores Alvarado, who was thrown clear, said the plane started to vibrate violently as it approached the runway, "then it fell."

A newlywed couple, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Charlton of Wheeling, Ill., were among those who escaped with minor injuries.

Two other newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marshall of Chicago, were reported in serious condition.

James Waters, 22, Joliet, Ill., and his 21-year-old bride of one day, Patricia, also were aboard the plane. Members of the family in Joliet, said they were told by embassy officials that Waters was in serious condition in a hospital and that his wife was missing.

Some passengers were trapped in their seats and rescuers had to use blow torches to free them.

It was raining slightly at 5:29 p.m. when the crash occurred, a few moments after the plane had been cleared to land. The mud and water made the wreckage area difficult to reach.

Rescue teams, officials and newsmen waded through mud and water up to their waists and deeper, carrying stretchers with dead and injured on their shoulders. Many tied handkerchiefs over their noses and mouths to keep from choking on swarms of black gnats.

As night fell, a television station appealed for persons with portable lighting equipment. Helicopters lifted out some of the injured and also hovered overhead to help illuminate the rescue work.

The crash was the second of a Mexicana jet in four months. On June 4 a domestic flight crashed in Monterrey, killing all 79 aboard including Mexican tennis star Rafael Osuna.

U.S. Missions Adhering to New Orders

President Nixon's Far East Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. missions in the Far East are under new orders to heed President Nixon's policy of reducing American involvement in Asia, according to Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

The orders were issued after he had complained to Nixon the missions were not following the new Asian policy outlined by the President at Guam last July.

Mansfield said in an interview. "The Montana Democrat spent two weeks on a tour of the same Asian countries the President took this summer after being asked by Nixon 'to study reactions to his new Asian doctrine,'" Mansfield returned Aug. 27 and reported to the President at San Clemente, Calif.

Mansfield said his journey to the Philippines, Indonesia, Cambodia, Burma and Laos produced no evidence of a follow up by U.S. missions there.

He said he told Nixon "the concepts, practices and programs by which U.S. missions in Asia have operated for many years remain the same."

But since his conference with Nixon at the Western White House Mansfield said, he understood "instructions have gone out" recalling the President's Guam statement explaining its policy significance.

Mansfield made public Sunday a report on his findings which he said was along the lines of what he told Nixon. The Democratic leader said he described the Republican President's new policy to Asian leaders this way:

"The United States will maintain its treaty commitments, but it is anticipated that Asian nations will be able to handle their own defense problems, perhaps with some outside material assistance but without outside manpower."

U.S. Cost of Living Climbs Even More

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paced by higher costs for food, housing and medical care, the cost of living went up another notch in August, four-tenths of one per cent, the government reported today.

Egg prices went up 20 per cent from July to August. Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the demand for eggs and consequent lower supplies reflected a shift from higher priced red meats to eggs.

Rents went up four-tenths of one per cent, the largest monthly increase in 13 years.

The Consumer Price Index rose to 128.7, in August, meaning it cost $12.87 to buy the same goods and services that were bought for $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

The August price rise was slightly less than the five-tenths of one per cent from June to July. It meant that the annual rate of increase is 4.8 per cent, compared to the 6 per cent annual rate reflected in the June-July increase.

However, Chase told a news conference "The August prices seem to indicate no significant change from what we've been experiencing the last few months."

Chase added: "The chances are that food prices will climb less sharply in the coming months."

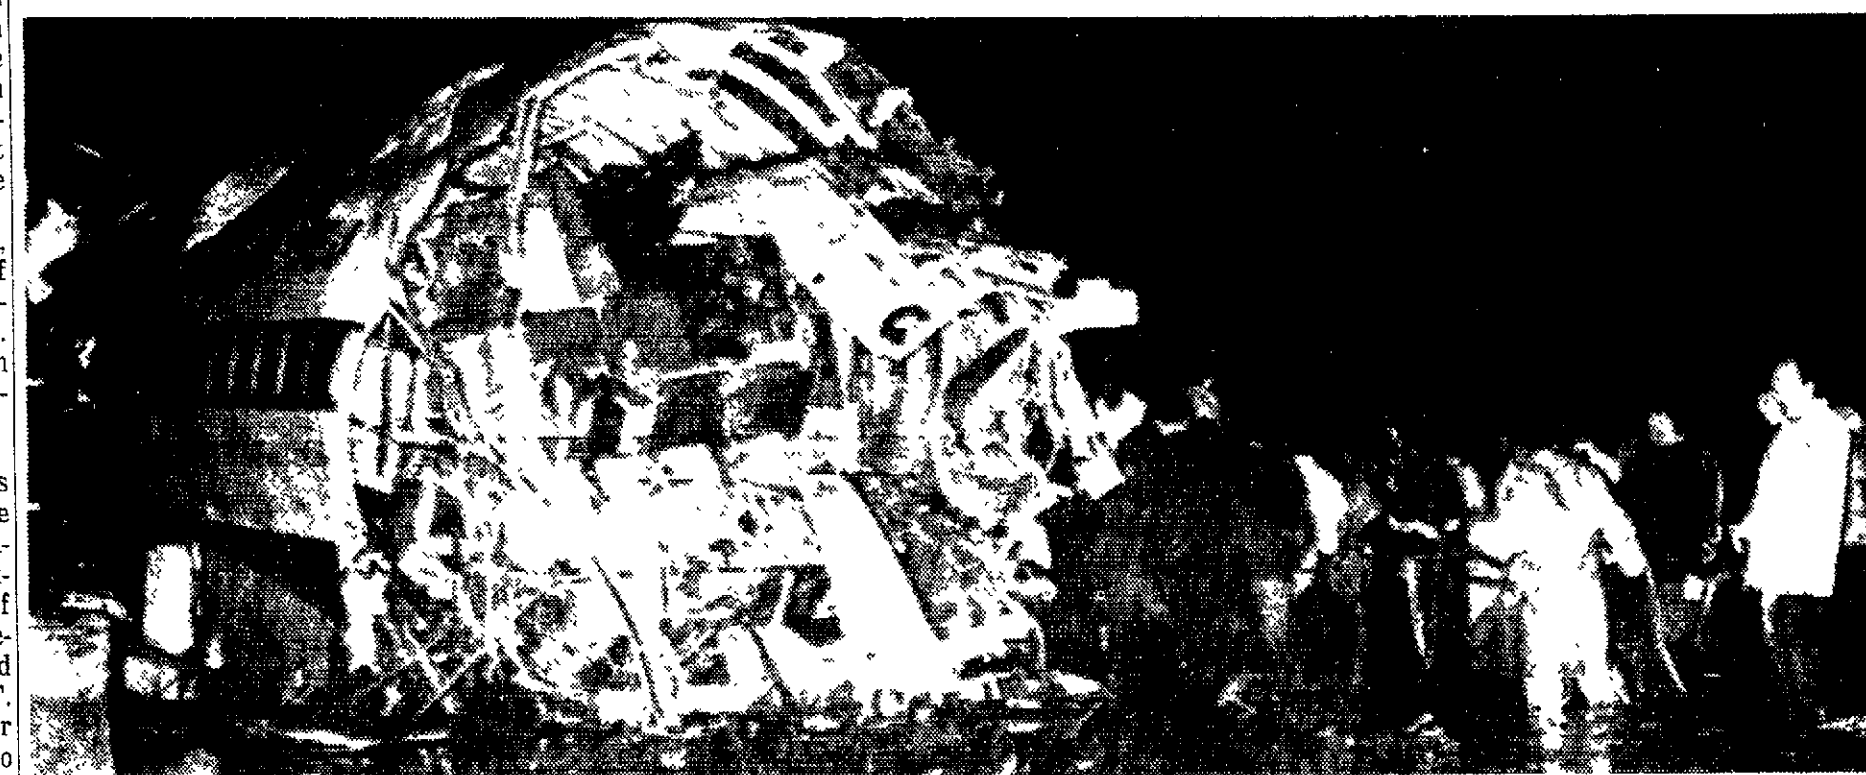

Smaller Climbs? He said that it was encouraging that the cost of living was not going up any more sharply, but he wouldn't draw any further conclusions.

So far this year retail prices have increased by 4 per cent, compared to 3.1 per cent in the first eight months of 1968. Food prices in August were 5.7 per cent more than in the same month of 1968.

Charges for consumer services went up seven-tenths of one per cent, led by significant increases for mortgage interest, property taxes, residential gas and electricity rates and home repair services.

Alcoholic beverages, gasoline, housekeeping supplies, automobile insurance, automobile repairs, movie admissions and medical care services all advanced in cost.

Beef prices declined for the first time in eight months, but beef prices were offset by increases for other meats.

Red Cross Workers and Firemen remove victims from the wreckage of a Mexicana Airlines jet which crashed at the Mexico City airport Sunday night. As many as 40 persons of the 118 aboard are believed to have been killed in the crash. (Wirephoto)

Stroke Reported by Soviets

Rumors of Mao Illness Called 'Lies'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Chinese Communist Embassy denounced as "lies and slander" today reports circulating in Moscow that Chairman Mao Tse-tung is critically ill.

The reports, lacking any official Soviet confirmation, have been attributed to "reliable Communist sources." One report said Mao had suffered a stroke Sept. 2 and that only massive medical attention was keeping him alive.

"This is typical of the lies and slander of the American bourgeois press which is always hostile to People's China," said a Chinese Embassy spokesman. Informed that Communist sources in Moscow had circulated the report, he snapped "That is the same thing."

Western diplomats commenting on the reports said they were impressed by the specific detail of some of the accounts, adding that illness of Mao would help explain such events as Premier Chou En-lai's abrupt departure Sept. 4 from Hanoi in advance of the funeral of Ho Chi Minh, president of North Vietnam.

Others Untrue Skeptics here, however, noted that there have been many Moscow reports in recent years on Mao's failing health, and that despite specific details, the reports later proved to be untrue.

China watchers in Hong Kong generally discounted the rumors.

Although rumors had been spreading in that British colony

for more than a month, sources there with contacts in China say they have no confirmation of the rumors.

One source noted, however, that some China specialists believe there may be a link between the rumors and reports that few posters of Mao are being put up in Hong Kong in preparation for the celebrations of Red China's National Day Oct. 1.

"They may not want to over-glorify him if they believe he really is ill and may die," the source said.

Time magazine said Sunday that Communist sources in Moscow reported that the 75-year-old Chinese Communist party chairman suffered a stroke on Sept. 2 and was in critical condition. It said "a massive medical effort" was keeping him alive.

Observers in Hong Kong discounted the report, saying the Soviet Union "would stoop to anything" in its feud with Red China.

"Those who say Mao is dead or dying are bound to be right some day," one observer said. "We get these stories of illness about every two months, and I don't believe this is any more accurate than the others."

May Appear Oct. 1 A Japanese correspondent in Peking reported today that there are "strong" expectations that Mao will make his usual public appearance in Peking on Oct. 1. The correspondent said this expectation was based on a

Smugglers Met at Border By 'Operation Intercept'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Operation Intercept, the government's drive to cut off drugs three to four hours. Inspectors from Mexico, netted uncounted millions of dollars worth of marijuana and thousands of vehicles and occupants. There also were 20,000 returnees along 2,500 miles of the U.S.-Mexico border.

The intercepted contraband included half a ton of marijuana aboard a plane that was seized.

Some 90,000 persons in 30,000 cars who went to Mexico for a Kennedy and Atty. Gen. John M. Mitchell announced in a joint statement Sunday that Operation Intercept was in full swing from Mexico were being monitored on military radar planted south of San Diego on their return. A spokesman for the program at known smugglers' routes in Los Angeles said a rented airplane leaving Mexico tried to evade Operation Intercept aircraft but was forced to land at Bakersfield Friday.

It carried 1,000 pounds of marijuana, the spokesman said, and the pilot, Michael Thomas Mitchell, 23, a University of Washington student from Seattle, was arrested and booked for investigation of smuggling.

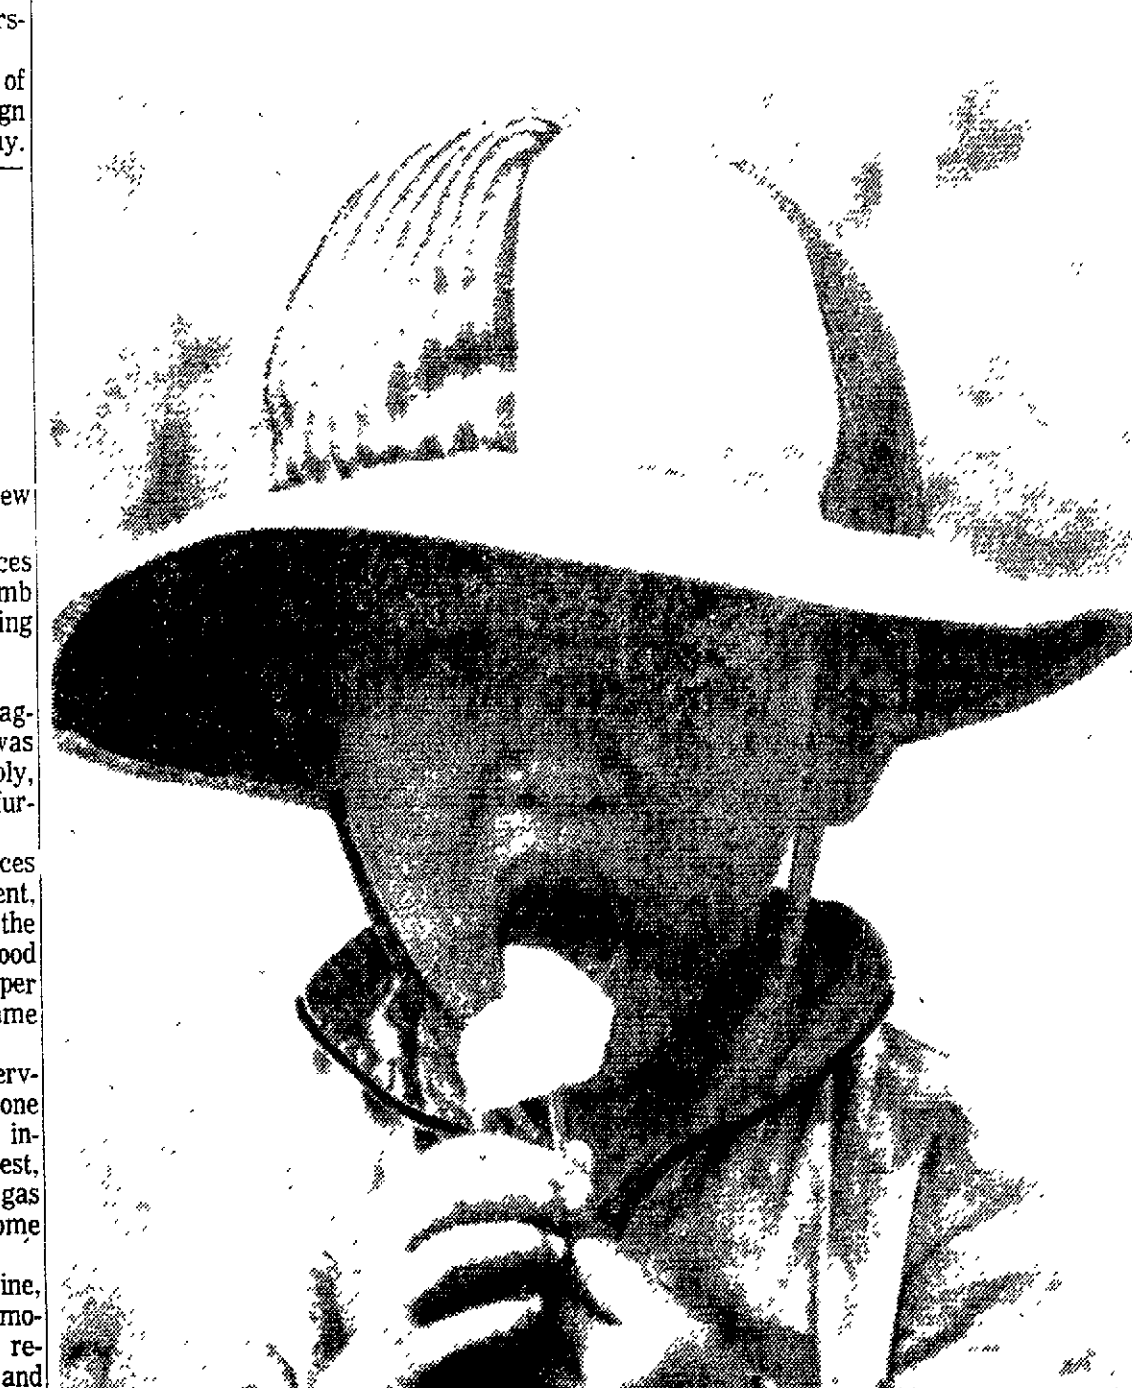

Authorities said Mitchell told them he had paid $27,000 for the cars who went to Mexico for a Kennedy and Atty. Gen. John M. # Pilot Narrowly Avoids Crash

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A Trans World Airlines pilot said he put his aircraft into a steep dive Sunday night to avoid another plane near Indianapolis, Ind. Drummond said he quickly dropped about 300 feet and then regained his original altitude.

Drummond said his twin-jet DC9, with 58 passengers aboard, was nearing Indianapolis at was a passenger on the flight.

Rosenthal said nearly everyone gasped and one of the plane's two hostesses fell in the aisle. He said the worst thing that happened was, "a little coffee spilled out of some cups people were holding."

Eighty-three persons were killed at Indianapolis Sept. 9 when an airborne Allegheny Airlines DC9 was struck in the rear by a private plane that had not been sighted on radar.

Represent Communities

Farmers Elected As ASC Members In Calumet County

CHILTON — New members of the Agricultural Stabilization Community Committee in Calumet County have been announced by Sylvester H. Wagner, chairman.

The new committeemen were elected in a by-mail election conducted last week and the ballots were tabulated publicly by the incumbent committee last Friday at the city hall in Chilton.

Farmers elected to the committee for the Town of Brillion are Richard Lavash, chairman; Earl Tesch, vice chairman; Earl Voss, member; Roy Bastian, first alternate; and Ross Hacker, second alternate.

Town of Brothertown: David Ludwig, chairman; James Kleinhans, vice chairman; Eugene Meyers, member; Robert Schwove, first alternate; and Roland Weiststein, second alternate.

The ASC county committee chairmen, vice chairmen and third regular members automatically become delegates to the county convention, where farmers are elected to fill vacancies on the ASC county committee.

County Convention

The alternate committeemen become alternate delegates to the convention, which will be held at the city hall, Chilton, at 8 p.m. Oct. 1. After the county committeemen are elected, the delegates determine which of the regular committeemen will serve as chairman and vice chairman for the coming year.

ASC county and community farmer committees are in charge of local administration of such national programs as Agricultural Conservation, crop-land adjustment, feed grain, wheat, national wool programs, and acreage allotments and marketing quotas, commodity loans and storage facility loans.

New London To Discuss School Needs

Special Meeting Set On Crowding at Elementary Facilities

NEW LONDON — Future school construction will be discussed at a special board of education meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the senior high school.

Representatives of The Stuenrauch Associates, Sheboygan architectural firm, will meet with the board.

Of major concern is the Washington Junior High School which has a use ratio of available teaching stations of 95 per cent. Available class space during a day allows a maximum of nine sections, or about 1½ full student schedules — 25 to 30 pupils in one class.

Most pressure is felt in insufficient study hall area, library and cafeteria. Additional classroom areas are needed also.

Also to be considered is the Readfield Elementary School which is operating near capacity. Readfield is a K-4 school at the present as the fifth and sixth grade are now bussed to New London.

Farmers May Sign at Waupaca For Cost-Sharing

WAUPACA — Applications for cost-sharing under the 1970 agricultural conservation program are now being accepted at the Waupaca County ASCS office, Lowell C. Feathers, office manager as announced. The initial sign-up period ends Oct. 3.

Feathers stated that all requests received during this period will receive equal consideration, but those submitted after Oct. 3 will be considered only if funds are still available.

The same practices and specifications as the 1969 program will be in effect until Dec. 31, Feathers said, and any new practices will be announced later.

New London Leaders Will be Honored at BPW Club Meeting

NEW LONDON — Editorials saluting local people in government will be presented by the Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday in observance of "Government Day" of Wonderful Wisconsin Week.

Dolores Radtke, chairman, also has scheduled a display of the Wisconsin State Flag and a historical account at the city hall.

Calumet Auxiliary Club Plans Oct. 22 Meeting

STOCKBRIDGE — The annual meeting of the Calumet County American Legion Auxiliary council to be conducted at the high school here has been scheduled for Oct. 22.

Russ Named President

New London PMPC Elects Officers at Annual Meeting

NEW LONDON — Melvin Russ, route 2, was elected president of the New London Local of Pure Milk Products Cooperative (PMPC) Tuesday at the annual meeting here.

The 110 members also elected Leon Thoma, route 2, vice president; Alfred Krause, route 1, Secretary-treasurer; Lawrence Thern, Robert Lathrop and Clifford Gerndt, New London. Jesse Rice, Ogdensburg, Elmer Abraham and Ervin Fietzer, Black Creek, directors. Roy Kirchner, Clintonville, Dist. 8 state director, and Milton Handschke, field supervisor, were guest speakers.

Fewer Farmers

Harry Laszewski, public relations director for PMPC reported on legislation. Laszewski stated the national and state trend sees fewer dairy farmers each day and the total production of salable milk is on the decline.

The combination is leading to better producer prices, Laszewski reported, however, the increase has not been enough to offset production cost increases.

He stated the curbs placed on imports of foreign dairy products has resulted in a reduction from three billion pounds in 1966 to an estimated 1.3 billion for 1969.

Extend Programs

Laszewski said milk for schools and needy persons would be continued and the Legislature had been cooperative in extending farm programs.

Auxiliary officers are Mrs. Krause, president; Mrs. Rice, secretary; Mrs. Kenneth Fashier, Manawa, treasurer; and Mrs. Fietzer, director. Mrs. Vernon Thoma, New London, was named delegate to the state meeting, and Mrs. Richard Russ, alternate.

Named delegates to the Oct. 28 annual state meeting in Fond du Lac were Harold Strey, Hortonville; Fred Larson, Weyauwega; Milton Hintz, Marion; Krause, Russ, Thoma and Fietzer. Alternates are Burnell Memmetz, Manawa, and Norman Marks, Hortonville.

Manawa Lions Club Celebrates 40th Anniversary

MANAWA — The Manawa Lions Club celebrated its 40th anniversary at Cedar Springs Saturday, with a 6:30 p.m. cocktail hour preceding the dinner.

Guest speakers were Jorge Bird, and Farnk Birch, both past presidents of Lions International.

Robert Squires and Myrle Hales were in charge of the arrangements.

519 Pin Series Tops Women's Action at Brillion

BRILLION — Fran Thiel recorded a 202 game and 519 series to lead action in the Strickettes Bowling League this week at Koffarnus Lanes.

Lorraine Koehler hit a 199 game and Audrey Rosner had a 192.

Brillion Sport Shop leads the league with a 5-1 record and hit the week's high game of 842. Champagne Girls team hit a 2,364 high series.

Elaine Zeamer posted a 508 series for the lone honor in the Thursday night Ladies League. T&C Market had a 796 game and O'Connor Pharmacy had a 2,277 high series.

Reese Drive-In is in first place with a 6-0 record.

Smoky Basement Results From Faulty Furnace at Residence

A malfunctioning furnace filled the basement with smoke at the Rudy Cherkasky home, 810 E. College Ave., about 1 a.m. today.

Four fire department units were sent to the home. Fire fighters used smoke ejectors.

A malfunction in the plant alarm system brought five fire department units to the Hoepner Manufacturing Co., 1012 N. Lawe St., at 10:35 a.m. Sunday.

At 1:20 a.m. Sunday, fire fighters were summoned to the home of Mrs. Darlene Lamb, 1316 N. Kenilworth St., after a mattress caught fire. Damage was confined to the mattress.

Plan Group Launches Housing Needs Study

Northeastern Commission Lays Groundwork for In-Depth Probe Within Nine Member Countries

The Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning commission is laying the ground work for an in-depth study of the housing needs of its nine member countries.

Charles Hervey, executive director, said he has assigned Herbert Rieckmann, community planner and coordinator, to take a preliminary look at the possible needs, plus coming up with a list of prospects for a housing technical advisory committee.

"Rieckmann began inventorying the areas late this summer to determine the need for deeper analysis," Hervey said, noting planners working on the sewer study and land use mapping also have been gathering data for a housing study.

Housing Seminar

The preliminary work will culminate Nov. 18 when public officials and residents of member counties will be invited to a housing seminar in Appleton to be sponsored by the commission and the University of Wisconsin Extension.

"Housing shortages and resulting implications—both statewide and regional—will be described," Hervey said. "Methods by which private citizens, local governments and industry may increase the supply of adequate housing will be explored," he added.

Hervey said he hoped to have Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., at the seminar to speak on the federal funding which will be available for house construction.

Hervey said there is no question there is a shortage of adequate housing in Wisconsin, particularly for low and moderate-income families and the elderly.

He suggested the federal government should not be relied upon exclusively to satisfy the need. Wisconsin industry and government must bear the principal responsibility of meeting this need, he added.

Particular housing problems will be cited in the seminar, as well as methods with or without Turn to Page 3, Col. 6

PMA Votes To Affiliate With AMPI

ST. CHARLES, Ill. (AP)—Delegates to the Pure Milk Association's annual meeting voted overwhelmingly Saturday to join with Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI).

Several Wisconsin cooperatives have balked at joining the proposed AMPI, which would consolidate 15 dairy cooperatives from Lake Superior to the Gulf of Mexico in about 10 states.

The Wisconsin groups say they want guarantees of price stability now found in the Chicago based marketing order.

The Pure Milk Association, representing dairy farmers in Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin, is the largest cooperative among them in terms of number of farm units and milk production.

The new group, which is expected to be formed in 60 days, would include 30,000 dairy farmers who produce about 10 billion pounds of milk a year, an association spokesman said.

Seymour Student Selected to Compete as National Merit Scholar

SEYMOUR — Nancy Peters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Peters, has been named a semi-finalist in the 1969-70 National Merit Scholarship program.

Her selection was announced by John Peterson, principal of the Seymour High School.

Lutherans Set Clothing Drive

CLINTONVILLE — The pre-clothing drive for Lutheran World Relief will be this week by the Christus Lutheran Church.

All clothing which can be used to make blankets and quilts, are to be brought to the Anne Street entrance of the parish hall. Nylon stockings are also needed.

The women of the congregation will then get together and sort, rip, cut and sew these items into bedding.

In October, the second phase of the clothing drive will be conducted when bedding and children's clothing will be collected.

Lions Club Plans Work Night for Mosquito Hill

NEW LONDON — A work night on preparing the Mosquito Hill snowmobile course is set for 5 p.m. Tuesday by the Lions Club, followed by a dinner at Don's Supper Club at 7:30 p.m.

The site is the location of the Club's Road America of Snowmobiling event.

Committee chairmen are Mike Coyle and Marlin Fuerst, general; Jim Ramsdell, publicity; Orville Johnson, race course; Louis Sheahan, race committee; W. A. Bender, raffle and queen;

Ron Steinhorst, concessions; Mel Jungerberg, grounds; Vern Volz, trophies; Skip Hammerberg, public address system and electricity; Tom Wolfe, rides, and Norb Klatt, sanitation.

Officers Elected By St. Mary Choir

STOCKBRIDGE — Officers of St. Mary Catholic Choir Society were elected when the group conducted its first meeting of the year last week.

Richard Thiel was chosen president; James Mayer, vice president; Curt Bushman, secretary, and Leo Van Hoorn, treasurer. George Ecker Jr., is the director. The choir formed earlier this year is composed entirely of high school boys.

Activities scheduled by the boys include singing for the Calumet County Holy Name Deanery corporate communion and breakfast here Oct. 12; midnight mass at Christmas and co-sponsoring the Sole Singers at the high school in November.

Registration for Adult Education Classes Are Being Taken at Hilbert

HILBERT — Registrations for courses in adult vocational education are being accepted until Friday at the high school here, according to Eugene Lakso.

Classes are offered in knitting, Mondays from 7-9 p.m.; beginning clothing, Monday or Tuesday from 7 to 9:30 p.m.; and soils and crop production and farm accounts for farm women, alternate Thursdays from 8 to 10 p.m.

Veteran Choir at Charlestown Oldtime Faithfuls Sing On

the group dates back to 1917; and Mrs. Fred Buhl, who also has served each Sunday for so many, many years.

'Newer' Members

New members of the faithful group are Mrs. Florian Woelfel and Mrs. Harvey Roehrig, each of whom have a mere 10 years of service.

Woelfel says today's changes in the mass are hard to understand. However, he admits that playing for the masses now is easier in that many of the songs they used to sing were in a two and three part harmony. Now, he says, with the English conversion, we sing one mass and all works well.

Of course, quipped Woelfel, "Us oldtimers get a little mixed up once in a while, and when we are hit with a cold, nothing wants to come out, so then I just play."

Taking only three or four lessons one winter on his reed pump organ, Woelfel has mastered the keys of the new electric organ quite well.

Mrs. Art Kolbe plays the organ for the low mass on Sunday and some of the young people come and sing for that mass, which consists of hymns.

On days of funerals or weddings, when no one shows up to sing, Woelfel often finds himself both singing and playing.

Although Woelfel is nearing his 77th birthday, his fingers are gentle and agile as they cross the keys which vibrantly bellow out over the countryside each Sunday morning from the little old church on the hill.

Hilbert Schools Challenge State Evaluation of District

HILBERT — Inconsistencies Stockbridge districts moved in the evaluation of the school toward consolidation last spring, the state in its report provided in the new schedule of instruction have been had said. "This proposed reorganization plan cannot be supported or recommended as a solution to the educational problems facing the two districts unless it is considered as only a step in a long range plan to the integrated level, the department suggested that the school reorganize with other districts to bring about better educational opportunities at a more reasonable cost.

The district also was to provide five days of in-service for teachers and to encourage teachers to earn advanced degrees. Other recommendations were health, library and guidance services. The school was complimented for recent improvements in educational advantages.

Earlier Report
Yenchesky said he had pointed out that when Hilbert and of 21-30

Salaries for non professional workers were increased as provided in the new schedule calling for a 5 per cent cost of living wage increase.

Good Employees
Yenchesky stressed the importance of having and being able to keep good employees. He said paying adequate salaries proves that we are trying to be sensitive to 'how it is on the other side of the fence.' He also noted the importance of "human relations and public relations" in the school system.

An increase of $2.72 per month for insurance benefits was voted for teachers in view of the increased costs assessed by the insurance company. Board members said they felt it was in poor taste to raise costs at this time, knowing that negotiations were closed and contracts issued. It was emphasized that the increase was approved as they did not want to set a precedent by opening negotiations. The increased cost is about $800.

Bus Contracts
Transportation contracts with Brillion were signed involving special education students at $2.75 a day and one way to the New Hope Center at Charleston at $1.75 a day. The school will receive $80 a student per year for transporting students living in the Brillion district to Sacred Heart School at Sherwood.

Elementary principal Eugene Lakso reported that the bussing of pupils was "going very well." A new bus is expected to be added to the fleet this week.

Board members indicated they will attend the WASB regional meeting Oct. 14 at Elkhart Lake and the school board institute Oct. 18 at Madison.

Board president Armin Schwalenberg and clerk, Ivan Novak reported on the negotiation conference for school board members they attended recently.

Commemorated at Mass Church at Wittenberg Has 70th Anniversary

WITTENBERG — To commemorate the 70th anniversary of the first mass for the Holy Family Parish, members of the Christian Mother's Society of the parish was made a mission church in the home of Mrs. H. E. Kersten as a prelude to their Sept. 16 meeting. The mass was offered in the same room as was the first mass. Father Ralph Hermesen, the present pastor, officiated, and in his sermon reiterated the events from the annals of the parish.

In September of 1899, Father Aloysius Bastian came to the village of Wittenberg to offer the first mass for the Catholic people of the area. This mass was offered in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Kloeckner, which was later sold to Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Kersten, and in which Mrs. Kersten still resides.

Father Bastian was the resident pastor at Clintonville when he was called upon to serve Wittenberg. He traveled to the surrounding small communities, such as Marion, Big Falls, Carter, and Wittenberg, and offered mass here one day each month in the Kloeckner home. The Catholic people usually spent the day here and remained to spend the night in the same home. This procedure was in order until 1914 when Wittenberg was made a mission of the Catholic parish at Tigerton with Father C. VandenBorne as pastor.

Wittenberg was still a mission church of Tigerton at the time the present church was erected in 1920, with 15 families comprising membership. In 1922 the parish was made a mission of Birnamwood and remained so until 1957, at which time it was transferred to the Aniwa parish because of the increase in church population.

After being a mission of Aniwa for one and a half years, Wittenberg received its own resident pastor, Father Jerome Watry, who arrived here in June, 1959, and who was instrumental in building the present rectory.

The present pastor, Father Hermesen, came to Holy Family in July of 1965 and he and the parish at this time are in the process of building a new church near the location of the rectory on the northeast side of the village.

Twelve priests have served this parish as a mission, and of the original fifteen members who undertook the building of the church in 1920, a few are still active members — Mrs. H. E. Kersten, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sell, Mrs. Peter Bessette, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Spranger.

Move to Utilize Shipping Method Meets Problems

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Predictions that containerization is the wave of the future in shipping have been dampened a bit by an insurer who claims that waves of another sort are causing heavy insurance claims.

The container, which is called the greatest advance in packaging since the paper bag, usually is a large metal box of standard dimensions that can be interchanged easily among truck, train, plane and ship.

During these moves the cargoes contained therein never are handled individually. In fact, from the time the box is sealed until it arrives at its destination, the cargoes never are exposed to light of day.

Big savings are claimed. Pilferage supposedly is cut down. Damages caused by rehandling are lessened. Interchanges are speeded. And because the containers are of a standard size—often 8 feet by 8 feet by 40 feet—they can be stored efficiently.

Severe Weather

Now comes Capt. William Warm, an insurance man and a member of the container committee of the American Institute of Marine Underwriters. All is not well as it appears, he claims, at least in severe weather at sea.

The problem, as he sees it, occurs mainly when shippers store the big boxes on the decks in an effort to utilize every possible storage area. Many of these containers are lost overboard, the captain says.

"Cut crystal, furniture, liquor, electronic equipment and so on — completely lost," he told a shipping conference here.

Even those that withstand the gales and seas and remain on deck sometimes reveal contents mushy as the sandwiches in the ice cooler that was left in the car trunk on a hot day in a long traffic jam on the way to the picnic grounds.

Contents Worthless

Opened at the destination, Warm said, containers sometimes "show a watermark from 6 inches to 4 feet high left by salt water, with the soggy, collapsed contents worthless."

He related the example of a container properly stowed with fine imported furniture that was opened for customs inspection and found saturated with water that had entered through holes later discovered in the top of the box.

Sometimes the damage occurs in loading. "How about the 400-foot container loaded with sheet metal ... suddenly collapsing at the center and spilling the contents into the ship's hold," he asked?

Any stevedore will tell you that accidents occur not only with containers, but also with cargo being loaded the old way. But Warm did cite an example that occurs only to containers.

"Drums of chemicals have come adrift inside a container, demolishing the unit and causing the collapse of the two containers stowed above."

Not Permanent

Least his remarks be interpreted to mean a permanent defect in the container method of shipping. Warm added that the problems are primarily growing pains that should not become permanent ailments.

Some Wall Street analysts remain bullish on containerization. They believe that current problems should be solved, or alleviated, and that the future of the industry is good.

One large brokerage house cites growth estimates of 25 per cent to 40 per cent a year in the use of containers during the 1970s.

"It has been estimated," the brokerage house stated in a special report, "that up to 80 per cent of all cargo can be containerized, while at the moment only 15 per cent to 20 per cent is being handled in this manner."

All forecasts presumably assume that the industry's trademark will not be a watermark.

Five of the 10 Members of the 1901 confirmation class of Trinity Lutheran Church, Town of Ellington, were present for a recent reunion. The members,

By HAL ROYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Have you given yourself a prestige checkup lately?

If not, why not? Millions of Americans now get some kind of annual medical checkup. This is good as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough.

A medical checkup only determines the state of your physical health. It lets you know how much wear and tear your body is showing and whether you still have muscle tone or have gone flabby.

What you need to know in addition is the state of your social health. Competition is not only the life of trade, it is also the life of our business-oriented society.

Are you still clawing your way up the ladder of success, or, unknowingly, have you begun to zoom on a toboggan path toward Nonentity Swamp? Only a regular prestige checkup can give you the answer.

In time, of course, these checkups will be given by computers. But there is no reason why, if you are one of those do-it-yourself guys, you can't figure out yourself the state of your prestige.

You can congratulate yourself that you're doing okay if—

The wife of the boss insists that you dance with her at least twice at the annual office spring get-together.

Instead of your getting an occasional dunning letter from the alumni office, the president of your college suggests having lunch with you when he drops into town.

You quit hanging around pool halls and spend more time at country clubs.

When you drop into the bank to explain how your wife overdrew your joint account, the banker no longer looks at you in chill disbelief. He calls you by your first name—or, better yet, by your initials—and says not to worry about it until the bank does.

On a business trip you don't feel it necessary to wash your own socks in the hotel wash bowl; at home your wife has quit ironing your shirts and now sends them to the laundry.

At least one member of the family has had a small nervous breakdown and emerged from it successfully.

You have been asked to head

a charitable drive in your community, even if it was only to raise funds to wipe out chilblains among the Eskimos.

The shoeshine man who goes from floor to floor in your building is now willing to trade stock market tips with you because he figures you may have almost as much inside knowledge as he does.

The boss doesn't push the buzzer on his desk so often any more to summon you to his office. When he has something on match, Jordan said, the youth will be named in October and his mind, he likes to drop into your office and talk it over, shirt.

The senator said he hit the youth on the chin, flooring him, but the robber retaliated with a blow to the head with a black-jack. After a brief wrestling advisory committee members match, Jordan said, the youth will be named in October and his mind, he likes to drop into your office and talk it over, shirt.

More informally. If he asks how your kids are, he remembers their names.

You no longer can waste time at the barbershop leafing through naughty magazines while awaiting your turn in the chair. Your secretary now arranges your haircuts by appointment.

If you want to kill a dull workday afternoon by taking in a movie, you are free to do so. The office underlings will only assume that you're at your club, conscientiously losing a golf game to a major contact.

Your neighbors, who would dislike you if you bought a new car more expensive than they could afford, now dislike you because you bought one cheaper than they can afford. They suspect such attempts at tact indicate you're getting rather smug and condescending.

Well, the truth is, you are, aren't you? But you've also got something else, too—prestige, one price of which is always envy.

This information comes from Mrs. Virginia Knauer, his adviser on consumer affairs.

In an article in the Easton Express she said that after she proposed limiting the fat content in hot dogs to 30 per cent she received a call from the President, who said:

"Virginia, I just wanted you to know that I'm with you 100 per cent on the hot dogs. I'm on a low cholesterol diet myself."

Regents Riled by Boy-Girl Housing Experiment at UW

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The idea of boys and girls living together riled the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents Friday as they heard of an experimental fraternity housing concept on the Madison campus.

The experiment, which has turned one fraternity into a co-educational housing unit with girls segregated to the top floor and boys to the bottom, drew strong reaction from the regents.

The board should have been consulted before such a policy was made, the regents trained out of the campus, said.

Gained Approval

In January, the Kappa Lambda Gamma chapter of the Sigma Chi chapter for the year 1968-69, the chapter's student housing office will have a special regents committee was studying campus housing regulations.

About 20 girls and 20 boys are living in the experiment reported to police Sunday.

Hearing on Marijuana Have a Joint, Legislators Told

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Legalization of marijuana was called for Monday at a Capitol hearing, during which youths called on lawmakers to "turn on" with pot to understand the views of the young.

"What I would like to do is lock the doors and give everybody a joint," said Douglas Howell, who works in a community cooperative store in the student area of Madison. "If you've never experienced marijuana, I can see no validity in your debating it," he told the State Affairs Committee of the Legislature. The committee was considering bills dealing with the dangerous drugs law of Wisconsin, which currently covers marijuana use despite the criticism of users and researchers that it is not a narcotic.

One of the bills, authored by Assemblyman Lloyd Barbee, D-Milwaukee, would remove all legal sanctions from use of the weed in Wisconsin.

Barbee said his bill would take a "realistic" approach to the widespread use of marijuana, which, he said, should be handled through educational means.

A State Affairs Committee-authored bill would remove the criminal penalties for marijuana possession and use, and make those offenses misdemeanors. It also would establish a state council to oversee potential drug abuse problems in the state.

A third bill considered, also authored by the committee, would establish a drug education and drug abuse program in Wisconsin.

Subject of the greatest amount of attention, however, was Barbee's bill to legalize marijuana.

Refuting the claim that non-users can't knowledgeably discuss the problems of marijuana use was Dr. Joseph Benforado, a University of Wisconsin pharmacologist who heads the state advisory committee on drug abuse.

"It's just impossible to say that you can't know something about a drug unless you have tried it," he said.

Wrong Contention

The contention that marijuana is not "bad" because it is not physically addictive is a fallacy, he said, because the drug cocaine is not addictive either, but is potentially physically harmful to users.

He urged that the committee lessen the criminal penalties on marijuana use, but not legalize it, stating that insufficient research has been done on its effects.

Using many of the same arguments, Dennis Sandage, a staff aide to unannounced gubernatorial candidate David Carley, called for a cessation of all legal action involving marijuana use until adequate research on its effects can be obtained.

Arguing for the legalization were a number of admitted users, including Howell and Robin Cohn of Milwaukee.

"Not Addictive"

"I smoke marijuana and I don't think that anybody has a right to tell me not to do it," said Cohn. "It's not addictive. . . I could smoke it every day for four months and then not smoke it for a year."

Cohn said he was arrested once for marijuana possession, and that he felt like many other arrested users. Being penalized for violating what you believe is improper, he said, and unneeded laws leads to disrespect of law in general.

No marijuana user has to commit crimes to support his practice because there is no physical addiction, Cohn told the committee.

Purported connections between marijuana use and "hard drug" use are fictional, said Edward Elson, a Madison attorney and store owner. "Hard drug" users actually start with cigarettes and beer, he said.

Further Delay? Soviet Reply Will be 'Soon'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Kremlin has sent word that it will reply "soon" to President Nixon's bid to begin U.S. Soviet talks on curbing the nuclear arms race.

This message from Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to Secretary of State William P. Rogers Monday night fell short of U.S. hopes. It meant indefinite further delay on the already much delayed disarmament parley the two superpowers agreed long ago to hold.

Gromyko did not specify what he meant by "soon." State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey commented: "We were satisfied that what was said was meant, and we accepted it."

Rogers and Gromyko held a three-hour dine-and-talk session at Rogers' hotel suite. The Middle East, the United Nations, Germany Berlin and the treaty to outlaw the spread of nuclear weapons—but not Vietnam or Red China — also were discussed.

"Good Dinner"

Neither Gromyko, who said "we had a very good dinner," nor the Americans claimed progress on these issues. U.S. sources did say the discussion provided a clearer understanding of the opposing views on the Middle East and the two sides agreed to continue the talks between Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin on this crisis.

Rogers apparently found the going slow in his first private meeting with his Soviet counterpart since Nixon took office avowing "negotiation rather than confrontation" with the Communist camp. Gromyko hosts a follow-up meeting Friday night.

On SALT — the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks which Nixon had publicly hoped to get under way by mid-August in Vienna or Geneva—Gromyko told reporters only that "the time will come" for a Soviet statement.

McCloskey reported Gromyko told Rogers: "We will give you a reply on a time and place for preliminary talks soon."

U.S. officials said the term preliminary talks meant discussion of the mechanics—methods of conducting the talks, agenda, use of interpreters, place, time and similar details.

It has been three years, according to the U.S. version, since the United States first proposed the talks. Neither Washington nor Moscow has backed down from its professed desire to hold discussions aimed at restraining their spiraling atomic arms rivalry.

U.S. officials doubt that Gromyko's "soon" means an answer before Rogers leaves the U.N. General Assembly session early in October. But they still expect Moscow's reply will come in a matter of weeks rather than months.

$662 Million Sought Over 5-Year Period

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said today he will ask for $662 million in the next five years to develop a supersonic transport aircraft.

The United States must go ahead with the plane—called the SST— "to maintain its leadership" in the world aircraft industry, Nixon said.

"I want the United States to continue to lead the world in air transport," he declared at a White House briefing. "The SST is going to be built."

Nixon noted his decision on the 1,800-mile-an-hour, 300-passenger airliner came after a "spirited debate within the administration."

Opponents of the project have argued it is impractical, too expensive and too noisy.

Nixon asked $96 million this year in new funds from Congress in addition to $99 million in unused carryover appropriations for the SST program.

This would rise to $314 million in fiscal 1971, then progressively fall to $189 million in fiscal 1972, $48 million in fiscal 1973 and $15 million in fiscal 1974.

Must Limit Noise

To meet a major objection from some opponents, Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe said the SST would not be allowed to fly over population areas until the noise factor comes within acceptable limits.

Volpe said government investment in the SST would total $994 million of the approximately $1.4 billion needed to build two prototype aircraft by 1972.

The first test flights are scheduled for late 1972, with commercial use expected by 1978.

The $195 million in SST funds this fiscal year will allow construction to begin. The government approved this spring final design plans for the giant plane.

James M. Beggs, undersecretary of transportation, said the government's investment in the SST is still expected to be approximately $1.2 billion, despite Volpe's estimate of $994 million. The discrepancy comes from various shifts in funding and stretch-outs, he said.

Washington Officials

Nixon announced his decision in a White House conference room crowded with newsmen. Flanking him were members of the Washington congressional delegation, the state's governor, Dan Evans, and officials of the Department of Transportation.

The plane will be built in Washington by the Boeing Corp. Volpe fielded questions after the President's general statement.

In addition to the need for continued U.S. leadership in world aviation, Nixon gave a further reason for going ahead with the SST—the plane "would

'Expert Witness'

Judge Sees Nude Dance...Again

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The judge was Earl Warren Jr., the courtroom—once again—was a bar.

And there, stepping right out of the middle of a movie screen to the stirring "William Tell Overture" was Miss Carol Doda, pioneer of the topless entertainment.

Without her top, naturally. Her role was that of "expert witness," sort of, in Sacramento's case of the bottomless dancers.

Miss Doda was summoned from her San Francisco nightclub Monday by the defense in the case in which Sheila Brendenson and Suzanne Haines are charged with lewd and dissolute conduct and indecent exposure for dancing nude at the Pink Pussy Kat beer bar in Sacramento.

Defense lawyers didn't make clear their entire strategy in having Miss Doda put on her act for Judge Warren's Municipal Court jury, but they talked of "community standards." The question of whether so-called "bottomless" dancing goes beyond commonly accepted community standards is an issue in the case.

Miss Doda's 35-minute act consisted of her dancing and singing without a top, with two male companions. As they performed, a movie showing her nude was projected behind them on a screen which they could pass through.

Miss Doda said the movie was "like a satire of pornography."

Asked why she has expanded her former act, she told newsmen it's like "mayors want to become governors, senators want to become presidents."

The Rev. James Groppi of Milwaukee takes a break and cools his tired feet Monday during a brief stop. He is leading a group of welfare marchers on an 82-mile march to Madison from the Milwaukee inner core. The group, planning to greet legislators on their return to the Capitol next Monday, reached Hartland Monday night, having covered 38 miles since leaving Sunday.

Hilbert Schools Challenge State Evaluation of District

HILBERT — Inconsistencies Stockbridge districts moved in the evaluation of the school toward consolidation last spring, the state in its report provided in the new schedule of instruction have been had said. "This proposed reorganizing plan cannot be supported by the department," Richard Yenchesky, administrator, told the board of education last week.

In notifying the district that it had qualified for state aid at the integrated level, the department suggested that the school reorganize with other districts to bring about better educational opportunities at a more reasonable cost.

The district also was to provide five days of in-service for teachers and to encourage teachers to earn advanced degrees. Other recommendations were health, library and guidance services. The school was complimented for recent improvements in educational advantages.

Earlier Report

Yenchesky said he had pointed out that when Hilbert and

Salaries for non professional workers were increased as provided in the new schedule calling for a 5 per cent cost of living wage increase.

Good Employees

Yenchesky stressed the importance of having and being able to keep good employees. He said paying adequate salaries proves that we are trying to be sensitive to 'how it is on the other side of the fence.' He also noted the importance of "human relations and public relations" in the school system.

An increase of $2.72 per month for insurance benefits was voted for teachers in view of the increased costs assessed by the insurance company. Board members said they felt it was in poor taste to raise costs at this time, knowing that negotiations were closed and contracts issued. It was emphasized that the increase was approved as they did not want to set a precedent by opening negotiations. The increased cost is about $800.

Bus Contracts

Transportation contracts with Brillion were signed involving special education students at $2.75 a day and one way to the New Hope Center at Charles-town at $1.75 a day. The school will receive $80 a student per year for transporting students living in the Brillion district to Sacred Heart School at Sher-wood.

Elementary principal Eugene Lakso reported that the bussing of pupils was "going very well." A new bus is expected to be added to the fleet this week.

Board members indicated they will attend the WASB regional meeting Oct. 14 at Elkhart Lake and the school board institute Oct. 18 at Madison.

Board president Armin Schwalenberg and clerk, Ivan Novak reported on the negotiation conference for school board members they attended recently.

Proceeds from the event will be used for the purchase of a movie screen for Waupaca County Hospital, and equipment for the new city park.

Commemorated at Mass

Church at Wittenberg Has 70th Anniversary

WITTENBERG — To commemorate the 70th anniversary of the present church was of the first mass for the Holy Family Parish, members of the comprising membership. In 1922 Christian Mother's Society of the parish was made a mission fered the celebration of the mass in the home of Mrs. H. E. Kersten as a prelude to their Sept. 16 meeting. The mass was offered in the same room as the first mass. Father Ralph Hermesen, the present pastor, officiated, and in his sermon reiterated the events from the annals of the parish.

In September of 1899, Father Aloysius Bastian came to the village of Wittenberg to offer the first mass for the Catholic people of the area. This mass was offered in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Kloeckner, which was later sold to Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Kersten, and in which Mrs. Kersten still resides.

Father Bastian was the resident pastor at Clintonville when he was called upon to serve Wittenberg. He traveled to the surrounding small communities such as Marion, Big Falls, Carter, and Wittenberg, and offered mass here one day each month in the Kloeckner home. The Catholic people usually spent the day here and remained to spend the night in the same home. This procedure was in order until 1914 when Wittenberg was made a mission of the Catholic parish at Tigerton with Father C. Vandenberg as pastor.

Wittenberg was still a mission church of Tigerton at the time the present church was erected in 1920, with 15 families Family Parish, members of the comprising membership. Bright Future Of Containers Not All Rosy

Move to Utilize Shipping Method Meets Problems

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Predictions that containerization is the wave of the future in shipping have been dampened a bit by an insurer who claims that waves of another sort are causing heavy insurance claims.

The container, which is called the greatest advance in packaging since the paper bag, usually is a large metal box of standard dimensions that can be interchanged easily among truck, train, plane and ship.

During these moves the cargoes contained therein never are handled individually. In fact from the time the box is sealed until it arrives at its destination the cargoes never are exposed to light of day.

Big savings are claimed. Pilferage supposedly is cut down. Damages caused by rehandling are lessened. Interchanges are speeded. And because the containers are of a standard size—often 8 feet by 8 feet by 40 feet—they can be stored efficiently.

Severe Weather

Now comes Capt. William Warm, an insurance man and a member of the container committee of the American Institute of Marine Underwriters. All is not well as it appears, he claims at least in severe weather at sea.

The problem, as he sees it, occurs mainly when shippers store the big boxes on the docks in an effort to utilize every possible storage area. Many of these containers are lost overboard the captain says.

"Cut crystal furniture, liquor electronic equipment and so on—completely lost," he told a shipping conference here.

Even those that withstand the gales and seas and remain on deck sometimes reveal contents mushy as the sandwiches in the ice cooler that was left in the car trunk on a hot day in a long traffic jam on the way to the picnic grounds.

Opened at the destination, Warm said, containers sometimes "show a watermark from 6 inches to 4 feet high left by salt water, with the soggy collapsed contents worthless."

He related the example of a container properly stowed with fine imported furniture that was opened for customs inspection and found saturated with water that had entered through holes later discovered in the top of the box.

Sometimes the damage occurs in loading. How about the 400-foot container loaded with sheet metal suddenly collapsing at the center and spilling the contents into the ship's hold, he asked?

Any stevedore will tell you that accidents occur not only with containers but also with cargo being loaded the old way. But Warm did cite an example that occurs only to containers.

Drums of chemicals have come adrift inside a container demolishing the unit and causing the collapse of the two containers stowed above.

Not Permanent

Least his remarks be interpreted to mean a permanent defect in the container method of shipping. Warm added that the problems are primarily growing pains that should not become permanent ailments.

Some Wall Street analysts remain bullish on containerization. They believe that current problems should be solved or alleviated and that the future of the industry is good.

One large brokerage house cites growth estimates of 25 per cent to 40 per cent a year in the use of containers during the 1970s.

"It has been estimated," the brokerage house stated in a special report, "that up to 80 per cent of all cargo can be containerized, while at the moment only 15 per cent to 20 per cent is being handled in this manner."

All forecasts presumably assume that the industry's trademark will not be a watermark.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Have you given yourself a prestige checkup lately?

If not, why not?

Millions of Americans now get some kind of annual medical checkup. This is good as far as it goes but it doesn't go far enough.

A medical checkup only determines the state of your physical health. It lets you know how much wear and tear your body is showing and whether you still have muscle tone or have gone flabby.

What you need to know in addition is the state of your social health. Competition is not only the life of trade, it is also the life of our business-oriented society.

Are you still clawing your way up the ladder of success or, unknowingly, have you begun to zoom on a toboggan path toward Nonentity Swamp? Only a regular prestige checkup can give you the answer.

In time of course these checkups will be given by computers. But there is no reason why, if you are one of those do-it-yourself guys, you can't figure out yourself the state of your prestige.

You can congratulate yourself that you're doing okay if—

The wife of the boss insists that you dance with her at least twice at the annual office spring get-together.

Instead of your getting an occasional dunning letter from the alumni office, the president of your college suggests having lunch with you when he drops into town.

You quit hanging around pool halls and spend more time at country clubs.

When you drop into the bank to explain how your wife overdrew your joint account, the banker no longer looks at you in chill disbelief. He calls you by your first name—or, better yet, by your initials—and says not to worry about it until the bank does.

On a business trip you don't feel it necessary to wash your own socks in the hotel wash bowl, at home your wife has quit ironing your shirts and now sends them to the laundry.

At least one member of the family has had a small nervous breakdown and emerged from it successfully.

You have been asked to head

a charitable drive in your community even if it was only to raise funds to wipe out child-lans among the Eskimos.

The shoeshine man who goes from floor to floor in your building is now willing to trade stock market tips with you because he figures you may have almost as much inside knowledge as he does.

The boss doesn't push the buzzer on his desk so often any more to summon you to his office. When he has something on his mind he likes to drop into your office and talk it over with you more informally. If he asks how your kids are, he remembers their names.

You no longer can waste time at the barbershop leafing through naughty magazines while awaiting your turn in the chair. Your secretary now arranges your haircuts by appointment.

If you want to kill a dull workday afternoon by taking in a movie, you are free to do so. The office underlings will only assume that you're at your club conscientiously losing a golf game to a major contact.

Your neighbors who would dislike you if you bought a new car more expensive than they could afford, now dislike you because you bought one cheaper than they can afford. They suspect such attempts at tact indicate you're getting rather smug and condescending.

Well, the truth is, you are, aren't you? But you've also got something else too—prestige, a price of which is always envied.

U.S. Senator, 70, Plan Group to Study Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Len B. Jordan, 70-year-old Idaho Republican, bested a black-jack wielding young robber and has a lump on the head, a skinned knuckle and part of his assailant's shirt for souvenirs.

Jordan, a 6-footer weighing 200 pounds, said the holdup man confronted him in an automatic elevator in his apartment building.

The senator said he hit the youth on the chin, flooring him, but the robber retaliated with a blow to the head with a black-jack. After a brief wrestling match, Jordan said, the youth will be named in October and his mind he likes to drop into your office and talk it over with you more informally. If he asks how your kids are, he remembers their names.

SAIGON (AP) — A company of the embattled company and 130 South Vietnamese civilian irregulars led by American Green Berets suffered more than 50 per cent casualties in heavy fighting six miles south of the Cambodian border, military spokesmen reported today.

Within hours after the fighting ended, five waves of U.S. B52 bombers pounded North Vietnamese bases and staging areas along the border north of Saigon with some 750 tons of explosives.

Seven of the South Vietnamese civilian irregulars were killed and 62 were wounded in the six-hour fight Monday three miles northwest of the Thien Ngon Special Forces camp. Four Green Berets were wounded.

Postal Corporation Plan Voted Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's postal corporation plan was voted down by the House Post Office Committee today under a confused parliamentary procedure that left in doubt any prospect for revival.

The vote, which was recorded unanimously by the 26-member committee, was to accept an alternate reform plan by Chairman Thaddeus J. Dulski, D-N.Y., as the basic approach to be followed.

That vote was expected. But under procedure approved last week, there was supposed to be a second vote on whether to rewrite the chairman's plan into a corporation bill. But objections were raised and the second vote was not taken.

Dulski said he will call a new meeting, possibly next week.

But he indicated that as far as he is concerned for the present the committee has chosen his bill over the administration's proposal to turn the nation's mail system over to a government-owned corporation.

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount pressed the effort for the administration plan.

Blount reportedly personally

The helicopters returned the fire with machine guns and directed artillery onto the enemy positions. U.S. headquarters said 16 enemy soldiers were killed. No U.S. casualties were reported, and the helicopters returned to their base.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, reported two days ago that "a lot of prisoner of war statements and other documents indicate there will be a winter-spring campaign." It would be a continuation of the enemy's autumn campaign, which has been marked by periods of comparatively heavy attacks alternating with longer stretches of light activity.

In the past, the heaviest attacks have been made northwest of Saigon and have been staged from camps along the Cambodian border.

Patrol Attacked

Again today only light, scattered action was reported across the country.

A reconnaissance patrol from the U.S. 3rd Marine Division, which is being withdrawn from Vietnam by Dec. 15, was hit by hand grenades and small arms fire from an estimated 20 North Vietnamese soldiers just south of the demilitarized zone. The Marines returned the fire, then, called in artillery. Five North Vietnamese soldiers were killed and two Marines were wounded in the brief fight. U.S. headquarters said.

The U.S. Command reported that two of the three American helicopters shot down Monday during an infantry assault on the edge of the Que Son Valley south of Da Nang were destroyed, bringing the number of American helicopters reported lost in Vietnam to 3,042.

U.S. headquarters said there were 21 enemy rocket and mortar attacks between 8 a.m. Monday and 8 a.m. today. Eleven Americans were wounded but none were killed.

One mortar attack came from 100 yards inside the demilitarized zone and wounded three Americans at an artillery base near Gio Linh, at the eastern end of the zone. U.S. Marine artillery returned the fire, silencing the enemy guns, headquarters said.

visited wavering House Post Office Committee members on the eve of today's vote to secure their support for the plan while union officials applied pressure to vote it down.

The challenge to the corporation concept came from an alternate postal reform bill, favored by the unions, introduced by committee Chairman Thaddeus J. Dulski, D-N.Y.

The corporation would put the nation's mails under a board of directors who would be responsible for all business operations, including setting of postal rates subject to congressional veto.

Dulski's plan would keep the Post Office Department intact and leave postal employees in civil service with wages set by Congress but would give the department more businesslike control over its operations.

The outcome of the vote was in doubt up to the start of today's session with the major issue the administration plan's labor-management provisions.

The unions had insisted on the right to strike, otherwise, they say they would be at the self-supporting, government-owned postal corporation's mercy.

Blount stood by the proposed corporation machinery for compulsory arbitration, in lieu of the right to strike, when major contract disputes had reached an impasse.

There were reports the unions might accept a compulsory arbitration provision but only if such arbitration was automatic for wage and benefit disputes.

Haynsworth Deal

Judge Would Have Waited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge Harrison L. Winter of the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals testified today he would have avoided a stock purchase made by his colleague, Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. under the circumstances at the time.

However, Winter told the Senate Judiciary Committee that Haynsworth's purchase of $16,000 worth of Brunswick Corp. stock on Dec. 20, 1967, had not in the slightest degree impaired his belief in his fellow jurist's integrity and ability.

Winter said the appellate court had decided a case in favor of Brunswick for closure of a chattel mortgage on used bowling alley equipment before Haynsworth bought the stock but the decision was not filed publicly until Feb. 2, 1968.

Winter was the first witness as the committee began a second week of hearings on President Nixon's nomination of Haynsworth, chief judge of the 4th Circuit Court, to fill a vacancy on the Supreme Court.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., asked Winter if he would have regarded it as proper to purchase Brunswick stock before the decision in the case involving the company was publicly announced.

"I think if I'd been in that situation," Winter replied, "I'd have avoided buying the stock until after the opinion had been filed and the matter disposed of."

He added, however, that he did not think he would have been legally disqualified since the case had been decided and it did not involve a matter that would affect the value of the stock.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., raised questions about the purchase.

Standard Equipment by 1974 Aviation Industry Clams Gains In Collision Avoidance System

BALTIMORE (AP) — The aviation industry put on display today three sets of equipment designed to prevent catastrophic in-flight collisions between airplanes.

The Air Transportation Association, which sponsored the exhibit, said airlines hope to invest up to $70 million to make one of the systems standard equipment on planes before 1974.

The equipment consists of a digital computer to be carried in an airplane, transmitting and receiving equipment and an extremely accurate time-keeping device called an atomic clock.

According to manufacturers, the equipment is designed to keep tabs on all aircraft within a specific area, enabling each pilot to know the altitude, distance and rate of approach of all other planes near him.

Testing of the equipment is scheduled to end Dec. 31. The airlines then will decide which of the three systems should be put into general use.

The Air Transport Association sponsored an inspection of the equipment at Martin Airport near Baltimore where the Martin Marietta Corp. is conducting tests for the airlines under a $1.8 million contract.

"An active airline industry search for a suitable CAS (Collision Avoidance System) has been underway for 14 years," a statement prepared by the association said. "Ten of those years were marked by disappointment and a few false hopes."

"Then, three years ago, pessimism gave way to optimism."

The break came when Collins Radio of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, developed a workable technique, the association said. Concurrently, it said, "solid state electronic technology developed to the point where a practical CAS could be built."

Systems being tested were developed by McDonnell Douglas Corp. of St. Louis, Bendix Avionics Division of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and a joint project by the Sierra Research Corp. of Buffalo, N.Y., and Wilcox Aviation Electronics of Kansas City, Mo.

The Federal Aviation Agency sponsored initial research into collision avoidance systems and plans to let contracts for studies of ground operations relating to such systems.

bring the world closer together in a physical sense and in time."

Referring to the SST as a "massive stride forward in transportation," Nixon said it would bring Tokyo as close to Washington in travel time as London is now.

Volpe listed further reasons for the administration's favorable decision on the SST—the need to protect the U.S. balance of payments, the great impact on industry, employment the SST will provide and the necessity to compete with existing Russian, British, and French SST programs.

Tough Senate Battle

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., present during the announcement, predicted a tough Senate battle over the SST appropriation.

"It will be a real fight not unlike the battle over the ABM," said Jackson, one of the project's prime supporters.

Backers of the SST had called for $200 million to keep the project going full blast through next June 30.

Opponents of the project contend much of the $600 million the government already has put out for research and design study has been wasted. They say sonic booms would make it impossible to fly the plane over inhabited areas and that the federal funds are needed to solve other domestic problems.

It is estimated another $600 million in government funds will be required before the first of two prototypes of the Boeing Corp. produced 1,800-mile-per-hour aircraft can be flight tested in 1972.

The airplane, to carry 300 passengers, would be expected to go into commercial use in 1978.

The U.S. government has accepted Boeing's revised, fixed-wing design and the company is ready to begin production this year.

Contact provisions provide the government would recover its investment after the sale of 300 planes. Boeing hopes to sell more than 500 SSTs by 1980, which would mean possibly a $1.1 billion royalty to the government.

U.S. efforts to build a big supersonic jet have been spurred by similar projects in the Soviet Union and by a British-French combine.

A Boeing official, complaining about the delay in the decision, said last month the sonic boom problem and other obstacles had been overstated.

Bob Withington, Boeing's SST program director, said the company had been working on the assumption the plane would be flown over land at subsonic speeds. And he said he thought the noise level for takeoffs and landings could be controlled.

"We have the technical know-how to do it," Withington said, "all we need now is the hardware."

Diuretic Use Limited For Weight Reduction

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: If diuretics ("water pills") are taken daily for several years for weight reduction purposes, what harm can this cause to the kidneys or other organs? — Mrs. A.T.

ple have a tendency to retain water in the tissues.
But relying on such pills for any continued time is quite another matter. The drugs remove fluid but not fat, and you are only kidding yourself if you believe otherwise.
The wise thing to do is to control fluid by more natural means. Principally, this means that if you use a lot of salt, or like salty foods, you should cut down sharply on the amount of salt you eat, because salt (the sodium in it) can cause fluid accumulation.
Excessive use of diuretics can also cause a loss of essential minerals, particularly potassium and sodium, and in some instances when continued use of diuretics is necessary, steps have to be taken to replace these lost minerals.
The diuretics will not harm the kidneys, if no kidney disease is present, but if there is kidney disease, you need to be under a doctor's care.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is your opinion of a diet which puts emphasis on high-fat, low-carbohydrate intake, with the idea that calories don't count? Is it safe? Is it true that low-calorie diets are not effective, but harmful? — K.M.

It's a variant of the idea that you can "eat all you want" of some things if you avoid others. Some of these diets which sound so attractive on paper result in malnutrition in certain respects. In other cases, people just get so sick of the monotony that they give up. Unit for unit, fats contain twice as many calories as carbohydrates. Low calorie diets, if balanced, are not harmful. Calories do count, and it is a pity that people are misled by tricky wording and trick diets.

If you want more of the details of how these trick diets fail, you'll find them in my booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," which you can obtain by sending a long self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents to Dr. Thosteson, c/o of The Post-Crescent.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our daughter, 11, is flatfooted. We have been taking her to the doctor for two years. He now recommends surgery. Her feet have never given her any trouble but the doctor says they probably will later in life. He said she will have to stay in a cast for three months. Does that mean she will have to learn to walk again? Would your recommend surgery? — Mrs. J.

As a general thing, surgery is employed for flat feet only when feet are painful. Many a very flat foot is still perfectly serviceable and never causes any trouble. The prediction that she probably will have trouble later is not valid in my opinion.

I presume that in your daughter's case the doctor detects some further signs. Is the doctor an orthopedist? If not, then if it were my daughter, I would want an orthopedist's opinion before proceeding. Or if the doctor is one, the opinion of another specialist in the same field would be reasonable.

If you go ahead with the surgery, your daughter probably will have to become accustomed to a new sense of balance, but that is a far cry from "having to learn to walk again."

No Sweet Eulogy for Safety Building

There can be no eloquent eulogy of the city-county safety building—now deceased

For the environment in which the joint safety building idea struggled and died does not inspire eloquence.

For example, reflect on the statement of Alderman John Steidl as the city was laying the proposal to rest: "In straight language, I think we should tell the county to go to hell." That is straight language, all right, and it will be remembered by county board members for years. But not for its eloquence.

There were statements of the same ilk made by other city officials and county officials too as the many meetings on the joint venture proceeded. The old grudges, the emotional jealousies, the impatient frustrations all were given voice by our public officials.

But perhaps the silence of our chief city and county officials was least eloquent of all. Mayor George Buckley said hardly a word about the proposal from beginning to end. In all he attended one meeting of the

The U.S.-Hungarian Accordage

The Russians temporarily at least ended the liberal reforms in Czechoslovakia with the presence of Soviet troops and the current purges of the more liberal Czechoslovak leaders. But they have been unable to stem the increasing contact between the Eastern European satellite nations and the West. Hungary is the latest country to make overtures toward the non-Communist world.

United States and Hungarian officials have worked out an accord that is bound to increase relations between the two nations and overcome some of the grievances that have held over since the end of World War II.

There are four parts to the accords. First, Hungarians who worked in this country and built-up pensions and then returned to Hungary will receive the payments. The United States has done this

The Root Causes of Drug Usage

Every community which has investigated the use of drugs by young people has come up with appalling statistics. A great many youngsters in junior and senior high schools have experimented at least with marijuana and a lot more at the college level especially have gone on to LSD or speed.

There are new efforts being made to try to curb the traffic in drugs such as boosting up the prices, more law enforcement officers dealing with narcotic problems, studies being made to determine whether more severe or less severe sentences will help. But the basic question remains. Why are so many youngsters turning to pot and the more dangerous drugs?

Reporters for the St. Louis Post Dispatch worked with a sixteen year old dealer in drugs, interviewed users, pushers, law enforcement officers, medical authorities, clergymen, psychiatrists and some parents in an effort to find out. While the conclusions are speculative, it appears that disillusionment with the world their parents have created and the values they have been taught is a basic cause.

Both the poverty pockets in the cities and the affluence of suburban life seem to be instrumental. Particularly members of minority groups which have felt discrimination have turned to drugs as an escape from the misery of their lives and that they see around them. It is in this group that crimes are more likely to be committed so that the drug users can pay for the habit.

But the rising use of drugs among youngsters from middle class and wealthy homes cannot be explained so easily. Instead it appears that these children have renounced the materialistic philosophy that has permeated so many families since the end of World War II. Unchallenged by the need to contribute in almost any way to the

Looking Backward
Religious Ostracism, Says Crescent

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 25, 1869.

Not a single member of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the State of Wisconsin holds a state office, or a seat in either House of Congress, or an important appointment under the general government, although the Methodist Church, in point of members, ranks second in the State, and 39 out of every 40 are Republicans in politics!

In this Congressional District, unless it is a post office in some country location, not a single Methodist holds a government appointment of any kind!

And yet if is to the Methodists that the Madison "Regency" looks for support for the election of its present ticket made up of mostly incompetent or immoral public men, not one of whom is a religious man of any creed — unless it is Craig and he hasn't got enough religion to bequeath any to posterity!

joint committee trying to work out a deal, but he left after five minutes, saying, "I'm going fishing."

County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler also was unusually silent, though his voice no doubt was heard by other county supervisors. They came to know early in the game that Esler, an Appleton supervisor, opposed the building. His reasons still have not been made clear.

It now seems silly to assess blame, but it was mainly the county board who killed the deal. The city council voted three times in favor of a joint building, though the city's sincere show of support never was overwhelming. The county offered the city only unrealistic terms, and voted down the joint building when it had the chance.

And Outagamie County and Appleton residents can consider themselves the sad witnesses at the funeral. For the cooperative venture showed promise for taxpayers countywide, and it died prematurely at the hands of their representatives.

for nationals of non-Communist countries for years. Secondly, we have retired a military debt for the Hungarian purchase of trucks way back in 1946. Both nations will increase the sizes of the staffs in the embassies in Washington and Budapest. And of even more importance, a Hungarian trade office will be established in New York to promote an increase in the current $15 million a year trade between our two countries.

Little by little the satellites are trying to wean themselves of reliance upon the economics of the Soviet Union which then can also demand political obedience. In the long run this may be the best way of breaking up the Russian Communist empire rather than through violent revolt which has no chance of success without active interference by the Western powers — and that is unthinkable.

family, the teen ager rejects the values of his parents. Drug use is merely one form of such rejection.

One clergymen told the reporters, "I see it as a manifestation of a deeper illness — the real estrangement between the generations. Those of us who became adults in the late 1940's and early '50s are part of a materialistic society that now dominates the suburban way of life. The kids say they don't buy this. They want to get out of the trap, but with drugs, they're actually falling into another trap. We simply haven't given them any options and they're crying out for a viable, real human relationship. . . . One of my frustrations in a suburban church is that we're estranged from the group we want to help. They've written the church off as they have the country club because they see it as a symbol of the society they don't buy."

Dr. Donald Goodwin, assistant professor of psychiatry at Washington University, is not convinced that marijuana is harmless because he says no long-range tests have ever been made to find out. But "it is important that the police and others don't exaggerate the dangers, don't invent dangers." Youngsters — and quite a few of their elders — have come to believe that marijuana is not as dangerous as alcohol or even tobacco. They think that they have been lied to about marijuana so they don't believe the dangers that are very real in the use of LSD and speed.

A recent Wisconsin study found a relationship between the use of marijuana and the addictive drugs in that most of the "hooked" started out with marijuana. But no one has yet discovered how many never go further than smoking pot.

Whatever the reasons, the use of drugs by the young is serious. Unless the causes are eradicated, it's not likely that the number of young users is going to decrease.

On The Right
Chappaquiddick Won't Go Away; Kennedy Must Now Prove Himself

BY WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

The affair of Senator Teddy Kennedy appears to be stuck in legal mud. The inquest at Edgartown was called off to protect the senator's constitutional rights. Such rights as to cross-examine witnesses, that kind of thing.

On first hearing the news, observers wondered just whom the senator might want to cross-examine. That is to say, all the witnesses were friendly witnesses, consisting for the most part of the ten members of the cook-out team.

But close students of the affair raised telling points. What, for instance, if an expert appeared to testify that the chances were very good that the girl was alive trapped inside the car, and might well have been rescued if the senator had instantly called for help. What if the gentleman returning from duty at the Edgartown Yacht Club had testified persuasively that there were three people not two in the car he saw going down the road towards the bridge. Such testimony as this, unexamined by the senator's lawyers, would have thickened the miasma that broods over the senator and his destiny.

There is the possibility that the judge will change his mind and tell the lawyers that they may ask their questions. And there is another possibility, ready pleaded guilty — and received a suspended sentence — of failing to report an accident.

Buckley

CURIOSITY WILL OUT

There are advantages to being a public figure, as anyone can see who recorded the obsequiousness with which the senator was treated on that Saturday. But there are disadvantages, as anyone can see who asks himself how much call would there be for an inquest or a grand jury proceeding if it had been other than Senator Kennedy involved. Although a lawyer will object to the uses of judicial machinery for the sake of satisfying the public curiosity, the same lawyer cannot deny that public curiosity is legitimate, and that the expedient of going to the courts to find a means of satisfying it is the result of the senator's failure to satisfy it on his own motion.

It would appear, from the complicated silences of the senator and his associates law's delays, and the long and that, like Hanoi, they are buying time. But I think that Chappaquiddick will not go away. And I venture the following analysis

What Chappaquiddick did was to shatter the dynastic claims of Edward Kennedy. His preeminence as Democratic choice for the presidency was primarily a biological phenomenon. He would not have been elected to the Senate at the time that he was save that his brother was president of the United States. His name would never have been mentioned for the presidency, save that his second brother was killed.

At the same time, although he profited from his family name, nevertheless he showed talents. Never mind, as I say, that those talents might have gone undiscovered but for the circumstances. The talents appear to be real. He was accepted into the inner councils of the Senate, notwithstanding an adamant reluctance of a body of men to whom the spectacle of his Caesarian entry into the Senate was unappetizing. His move to become the Senate whip showed an enormous

Wisconsin Report
State Agriculture
Unit Works Hard to Assure Good Food

BY DONALD E. WILKINSON

MADISON — Three times each day, at mealtime, each of us in Wisconsin benefits from an abundance of wholesome food without ever giving thought to how that wholesomeness is achieved.

We often remark, "Mother, that was a good supper," without recognizing that she had help — help from producers, processors, retailers and those who inspect our food for quality, proper quantity and purity.

Wisconsin's vast and growing food industry is doing a commendable job in providing state citizens with the finest of wholesome food. In addition, the food industry of our state is recognized as a leader throughout the entire United States and in many foreign countries.

Don E. Wilkinson, a career civil servant in the state government recently was named secretary of the state Department of Agriculture. His commentary replaces the usual dispatch of vacationing John Wyngaard.

TAKEN FOR GRANTED

Consumers in Wisconsin take food quality for granted — and properly so. But in so doing they may not recognize that several agencies of government have a part in assuring that all foods are wholesome, pure and safe to eat.

We in the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture are proud of our part, assigned to us by state law, in assuring that wholesomeness. Let's examine the responsibility of our agency in food inspection by tracing two products from the producer to you — the consumer

As an example, that sweet roll you enjoyed for breakfast this morning went through several state inspections before it arrived at your table.

Storage facilities where the grain for flour is held are inspected for proper sanitation and to assure freedom from insect infestation. The flour mill is also inspected and its products periodically sampled and analyzed. The bakery where the roll is manufactured is inspected for cleanliness and proper equipment.

INGREDIENTS INSPECTED

Other ingredients which go into your sweet roll, such as yeast, dairy products, flavoring and toppings, are inspected at their source before arrival at the bakery. They are again periodically sampled. In addition, bakery scales are checked for accuracy. If that roll goes from the bakery to a retail store, more inspection follows including checks for proper labeling of ingredients and weight.

Now let's look at that package of "hot dogs" you purchased in the supermarket last night. These, too, come under the watchful eyes of several inspectors before being placed in your shopping bag.

The cattle and hogs from which they are made are given a thorough inspection before slaughter. During such examinations the inspector looks for any evidence of disease, injury or unwholesomeness. During all phases of the slaughter, the inspector conducts a thorough inspection on all parts of the animal.

MORE INSPECTIONS

As the meat moves to the processing department to be mixed in the proper proportions of beef and pork there is further inspection. The powdered non-fat milk, spices and flavorings also receive their share of inspection before arrival at the plant.

When the finished cooked or smoked skinless "hot dogs" are removed from their temporary casings, and packed into consumer-size packages there is more inspection. Inspectors check labels for proper markings of ingredients and weight. Finally, a check is made of the retail stores where the "hot dogs" are sold.

Other state, county and city agencies are involved in local inspection of food. Federal agencies become involved when food is shipped interstate.

The Wisconsin consumer can continue to enjoy with confidence the vast array of products made wholesome by the food industry's own rigid manufacturing and processing standards and by the continuous scrutiny of governmental agencies such as the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, which by law has a primary objective — protection of consumers.

Strictly Personal
Gas Station Man is Master of 'Hygiene'

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

With my accustomed celerity, I changed the flat tire in something under an hour, and rolled into the nearest gas station to see if the old spare was still usable.

The gas station man — whom I had never seen before — put a patch on the tube. When I said "How much?" he waved me off. "It's on the house," he said.

My curiosity struggled with my gratitude, and the former won. "It's very kind of you," I burred, "but why are you doing this for a stranger?"

"Well," he said, "yesterday morning I woke up as mean as a beaver with a toothache. If my own mother had come in here dying of thirst, I don't think I'd have given her a glass of water. I bit everybody who came in sight."

"This morning I woke up feeling fine. So today I'm making up for yesterday. Favors for the customers — kind words for help. That's how I pay off for the bad days."

As I drove off, I reflected on the rarity of this attitude. Few of us balance our emotional accounts as promptly and scrupulously as this gas-station man

We talk about "guilt" and "expiation" in a grand sense.

Harris

We wait until we have done something really bad in order to make up for it. We permit our debts to grow to staggering proportions and then we are overwhelmed by them.

This man sensibly settles his accounts day by day. Tuesday's benevolence pays (at least in part for Monday's crankiness: the slate is wiped clean, the books are balanced, and there is no lingering residue of remorse.

And I am sure he does this not because of any profound psychological knowledge, or because of any pietistic principles, but simply because his intuitive wisdom tells him that this is the way to feel good over the long pull.

"Mental hygiene" is a pompous phrase, but essentially it is as simple as physical hygiene: a matter of day-to-day care in little things. That tiny patch the gas-station man put on for free saved me only a dollar — it saved him a week's worry about yesterday's meanness.

Draft Calls Cancelled

President Nixon's cancellation of the draft for the months of November and December and the spreading out over the rest of the year of the October quota must be the most dramatic decision he has made during his almost nine months in office. The move has several aims.

Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird explained that the withdrawals of some American troops from Vietnam which he said will give us some 60,000 fewer troops there than when Mr. Nixon took office made the suspension possible. But this is not the whole story.

The announcement is aimed in part at the Vietnamese, both North and South. To the North it could be another sign that the United States is sincere in its effort to end the war or at least to de-Americanize it. The same message should get through to the leaders in Saigon.

But the major aim of the suspension is on the home front, especially the young demonstrators on our campuses. Combined with the latest troop withdrawal, the draft suspension possibly may curtail some of the campus unrest and the demands that we end the war whatever is the attitude of the enemy.

But a lot of American youth is so thoroughly disillusioned with the Establishment, even with a different man and a different party in the White House that half way measures may not work.

Of even more importance than the draft suspension is President Nixon's determination to change the way it works. The move toward making a young man liable to induction for only one year — his nineteenth — rather than all the way to age twenty-six, is a sound one. And if Congress does not make the necessary changes, the President says he will do it by executive order.

The uncertainty of the current Selective Service system, as much as the fact that it exists at all, is a major cause of resentment among American young men.

Middle Road to Mars

President Nixon has again taken the middle road in his decision to continue the space program with an eventual manned landing on Mars. This time the compromise position is probably right.

The excitement of space flights is virtually impossible to curtail. It is the major adventure of our times. It has its own lure in merely seeking the unknown in a spectacular way. It also may well have extensive benefits in the knowledge gained to better life on earth. There has, for instance, been something of a spiritual uplift from the moon landing in that more people seem to realize that all mankind has something in common merely living on the planet earth.

But in the United States there is a desperate need for funds for other important projects. The crises in our cities, the growing realization that we must do more to help not only our own poor but impoverished nations, the challenges in more efficient food production as the world's population zooms, all these need money. Because such a large share of the tax dollar has gone to defense spending and the war in Vietnam, we have not kept up with some urgent requirements and some of the unrest and violence in our cities and on our campuses reflect this.

President Nixon had the advice of a special study group which rejected the extreme options for future space programs. There will be no crash program to land men on Mars as soon as possible but the program will not be eliminated either. During the nineteen seventies, there will probably be more unmanned probes of Mars and an unmanned "grand tour" to scout the outer planets, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto. A reusable shuttle vehicle in which astronauts could live for many months has been suggested as well. There is no exact target date for a manned landing on Mars but the current timetable would not set it before the nineteen eighties and possibly somewhat later in the century.

As Colonel Michael Collins told the United States Congress, from Apollo 11, they could see both the earth and the moon. "We looked both ways, we saw both, and I think that is what our nation must do."

Political Bargaining With Bridges

George Rice, Milwaukee County corporation counsel who often doubles as the county's lobbyist in Madison, has suggested that the proposed state bonding program for bridges can become a "trade bait bill" to enable Milwaukee to gain the objectives of the Tarr task force recommendations and the urban affairs bills which will be before the legislature this fall. If outstate legislators will vote for the Milwaukee bills, Milwaukee legislators will vote for bridges, he said.

For the Fox Cities, such a situation could be one of having your cake and eating it, too. Appleton has a vital concern in seeing the Tarr proposals adopted, one of which could mean as much as $1 million more yearly in taxes shared by the state. And the city's interest in the bridge bill goes without saying.

But the two programs should advance on their own merits. A strong case for the need for both programs can be made, and they both are deserving of bipartisan support. Suggestions at the public hearing on the bridge bill that projects ought to be spread around the state, with a few more for the Milwaukee area, are a throwback to pork barrel politics.

Bridges have to be built where they are needed because of traffic demands and the state of existing structures. And they should be built first where they are needed most under these standards. In a constitutional referendum last April, the people of the state directed that there should be direct borrowing for capital projects which are needed. Because of the token state sums which have been available in the past under existing laws, bridges must be near the top of any such priority list.

Crescent Misses the Point

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 27, 1869.

A stranger might well have concluded last Sunday, were he in town, that a shooting match was in progress in Appleton.

The wild pigeons flew thick and fast, and shot flew faster. On inquiry, we learn that, except for the prohibition of gun firing within the city limits, there was no ordinance affixing a special penalty for Sunday shooting; nothing but the slow process under the State law.

We hope the common council will remedy the evil (of shooting on Sunday not the slaughter of the pigeons) at once. Indeed, we are told most of our ordinances need revising.

While the aldermen are at it, a friend suggests that it would be quite as well to provide for the dispensing of the justice's apology to criminals when the penalty is inflicted!

Two Appleton youths, Dick Heller and Austin Ely, made a bicycle trip to Niagara Falls, N. Y., and back. Except for a ferry trip across the lake from Manitowoc to Ludington, Mich., en route to Niagara Falls, the two young people traveled by bike. They left Appleton Aug. 2 and returned Sept. 6.

Clifford Gerndt, Lebanon, was elected president of the New London chapter of Future Farmers of America. Glenn Winkler, Medina, was named vice president; Harold Tesch, Lebanon, secretary; Eugene Krause, Liberty, treasurer; David Krause, Liberty, reporter, and William Crain, Lebanon, sentinel.

Mrs. Leslie Holzer was installed as president of the

It's Time Friends of SIECUS Also Organize to Fight Back

Editor, The Post-Crescent:
Mr. John Zarling writing in the Sunday, September 21, People's Forum, says he "notes with alarm" the fact that no one even tries to defend SIECUS. Where has he been? At the John Birch meetings, where he can't possibly find out what's really going on in this country?

I think it must shed some kind of light on the mentalities who are making war on SIECUS and sex education in general that they are out to get the most livid details of their preoccupation published in the People's Forum, where (if we are to believe their thesis) it can stimulate the curiosity of a child who can read I have never yet seen a letter from anyone who is in favor of sex education in schools that carries any of these details on bedroom etiquette I had the distinct impression that Mr. Zarling would have been pleased to publish pictures with his letter.

Mr. Zarling wants Congress to investigate SIECUS and its activities. Great! I am for it. It can't do anything but good to get an objective picture of the program in the papers to counter-act the slanderous accusations of the Moterde, its perverted parent, the John Birch Society, and such characters as Dr. Drake of the Christian Crusade Publications.

I agree with another statement of Mr. Zarling's: "Parents who are still concerned about the welfare of their children had better sit up, take notice and act." The groups that insist on keeping the subject of sex on gutter level are well organized and they know how to appeal to the emotions of the public by associating sex education in the schools with a totally non-existent threat to the welfare of our children. It is time that the other side got organized to fight back.

Someone Has to Clean Up After Kennedy Speech; Buckley Offers

BY WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY

It takes a long time to clean up after one of Senator Kennedy's speeches, but somebody must do the janitorial chores, so here we go. It is my contention that shrewd observers of the American scene are aware that if you ever get into serious trouble, you ties rose. Does Senator Kennedy, the pragmatist, now recommend the resumption of the bombing? No, of course not, although he is as full of advice as he was a year ago — which advice, when we took it, available us not at all.

The war in Vietnam, said the senator to his audience, "has been rejected by a great majority of the American people."

When? We had a great big national election less than one year ago today, and the people elected as president a man who pledged himself to continue to underwrite a commitment begun by Senator Kennedy's brother when he sent 15,000 American troops to Vietnam in 1963. At the Democratic Convention in August a full day was devoted to the question of whether we should stop the bombing unilaterally, and that debate was won by the hawks. Whose candidate, Humphrey, was beaten by a senior hawk. So what is Senator Kennedy talking about? It is true that the United States is tired of the war, and even more true

POVERTY GOES ON

And yes, it is of course necessary to blame on the Vietnam war all the other evils that flesh is heir to. On account of the Vietnam war, says the senator, "poverty at home will go on." Senator Kennedy belongs to the party whose economic doctrine is that there is nothing like a little war or pyramid building to keep the economy brisk. "Prices will rise and the economy will continue to weaken," the senator moans. If anyone can find me one vote by Senator Kennedy in favor of one measure designed to reduce government spending, I will retire to the DMZ.

But such speeches are not for analyzing. They are to give out vibrations and Zing! go the strings of their hearts, you watch.

This Divorcee Prefers Working to Welfare

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

Since the A.F.D.C. mother posed several questions in rebuttal to my letter and also made some crass statements in regard to my marriage, I feel entitled to reply.

In the first place, the absurd statement that someone would get married with the intentions of getting a divorce, indicates the writer is a very vindictive woman. As to her question, "Why the divorce?" just because my ex-husband and I have always agreed that it isn't anybody else's responsibility to support our children, doesn't mean that marital happiness cannot be hurt by a multitude of other differences. My previous letter had a very misleading headline.

"Where would I be if my husband said to heck with his responsibilities?" The first place I would be is in my lawyer's office and if all attempts there failed, I would be doing waitress work five or six nights a week instead of two or three. When my young-est child was going to school all day, I could get a day job. Our standard of living would change, but nobody would be hungry or without a roof.

Maybe I was just fortunate to have been brought up by wonderful parents who along with love and understanding taught me that the "world does not owe me a living." I ago he and others were telling jobs during high school and in the summers and it wasn't because they needed the money or couldn't support me. Girls at thirteen can babysit or be mother's helpers. Boys can mow lawns, shovel sidewalks, or deliver newspapers. At age sixteen, many opportunities present themselves. This type of training teaches responsibility, initiative, and the ambition to get ahead. If I can raise my three to accept this attitude along with a solid religious training, I will not feel as if I have failed as a mother.

Nobody has more compassion or love for children than I do, A.F.D.C. mother, and my children will not have to suffer the humiliation of welfare, but just because I prefer to spend my time working and supporting my own instead of picketing and complaining does not give anyone the right to call me "coldhearted."

The problem of welfare is one that hard-working taxpayers will have to face in ever-increasing amounts each year unless stricter laws are enforced. Nobody disputes the fact fathers should support their children or be prosecuted if they do not. In the meantime, there is no reason any woman cannot supplement her welfare money in some way. Illness would be the only exception. Bouquets should go to those women who have a lifetime of work ahead of them because their husbands were forced to retire at early ages due to incurable sicknesses. Social Security is not enough, so they go to work at whatever they can find, even if it means taking in ironing. This same theory could apply to divorced women.

Could there be some correlation between this welfare prob-

Ody Fish Tells How Successful Political Campaigns Are Run

BY ODY J. FISH

MADISON — If a political party is to prosper it must face facts and not theories. Changing voting trends is of paramount importance. You must gear campaigns to the shifting population, to altering media penetration, to varying factors of visibility.

The last successful Progressive party candidate for governor was in 1942 (Loomis), Ozaukee County. Now a Republican stronghold it actually has voted Republican for governor fewer times than any county in the state (excepting newly-created Menominee County).

TREND IS REVERSED

The opposition party went from a low of carrying just two counties in 1952 to a high of 32 counties in 1958. Since 1964 the trend is in the opposite direction and they carried just 19 counties in 1968 compared to 53 going Republican.

Following the 1964 election the Republican party has made great gains so that it now holds all state constitutional offices, controls both houses of the legislature and over 75 per cent of county courthouse positions. Dynamic candidates and programs oriented to urban and suburban areas have created gains in every urban county.

The rural areas, however, have not been overlooked. Nationally the drop in Republican rural percentages has been from 54.8 in 1960 to 46.9 in 1968 or a decline of 7.9 per cent. In Wisconsin the drop has been from 57.7 to 54.4 or 3.3 per cent.

MORE GO TO POLLS

There is a theory prevalent that a continuing lower percentage of eligible voters both-er to go to the polls. Actually the trend has been consistently upwards ever since the formation of our country. Here in Wisconsin we are better than average. Wisconsin stands 16th in total eligible voters; 21st in new voters being enfranchised; and 13th in actual votes cast. Put another way 68.1 per cent of eligible Wisconsin voters cast their ballot in 1968 compared to a national average of 60.8 per cent.

Lowering the voting age to 18 would automatically make 198,000 newly enfranchised citizens in Wisconsin — a significant total.

Wisconsin has a national reputation for creative ideas, clean government, citizen participation and intelligent progress.

Successful political parties generate able and qualified candidates. A political party in office, however, creates the opportunity for all criticisms of government in general to be focused against it. It is easier to be out of office than in office but the genuine aim of a responsible party is to advance the common good of its citizens. With out victories there can be no advances and without persistent evaluation there can be no victories in a bipartisan state.

Did Mozart Really Die Before His Time?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Reading an essay on Mozart the other evening, I ran across the familiar plaint that "he died before his time."

I wonder if this is true in Mozart's case, or in the case of other great creative geniuses whose lives have been cut short.

I wonder if a personality which generates so much force whether Keats could have written any greater poetry, or Mozart any greater music, than they had already given the world.

In a sense, the most important part of their lives was finished: Keats' "Ode to a Nightingale" and Mozart's G Minor Quintet touched the ultimate of their powers.

Einstein tells us that "time" is a relative matter in the universe; perhaps it is also a relative matter within the personality. I suspect that more men have outlived their time than have been cut down before it.

A genius, of course, can die by accident, like Shelley in a sailboat, or Marlowe in a tavern brawl — but, even then, if one examines these men, their dramatic tempestuous characters of these men, their dramatic deaths were almost by invitation. Byron caught a fever and died at 36 while fighting in the Greek war of independence; but his contemporary, Wordsworth, lived until 80 — because he would not go to fight anywhere.

It is possible — even probable — that Mozart and Schubert would have lived longer if they had not had to struggle so bitterly for subsistence; and society cannot escape a sense of guilt for its harsh treatment of its finest talents.

In mitigation of our callousness, however, it must be suggested that even under the most favorable circumstances, such men tend to burn themselves out at an early age. It may not be true that an artist thrives under hardship (many have been crushed by it), but it is at least true that a youthful genius may be ready for death long before we dull plodders have begun to live.

Fish

the last Progressive campaign for governor was in 1944. In 1946 Wisconsin reverted to a two-party state. From 1948 no Democrat candidate for governor ever has received less than 45 per cent of the vote except for the 1952 Eisenhower landslide election.

There was a gradual but steady erosion in Republican strength from 1946 through 1962 with a couple minor recoveries but with a steadily downward trend.

PERCENTAGE FELL OFF

In other statewide offices this drop was even more pronounced, falling off from 68 per cent in 1946 to 50 per cent in 1964.

The Republican lieutenant governor vote typically has run ahead of the governor vote by a little better than two per cent although the total vote in both parties has been somewhat lower.

At the turn of the century Milwaukee County represented less than 15 per cent of the state's total vote as compared to 25 per cent now. In 1970 over half of Wisconsin's total votes will be cast in just seven counties.

Voting patterns inside a county tend to fluctuate widely over the years. An example is does not have a pattern and a rhythm of its own. Mozart's whole life reminds us of a speeded-up camera — he accomplished in a year what took decades for less talented men.

His death at 35, Schubert's at 29, Keats' at 26, and scores of others — there seems something inevitable in these truncated lives, as if these men worked feverishly to produce supreme work early, because somehow they knew that time was working against them.

It is extremely doubtful lem and the idea of having a good course on Sex Education and Family Living in the schools? It is a possibility that this just might be one step toward eliminating the high cost of welfare.

Fraud and the Federal Dollar

BY JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — At night, in the small nursing home on the California coast, old John Sudar lay near death.

The nursing home operator and a lawyer leaned over him. One of them lifted his hand and made an "X" on a piece of paper—as the lawyer later testified in court. John Sudar was too weak to write. So, holding his hand, they added his signature on the paper, the lawyer said.

The feeble, 75-year-old man died less than two days later, just about the time the banks were opening on Monday morning.

Mrs. Gerdice G. Thorson, the nursing home operator, took the signed paper, according to court testimony and withdrew John Sudar's $13,000 from his savings account.

The last hours of John Sudar, dismissed from a hospital by a medicare committee as a futile case and sent to a nursing home, where he died only nine days later, are a tragedy frightening to thousands of America's aged.

So is the cold, unseen death of Robert S. Warfield.

As Sudar lay dying in El Granada, Calif., Warfield already lay dead, unnoticed, in a dark recess of an eight-story nursing home half a continent away in Cleveland, Ohio.

Wandered Away

On a chill winter day Warfield, a former mental patient, had wandered away from his room and disappeared into a nearby crawlway. No one found him, and he died.

For more than a year and a month, Warfield's body remained in the crawl space, undiscovered and decomposing.

Coroner's records show that not until a worker at the Midtown Nursing Home happened to enter the recess was the body found this spring.

For the six months after his disappearance, according to welfare records, the nursing home had continued to collect medicaid payments for Warfield's care.

The home repaid the full $1,900 when Cleveland welfare officials finally uncovered the payment error.

But even after that mistake, welfare authorities went on sending Warfield's $8 spending allowance to the nursing home for him each month until his body finally was found.

In California, Mrs. Thorson is now awaiting trial on theft charges. The coroner's office in Cleveland found no wrong-doing by the Midtown Nursing Home.

Chaos, confusion and charges of fraud are laced throughout medicaid and medicare, the two huge federal programs that pay for most of the nursing home care in the nation today.

No one really knows how much of the $1.6 billion in tax money each year may be going astray. But estimates start in the tens of millions of dollars.

Senate investigators have lashed out at "mass visits" by some doctors, optometrists, foot specialists, X-ray operator and other giving unsolicited care to the captive audiences of nursing home patients.

Kickbacks and markups dot investigation files. A Los Angeles nursing home owner said, "I even had a minister come in and say he would serve as a 'spiritual consultant' under the program for $100 a month."

A nationwide check by the Associated Press found cases that included:

—In the quiet county seat of Jefferson, Tex., medicare records shower a physician, Dr. R. D. Douglas, who operates the Douglas Memorial Nursing Home, billed medicare last year for 4,560 visits to 54 patients—an average of more than 80 visits to each. He also billed for a total of 8,275 injections to just 149 patients. Douglas, who was paid more than $62,000, is now under medicare investigation.

—The plush Casa Contenta West home in Panorama City, Calif., is alleged in a state document to have subtracted and kept discounts on raass visits by a foot specialist to its medicaid patient each month. The state attorney general's office said it is investigating other dealings by the home with an X-ray operator, a pharmacy, a linen firm and beauticians.

Extra Charge

—In Florida, the North Miami Beach Convalescent home is alleged in a government report to have tacked on an extra 30 per cent charge to its medicare bills on drugs and therapy services. The case has been referred to the Justice Department.

—The Justice Department also has been sent the case of Hollis Park Garden in Hollis Park, N.Y., which billed the government for $372,000 for physical therapy last year. A senator charged that some patients were listed as undergoing therapy on the day they died. When the government tried to stop payments to collect a $150,000 refund, a federal official said the nursing home discharged all its medicare patients.

—California records showed one podiatrist in Los Angeles turned in billings for foot care for nursing home patients who had been dead as long as a year.

—The district attorney's office in Los Angeles has been quietly investigating a small group of Blue Cross employees who bypassed regular procedures to speed payments from California's medicaid program to certain nursing homes for a percentage fee. A state official said privately the questionable payments may have topped $2 million.

Found Anywhere

In some nursing homes, the scramble for the extra buck can be found almost anywhere, from the breakfast table to the bedpan.

Underpaid aides sometimes hustle patients for tips for small favors, like bringing in a morning newspaper. Some nursing homes add extra charges for simple services like haircuts.

In Los Angeles, where welfare authorities give patients $15 a month for personal spending needs, one nursing home owner said, "A lot of these people never see that money."

In New York City, a noted neurologist who said enforced tipping is commonplace in both hospitals and nursing homes remembered, "When I was an intern, it was 25 cents for a bedpan cold—50 cents, warm."

In nursing homes profits climb if costs can be cut. In some, food is the first casualty. Nationwide surveys have shown average food costs per nursing home patient to be less than $1 a day.

Worst Coffee

A former executive for a suburban Detroit nursing home tells how milk is diluted with water, hamburger is half bread, and cheapest, worst coffee is served.

"If the patients don't like the coffee, they don't drink it, and so you can save even more on coffee," he said.

In an aging Minneapolis nursing home one day last month, the required menu listed sausages for supper, but the cook was preparing a watery stew instead.

Asked what it was, she said: "I don't know what you would call it—it's homemade."

Message of 'Project Concern'

'You Need Them as Badly as They Need You'

BY MAIJA PENIKIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A chance to do something positive for mankind and an opportunity to help build instead of tearing down was offered Friday to Appleton youths and adults by a doctor who, by his own words, "sells involvement in mankind."

Dr. James Turpin, whose "Project Concern," program has medically helped thousands of less fortunate in Hong Kong, Mexico, Vietnam and Appalachia spoke at Appleton East and West high schools during the day and to an adult audience in the night.

"I wish I could tell you that God is in His heaven and all is right with the world, but it isn't so," he said to the adults at the Appleton Jaycette-sponsored dinner.

"In fact, I think I could society as long as there are convince you we live in one hell of a world," stated the doctor who works in the backward areas of the world where death malnutrition is a common daily occurrence.

The nine-year old Project Concern is an independent, non-profit medical relief program, involving 147 doctors, dentists, nurses and technicians from throughout the world.

According to Dr. Turpin, "It is a much better way to fight the war in Vietnam and other parts of the world—the war on poverty and illiteracy and misery."

"We seem to be under the wrong impression that just because people have born into and live in poverty, they are used to it," the doctor said, adding, "The world has grown too small for anything less than brotherhood."

And true brotherhood, he added, can only happen when no one on earth goes hungry.

"We can never build a great people on earth who suffer. Taking an appropriate interest in other people is the missing ingredient in any society," he said. "Perhaps that is why such great empires as Rome and the Ottoman empire fell."

In short, Dr. Turpin stated, "you need these people as badly as they need you if you are ever to be called worthy of being a part of a great society. It is a simple truth."

He also challenged his audience to get involved in mankind tal care for an entire family:—the theme of his project.

"If we don't begin to understand that we must get each mile the teens in your concerned about such facts that community walk for Project there are 10,000 children die Concern, and of course, your every 24 hours because of donations are always needed."

malnutrition, one day we will wake up and find another Vietnam—in Cuba, Dominican Republics and Nigeria.

"You can get involved in many ways, without giving up one meal," he said. "You can adopt a family for $50 a year which will provide medical-dental care for an entire family: you can help sponsor a 'Teen Walk' by pledging money for each mile the teens in your community walk for Project Concern, and of course, your donations are always needed."

Girl Fined $50 For Receiving Stolen Property

A 20-year-old route 3, Kaukauna, girl was fined $50 and costs or 12 days in jail Monday after she changed her plea to guilty on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Linda Paschen was to have had a jury trial on the charge Monday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Appleton police said she was given a $16 dress stolen from Treasure Island, on Nov. 6. The dress was given to her by a relative, a young Appleton woman, who stole it, police said.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Nick F. Schaefer said he was taking Miss Paschen's clear prior record into consideration.

Kaukauna Gets $250,730 Aid for Sewerage Plant

MADISON — The city of Kaukauna has received $250,730 as the federal one-third share of the cost of improving the city's waste treatment plant, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

The grant previously had been approved by the federal government and the treatment plant has been in operation about a year. The announcement means the funds for the grant have been released by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development through the state agency.

Widow Found Dead in Home

Mrs. Fred Van Handel, 78, route 1, Kaukauna, was found dead in her home about 10 p.m. Monday.

The widow, who lived alone, died of a heart attack, according to Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps. She had a heart condition for about 40 years.

Kemps said she died between 10 a.m. and noon Monday. A son, Richard Van Handel, found her body. He checked her home, Kemps said, after he could get no answer on the telephone.

The body was released to the Verkuilen Funeral Home, Little Chute.

Spanish Club Judged Best at Homecoming

KAUKAUNA — The Spanish Club at Kaukauna High School walked off with first place honors in homecoming float competition over the weekend while runnerup honors went to the junior class.

Third place was won by the freshmen class and honorable mention was awarded the Dramatics Club and Girls Athletic Association. The floats were judged in a parade prior to Saturday's game against Kimberly.

Man Hurt in Accident Is Taken to Hospital

Daniel Stulp, 24, New Richmond was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital after he suffered a right foot injury in a two-car accident at W. Franklin and N. State streets Monday morning.

Appleton police said Stulp was in a car driven by Carl A. Achterberg, 45, 818 E. Fremont St., which was westbound on Franklin when it was struck in the side by a southbound auto driven by Floyd E. Otto, 43, 1927 N. Elinor St.

Kaukauna Car Fire

KAUKAUNA — Fire of undetermined origin damaged the motor, wiring and tire of a car owned by Joseph Young, 429 W. Seventh St., about 5:40 a.m. Monday.

Police Phone Number Changed

KAUKAUNA — Chief of Police William Nagel says his department is receiving complaints about the police having an unlisted number.

A recent change in the telephone system in the department forced a change in numbers which will not be recorded until a new telephone directory is published, the chief said. Persons desiring to contact police are to call 766-4667, the new number.

The phone number change enables persons desiring to call police to get in touch with an officer much quicker because the old system sometimes resulted in busy signals. The new installation permits receiving more than one call.

Nagel urged all residents to write the new number in the front of their phone book.

Manhole Removal Is Problem in Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Street Department Foreman Donald Schaefer reports problems with youngsters removing manhole covers on city streets.

Such practice could result in a serious injury to motorists or created by open manholes, paraded. Schaefer noted in a complaint filed with police. He fall when the leaves often cover the manhole.

2 Hurt, Car Destroyed in Fiery Crash

Two young route 1, Hortonville, men were injured early Sunday when their car struck a bridge railing and burst into flames.

The accident occurred on Greendale Road, a mile west of Hortonville.

Leland L. Laird, 19, driver of the vehicle, suffered mouth, back, and head injuries, while his passenger, Pete Bohman, 20, suffered a forehead laceration. They were taken to New London Community Hospital by ambulance.

The Hortonville Fire Department was summoned when the 1961 car started afire. The car was listed as a total loss.

Outagamie County police said Laird was southbound when he lost control of the auto which struck the bridge railing.

A young motorist was seriously injured in an identical accident at the same bridge early Saturday. He struck the railing on the other side of the bridge.

The accident occurred on Greendale Road, a mile west of Hortonville.

New 'Brackens World' Sorry, Soapy, Sappy

Jingo Enjoys Andy Williams' Show, but Turns Thumbs Down on Hollywood Story

BY JINGO The weekend saw only two new TV series, both on NBC, concluding that network's highly-advertised "week." "The Andy Williams Show" was predictable, because Andy has hosted his own variety series before. The unknown factor was "Bracken's World." Jingo liked it better when it was still unknown.

Bracken's World (9-10. Fridays, Channel 5) — The biggest disaster of the new season, at least to date, and one of the most disappointing debuts in years, occurred in the framework of this sorry, soapy, sappy melodrama alleged to be about Hollywood behind-the-scenes.

Hollywood is not Appleton and the life styles there sometimes are strange and phony, but that famous California city deserves a far better break than "Bracken's World" gives it.

Hodge-Podge Opener The first episode was a hodge-podge from beginning to end. It seemed to be a composite of every rejected soap opera scene of the last several years. Looking at the show, Jingo can see why the scenes would have been rejected!

Bracken, who never appears on camera (he knows!), is the big boss at a major Hollywood studio. His various employees — each of whom is a prototype of Hollywood's phoniest cliché characters — go through their paces with little conviction. It must be hard to appear genuine in the midst of such bad script writing.

Jingo feels sorry for Eleanor Parker, who portrays Bracken's personal secretary because she is an experienced actress to whom these sort of series shouldn't happen. But as for Peter Haskell, Madlyn Rhue, Elizabeth Allen, Stephen Oliver, Dennis Cole and the other regulars — mostly young — their performances deserve little sympathy.

The Andy Williams Show (6:30-7:30. Saturdays, Channel 5) — The latest weekly Williams variety series began fairly impressively and should provide "The Jackie Gleason Show" with its liveliest competition in years. Apparently, guest lists will be catholic in makeup. The first show featured Petula Clark, Blood, Sweat and Tears and Don Ho, which is certainly a wide range of talents.

Cameo Appearances The nicest touch of the opener was its tendency not to take itself seriously. About a half-dozen cameo appearances — by Flip Wilson, Joey Bishop, Pat Paulsen and several others — helped Andy spoof himself. Even Don Ho, a Hawaiian, was able to make fun of himself in the lead-in to his first number.

Jingo was disappointed by the omission of two segments promised before airtime. The Edwin Hawkins Singers were announced and should have sung their hit, "Oh, Happy Day!" They never appeared. Blood, Sweat and Tears, one of the land's top number one rock groups, did not sing a number with Andy, as was promised.

It was difficult to see what the problem might have been. The striking of a couple of cameos might have helped and the cutting in length of an interminable English spoof production number with Miss Clark would have aided the show.

Andy is his same, relaxed, handsome self and his singing is as good as ever. Jingo looks for him to introduce some rock numbers to older audiences from time to time, in his usual style.

Dan Dailey Widower in New Series

BY TV SCOUT

8-30-9 Channels 2-7 — The Governor and J. J., one of only five new series on CBS, makes its debut without much splash. Dan Dailey stars as one of the most popular characters in TV today, a widower. He has a daughter named Jennifer Jo which has been reduced to J. J. The little lady, played by Julie Sommars, spends most of her time advocating causes, wise-cracking and otherwise being moderately mod and handsomely hip. In this script, the governor needs a woman to serve as hostess at a ball. When J. J. gets the job, after a good deal of opposition, she proves a hit.

9-30-10 Channel 2 — One of the most highly exploited labor-management situations of the past century has been the United Mine Workers battle for better living conditions and wages for their members. In the CBS News special, Challenge in the Coal Mines: Men Against Their Unions, we learn about the grievances that have formed between a dissident faction in the union and the ruling forces. We see both sides addressing the men in preparation for the elections for December, hearing the charges of mismanagement by Joseph A. Yablonski, who is opposing president Tony Boyle for the top job.

No Deal for GOP Senate Leadership

Scott Wanted Baker to Withdraw in Return for Support as Minority Whip

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The widely expected offer by Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania to Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee to divide up the Senate Republican leadership was made overtly last Wednesday afternoon — and flatly rejected.

The proposal was made by Scott to an intermediary at a meeting that Scott requested. Scott, a moderate liberal, told the intermediary that he is far ahead of his two rivals — Baker, a moderate conservative, and Sen. Roman Hruska of Nebraska, a hard-line conservative — in the race to replace the late Everett McKinley Dirksen as Minority Leader. Scott claimed a rock bottom 20 senators, two short of the necessary total — not including Sen. Len Jordan of Idaho, a conservative tending toward Scott.

Scott next discussed who will replace him as Minority Whip. No. 2 leadership job, if he succeeds Dirksen. Scott informed the intermediary that Sen. Robert Griffin of Michigan, who has excellent contacts in both liberal and conservative camps, is making a strong push to become Whip.

Seek to Avert Deal Therefore, Scott suggested, Baker might do well to quit the race for leader and throw his support to Scott. The unspoken quid pro quo would be Scott's backing Baker against Griffin for Whip — the very deal that Scott's more liberal supporters have been trying to avert.

Scott's proposal was quickly rejected by Baker, who still thinks he can win the top spot at Wednesday morning's caucus. Although Baker's supporters admit he would settle for the Whip's job if need be, they believe he can beat Scott if Hruska bows out.

Indeed, Baker's young Senatorial sponsors are far more aggravated with Hruska than Scott. They know Hruska's headcounts of support (one of them showing 21 Senators) are grotesquely inflated. One early the Week. The first one is "Seven In Darkness," a story of eight people whose plane is wrecked on a mountain. Using their own devices they have to find their way back to civilization.

7:30-8:30 Channels 2-7 — The season premiere of The Red Skelton Show uses the machination of Mission: Impossible and the moon landing for a script that has Pop the Janitor as the first man to land on Jupiter. Red, as Pop, stows away in a space craft piloted by IMF leader Peter Graves.

Hruska list inadvertently contained Dirksen's name.

A footnote: The intensity of the campaign was demonstrated when both Scott and Baker advocates walked over to the House to woo Rep. John Anderson of Illinois on the possibility he might be named to Dirksen's seat and vote in the caucus.

Hubert H. Humphrey has been subjected to intense pressure from both sides in New York City's split Democratic party over whether to endorse City Controller Mario Procaccino, the party's law-and-order mayoral nominee.

The regulars have brought their case forcefully to Humphrey through Francis X. Smith, president of the city council, and Moses Weinstein, party leader in Queens. In a recent head-to-head session in Manhattan, Smith reminded Humphrey the regulars were steadfast in the darkest days of 1968 and were largely responsible for his carrying New York. They want the same loyalty from him now.

But liberal Humphreys say an endorsement of Procaccino would cut remaining bonds between Humphrey and Democratic reform elements. Strong advice against endorsement is coming from liberal businessman Marvin Rosenberg, long a Humphrey intimate, and Howard Samuels, seeking the 1970 nomination for Governor.

Humphrey will probably finess the issue by making clear he views Procaccino as the winner over Mayor John V. Lindsay and has no objection to him but avoids endorsing any local nominees for office.

A footnote: Samuels, an active Lindsay supporter, visited Washington last week to urge fence-sitting liberal Democratic Congressmen to endorse Lindsay.

Brooke vs. SBA The hottest backstage battle in the embattled Small Business Administration (SBA) centers around an effort by Sen. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts, backed by the state's entire Congressional delegation, to upstage a major personnel shift.

The SBA has ordered Arthur J. Click, its regional director in Columbia, S.C., to be the new regional director in Boston for the purpose of providing a top patronage job for one of the most influential Republican Senators: Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

Brooke, an aggressive member of the Senate Small Business Committee, is fighting hard — so far, in vain — to reverse Click's transfer. The reason: Click's presence in Boston prevents Republican Brooke and the state's four Republican Congressmen from proposing a Massachusetts Republican for the vacancy.

But what happened in Boston is commonplace on the personal merry-go-round presided over by Hilary Sandoval, SBA head. The SBA regional director in Columbus, Ohio, Richard Sensenbrenner (son of the city's Democratic mayor), learned about his transfer to Salt Lake

Bank 'Too Safe' for Widow's Cash Reserve

BY SYLVIA PORTER

When the young widow of whom I wrote yesterday was asked what she planned to do with her cash reserve of $85,000, her shy answer was "Keep it safe, in a special bank account, I guess. I don't want to take any chances." When she was told that it was actually stupid to be "that safe," she understandably asked, "What else?" This widow, you will recall, has Social Security and veterans' benefits amounting to about $450 a month and she estimates she can live comfortably with another $150 a month. She is scarcely in dire financial circumstances — and she also is determined not to go back to work, even part-time, while her children are at pre-school age. Here are four investment areas for her to consider. You will find this listing pertinent too.

1) For Short-Term Income: Marketable U.S. Securities. The interest you can typically earn on U.S. Government obligations due in up to a year — about as "liquid" as you can be — is now above 7 1/4 per cent. On U.S. Government agency issues, the return in topping 8 1/4 per cent! These are the highest interest returns paid by the U.S. Government since before the Civil War, more than a century ago.

Stick to Basics If you buy individual common stocks, stick to corporations listed on the New York Stock Exchange and to basic industries which are growing with the economy. This widow (and the bank) is not right for any young person now — and even when the price spiral slows to more acceptable annual paces than today, this advice won't be adequate. Nor should this young widow — or you — settle for the safety of U.S. savings bonds and what they pay to maturity.

2) For Long-Term Capital Gain: Mutual Funds or High-Grade Stocks. The mutual fund is probably the best medium for you, whether you are a small investor. I prefer you can get sound, well-informed advice from qualified sources can avoid paying the sales fee and assuming you can live (which can amount on load funds to as much as 9.3 per cent of above the net asset value per share) and because the performance record of the no-load fund compares favorably with the idea of holding important

A footnote: Sandoval, presumably on White House orders, has cancelled testimony before the Senate Banking Committee scheduled for late October. Instead, the top SBA witness will be deputy administrator Donald Brewer, a protégé of Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans. This substitution convinces Congressional Republicans that the highly controversial Sandoval, a Texas protégé of Sen. John Tower, is being eased out.

Unions Defend Rising Prices In Construction

Commission Set By White House To Probe Inflation

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Union leaders cautiously promised today to help a new White House commission study inflation in the construction industry. But they said high interest rates and soaring prices of real estate and building materials are far more to blame than wage hikes.

"They talk about labor costs and ignore the skyrocketing prices of land materials, fixtures and equipment," said President C. J. Haggerty of the AFL-CIO Construction and Building Trades Department.

"They condemn our wage rate increases and bless the bonanza that the money managers have engineered for themselves through interest rates that the Nixon administration has condemned," Haggerty said in an official report to the convention of the 17 building trades unions representing 3.5 million construction workers.

Will Cooperate

But a spokesman for Haggerty said building trades officials will cooperate with the White House commission in hopes of getting across labor's views on inflation.

President Nixon named Haggerty and three other building trades union leaders, along with four industry representatives and three government officials, to the special construction industry collective bargaining commission.

Nixon cited labor-management strike tensions and inflationary wage settlements as reasons for setting up the commission by presidential executive order Monday.

Record Pace

Construction wages, rising at a record annual pace of about 20 per cent so far this year, have reached as much as $10 an hour for skilled men in some cities.

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz, named as chairman of the White House commission, has warned that both the industry and the workers could price themselves out of the market unless the inflationary spiral is slowed.

Construction wages are negotiated locally and presidents of the building trades unions say they have little influence over pay settlements.

They argue that the federal Landrum-Griffin law, enacted to protect union members' rights, prevents them from bringing pressure on local unions.

Raps Cutbacks

Haggerty criticized Nixon's cutback in federal construction, saying it would lead to rising unemployment and cripple efforts to give more high paying building trades jobs to Negroes.

The construction unions issued a policy statement Monday urging all 9,000 locals of the 17 unions to take in any qualified Negro or other minority group applicants who can pass journeymen's tests.

Haggerty said the government, instead of cutting back construction, should launch a crash program to build housing and schools and meet other pressing construction shortages.

"I believe it could be done as it was done in World War II when we built all of the factories, the camps, the air bases, the shipyards, the roads and so forth which together amounted to the largest construction program in history," he said. "The emergency now in rebuilding America is just as urgent."

Volpe Schedules Talk in Vatican

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe will have a talk with Pope Paul VI at the Vatican Oct. 4 during a trip to Italy, Spain and England.

Volpe, first member of President Nixon's Cabinet to have an official visit with the Pope, leaves Washington next Monday and is due back Oct. 11.

He will address the Congress of the International Institute of Communications at Genoa Oct. 8 and during his tour will see the transportation ministers of the three nations.

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Charles Steen, who made a fortune in Utah uranium mining, can stay in his $1.75 million Nevada home while trying to pay his debts.

A bankruptcy referee postponed Monday an earlier order to evict Steen while a federal court considers a Steen appeal on a plan to pay debts.

Steen claimed a man's home "should be the last property that is sold under any bankruptcy."

Noted Criminal Lawyer

Bailey to Defend One of Green Berets

LONG BINH, Vietnam (AP) — Famed Boston criminal lawyer F. Lee Bailey is going to defend one of the six Green Beret officers charged with murdering a Vietnamese double agent, the military attorney for the officer announced today.

Bailey will take charge of the defense of Capt. Robert F. Marasco of Bloomfield, N.J., who is scheduled to go on trial before a general court-martial on Oct. 20 along with Capt. Leland J. Brumley of Duncan, Okla., and Capt. Budge E. Williams of Athens, Ga. However, the defense is expected to seek a postponement of the trial.

Edward Bennett Williams, another of America's best known criminal attorneys, is expected to direct the defense of Col. Robert B. Rheault of Vineyard Haven, Mass., the former commander of Special Forces troops in Vietnam and the highest ranking of the defendants. Rheault and two others are to be tried after the other three officers, but there are indications the charges will be quashed if the first trial ends in an acquittal.

Both Bailey and Williams are expected to arrive in Vietnam next Monday or Tuesday.

A third prominent trial lawyer, Henry B. Rothblatt of New York, arrived in Saigon Monday to defend Capt. Brumley and Maj. David E. Crew of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who is scheduled to be tried with Rheault and Maj. Thomas C. Middleton Jr. of Jefferson, S.C.

"Happy" to Join Marasco's military attorney, Capt. Thomas H. T. Young, spoke by transpacific telephone with Bailey in Boston today and told newsmen Bailey said he would be "happy" to join the defense.

"We wanted the best and we have got the best," Young said. The Army is holding in abeyance charges against two other Green Berets, CWO Edward M. Boyle Jr. of New York City and Sgt. 1 C. Alvin L. Smith of Naples, Fla. They were arrested along with the other six but last week began getting special treatment amid reports they would testify for the prosecution against the six officers.

Rothblatt, who is also defending Boyle, and Smith's civilian lawyer, George W. Latimer of Salt Lake City, denied that their clients had made a deal with the military.

Rothblatt said statements from the military implied that Boyle might be a "stoolie," and as a result the warrant officer and his family have "suffered tremendous embarrassment." Latimer said Smith also had been cast "in an unfair light," that "there has been no agreement" between his client and the military.

"The prosecution probably will call them," said Rothblatt, "but there is a big difference between being subpoenaed and turning state's evidence."

Rothblatt said the defense definitely would subpoena Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, as a witness because "he has direct knowledge of the facts in the case . . . and the public has the right to know what role he played."

Apparent Toll Climbs to 30 In Mexico City Airline Crash

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The probable death toll has risen to 30 in the crash Sunday of the Boeing 707 jetliner from Chicago, Mexicana Airlines said Monday night.

The airlines said 25 bodies had been recovered and five more were believed under the wreckage in a swamp near the international airport. The army was building a bridge through the marsh so a crane could remove the wreckage.

The plane carried 111 passengers, many of them Midwesterners going to Mexico City and Acapulco for vacations, and a crew of seven. Five of the crew were killed, including the pilot and copilot.

More than 50 persons were injured in the crash. Monday night nine of them were reported still in serious condition in the American-British-Cowdray Hospital.

Short of Runway

A civil aeronautics official said the plane's recorder was recovered and probably would be sent to the Boeing Co. in Seattle for study of the information on the plane's approach. The jet crashed short of the runway as it was landing in a drizzle.

At least six newlywed couples were aboard the plane.

Francis T. Moran Jr., 30, of Chicago, and his bride of one day, Mary Jane, 23, escaped with injuries that were not serious.

James Pietrazakowski, also of Chicago, was killed but his bride was reported in satisfactory condition.

Patricia Waters, 21, bride of James Waters, 22, of Joliet, Ill., was missing, and her husband was listed in serious condition.

The other newlyweds were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marshall of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hoffman of Milwaukee and Mr. and Mrs. James Brian of Chicago.

go. All were reported in satisfactory condition.

Some survivors complained of the handling of rescue operations and said it took rescue units from 25 to 45 minutes to reach the scene.

"We were waiting on the wing, and they were putting bodies on the wing first before getting any of the injured out," said Laura Brooks, 46, of Detroit, Mich.

Most Wisconsinites Termed Satisfactory

MEXICO CITY, (AP) — A honeymoon couple from Wisconsin and most of the seven other Wisconsinites injured when a Mexican Airlines jet crashed while trying to land here Sunday are being transferred to the American British Cowdray Hospital, officials said.

They had been at various area hospitals. John and Elizabeth Hoffman, who were married Saturday, were reported in satisfactory condition Monday night.

John J. Czechan of Milwaukee was the only Wisconsin victim reported in serious condition. All others were listed as satisfactory.

The other seven Wisconsin persons listed as injured were bound for Acapulco on a vacation tour arranged by Club Internationale, according to the manager of the club's Milwaukee branch, Bruce R. Bresser.

John J. Czechan and his wife, Maura, Milwaukee.

Albert Loncarid and his wife, Joanne, Milwaukee.

Miss Pauline Hartzell, 21, Brown Deer.

Miss Ruth Enos, 48, Milwaukee.

Mrs. Irene Gorak, 48, Wauwatosa.

A Peshtigo, Wis., couple reported that their son in law, Melvin B. Wilson, 48, of Plainfield, Ill., was killed in the crash. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mansfield said the airline had notified them of Wilson's death, but they still had no word on the condition of their daughter, Jean Wilson, 46, who was with her husband.

West opened the king of diamonds and then shrewdly shifted to a trump, suspecting that South might want to ruff a heart or two in the dummy. This defense put South one step behind in the race to ruff a heart in the dummy.

If South led a heart, West would lead a second trump. And if South then led a second heart, West would take the last trump out of dummy. South would lose three hearts and a diamond.

Foreseeing what would happen, South decided not to enter this race. Instead, he drew three rounds of trumps without touching the hearts at all. Then he cashed the king, queen and jack of clubs.

Gives up Diamond
With the ground thus prepared, declarer led the queen of diamonds from the dummy and discarded the four of hearts from his hand.

West could win with the ace of diamonds but could not find a safe exit. If West led hearts, South would get a trick with the king of hearts. If West led diamonds, dummy would get a diamond trick, since the ace of clubs was still in the dummy as an entry to the ten of diamonds.

It's a typical hand from a fine collection, just out. Don't buy the book unless you like good bridge hands.

Daily Question
As dealer, you hold: S-7 6 2; H-A 10 3; D-A K J 7 4; C-8 4. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one diamond. You have 12 points in high cards and one point for the doubleton, enough for an optional opening bid. You are happy to exercise your option by bidding since you have excellent high-card structure and a fine suit.

The Ailing House
Free Form Flagstones Easily Made

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN
Q: Soon I would like to make a stepping-stone walk in my garden, using concrete. I would like them to be various shapes, rather than uniform squares, rectangles or circles. How do I do this?—San Francisco.

A: Couldn't be easier. With a spade, shovel or lawn-edger, cut out straight-sided shapes as free-form as you like. Dig down at least four inches. The sides will act as the form itself. If the soil is sandy, you'll need strips of shim brass or aluminum garden edging to preserve the vertical edging. Then simply fill the excavations with concrete and there you are.

Q: I am planning to rebuild an old house. How good is vinyl siding?—Columbus.

A: It's still so new I don't believe anyone knows just how long it will last, but it has passed all durability tests excellently so far. Sure looks good, too.

Q: Is it possible to remove wallpaper from dry walls? I would prefer to paint.—Milwaukee.

A: If you know for sure the dry walls were sized or painted before papering, go ahead. If not, don't try. It may ruin the dry wall surface.

Concerned Wife Talks With Congressman

Mrs. Thomas Middleton, wife of an Army major charged with five other Green Berets in the slaying of a South Vietnamese double-agent, spoke to her congressman, Rep. Tom Getty, D-S.C., at the Capitol Monday. Mrs. Middleton, from Jefferson, S.C., said later she believes Gen. Creighton Abrams, chief of the U.S. forces in Vietnam, "seems to be instigator of the whole thing." (AP Wirephoto)

Your Problems

Writer Handled This Situation Perfectly

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This afternoon while shopping in a well-known department store, I had to go to the ladies room. I walked into the private booth, stumbled over something and almost broke my neck. That "something" turned out to be a boy lying on the floor looking up into the next booth.

When he saw me he stood up. I was shocked. That kid was nearly as tall as I was. He had to be 11 years old. I yelled, "Get out of here and go to the men's room!" He stuck out his tongue and shouted, "I don't have to mind you. You aren't my mother."

I don't think I've ever seen anything in your column about this problem. Please say something. — Still Bruning

Dear Brun: I've never had the problem before! You handled it beautifully, Madame. I couldn't have done better myself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a healthy, alert, clean student who will be 18 next birthday. I live in Ohio and am bored out of my gourd. The farthest away from home I have ever been is Setubenville. 200 miles away.

Do you know of a kind-hearted columnist who would be willing to make a gift of $200 so I could go to New York for a long weekend? Sorry I don't have money for a stamp so you'll have to answer in the paper. — Have Suitcase, Will Travel

Dear Will: I'm glad to know you have a suitcase. Sorry, chum, but I haven't located that money hush you are dreaming about.

There's an old-fashioned activity called "work" which might provide the solution to your problem. People who want things badly enough often resort to it. I've done a good bit of it myself and I recommend it highly.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm sure you will never publish this letter because it goes one of your sacred oxen, but I'm going to write it anyway. I can truthfully say, my secret lover has made my marriage not only tolerable but happier.

When I married Daniel in 1959 we were both young and foolish, and I was pregnant. After five years and three babies we were fed up with each other, had money problems, sex problems and in-law problems.

Last year we moved to this city. (Don't name it please.) The move meant more money, a bigger house and new friends. Within two months I was made-ly in love with his new business associate. The feeling is mutual. Mr. Marvelous and his wife have the same kind of marriage my husband and I have. Boring. Marv and I have decided that divorce is out of the question. Daniel doesn't suspect a thing. Neither does Mrs. Marvelous.

We meet once a week in a nearby village. He satisfies my every emotional need. I love being with him. Dreaming about our trysts keeps me cheerful, fulfilled and good to my husband. No advice, please, just wanted you to know how one woman solved her problem. — Honey Bun

Dear Bun: This is a solution? Please keep my address handy, Hon. You may be writing again.

How will you know when the real thing comes along? Ask Ann Landers. Send for her booklet "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Copyright, 1969)

Fall Is Home Cleaning Time

With summer vacation over and a winter heating season coming up, now is a good time to take care of important cleaning jobs around the home, suggests a local cleaning specialist.

"Cleaning of heating systems should be done soon," advises Harry Hitter, operator of a power cleaning firm in Appleton. "Dust accumulation in ducts, flues and registers can reduce the efficiency of your furnace by as much as 70 percent," he says. "A thorough cleaning is advisable before peak heating demands arise."

"And if you have a fireplace," he adds, "it's a good idea to have it checked at the same time to ensure satisfactory performance throughout the winter."

He notes, too, that the use of an outside professional is often the least expensive, as well as most efficient, approach to home cleaning, particularly where specialized equipment is required.

Powerful Vacuum

One operation, based on a powerful vacuum source mounted in a specially designed truck, is capable of pulling out every bit of soot, lint and dust from furnaces, boilers, flues, ducts, registers and filters. Such thorough cleaning is often impossible with ordinary methods, ob-

Because the dirt is pulled directly to the truck through flexible vacuum hoses without any intermediate transfer, a cleaner operation results. For interior jobs, the hoses are normally brought into the home through open windows or doors.

In addition to cleaning of heating systems, modern systems do high-pressure washing on all types of house exteriors: chimney cleaning; wall and ceiling washing; carpet and furniture shampoo cleaning; deodorizing; and cleaning of swimming pools, flooded basements (including water removal), awnings, grease-spotted driveways, and garage floors.

Summer vacation often takes its toll on carpeting and furniture upholstery. "We use 70 times the horsepower of ordinary tank vacuums to quickly pull all the dirt out of carpeting and whisk it to the truck in large capacity hoses," Hitter says.

Furniture Cleaning

An electric upholstery cleaner is used on furniture with special equipment used for restoring ceilings and beams to their original attractive appearance and reflective power. Thorough cleaning dirt or grease encrust-

Capable of storing 1,000 pounds or more of dirt from a single job, special trucks are equipped with flexible hoses, a hand blower with hose adapter; a 15-inch floor cleaning and buffing machine; a propane fogger; an electric upholstery cleaner with wall washing attachment; and a high-powered pressure washer with pressure-hose attachment and water hose. The vehicle also contains a 16-inch carpet brush and a 16-inch carpet tool; an electric drill with magnetic chuck; ample quantities of concentrated shampoo, deodorant concentrate and crystals, detergent, and rug spotter and other accessories that permit a complete cleaning job in a minimum amount of time.

All big cleaning jobs can be handled around the home quickly and professionally in a day's time or less.

In addition to cleaning homes and apartment buildings, cleaning services is provided to industrial, commercial, and institutional customers. The scope of an operation can vary from a modest home-cleaning job for as little as $25 to an industrial contract for monthly heating-system cleaning involving hundreds of dollars.

The Changing Dating Game—Part I

Beer Bars Take Place of Front Porches

By The Associated Press

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The dating game has changed.

Going stag seems to have replaced going steady, and beer bars and movie theaters have taken the place of parlors and front porches.

And for some, according to an Associated Press survey of Wisconsin young people, even the beer bars and movie houses have been replaced.

"We just get together at somebody's apartment and blow grass (marijuana)," said one 20-year-old male in Waukesha. Spontaneity is the key concept at this type of gathering, he indicated. People come and go at will, alone or together. They hold "relevant" discussion and do whatever else comes to mind.

Most young people, of course, still take their dating in more traditional veins.

Though parlor games and evenings on the front porch swing are things of the past, things of the present cost a lot more.

Walks Are Out

A light date, today, says Hagengruber, "means picking up the girl in a car—walks no longer are in vogue—going to either a dance, movie or bar, and stopping off for a hamburger and a shake afterwards. Dates can run anywhere from $3 to $7 on the average."

Watson Parker of Oshkosh, a parent, described the way members of his generation used to date.

"When I was going to college," he said, "we used to go to the library and study, then go down to the grocery store, buy a popsicle and share it."

Dates do cost more nowadays, Hagengruber said, and unless "dad is willing to cough up the coinage", students realize they are forced to resort to getting a job.

But jobs, too, have changed. Making shakes at the local hamburger drive-in is more lucrative and more glamorous to a teenager than selling greeting cards door-to-door or working in an ice house.

Most dating-age boys have jobs, the survey indicated, and many of them have cars.

Movies Popular

"Movies seem to be the more popular date today, especially the outdoor movies," said Ron Wolf, 17, of Oshkosh. "Dances usually bring a good crowd if they are in a nice locality and have a well-known band playing. Also, for people of legal age, going out to the local beer bars provides good entertainment."

At teen bars and dances, it has become the accepted procedure for members of both sexes to go stag in fairly large groups, says Wayne Wolski of La Crosse. Once inside, "the process of pairing off is smoothly effected."

"Judging by the number of kids that are wandering around the University of Wisconsin campus on a Thursday, Friday or Saturday night," says Barb Greenwood of the Janesville Gazette, "I'd say a lot of dating isn't really dating at all, but rather just getting together and fooling around. In other words, it's very casual."

But though the format has changed, the result is the same—and dating is in no apparent danger of becoming obsolete.

The boy-girl attraction remains keen as ever and, as one La Crosse State University student put it, "We generally work something out."

Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Fenlon were elected president of the Top Hats Dance Club at a meeting at their home. Other new officers are Mr. and Mrs. John Rouman, vice president; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Britton, secretary, and Mr. and Mrs. Rod Vaughn, treasurer.

On the board of directors are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. David Weiland, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Kenny and Mr. and Mrs. James Ormson.

The first dinner-dance for members only will be from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Oct. 4 at the Columbus Club. The theme will be "October-fest," and the co-chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Horn and Mr. and Mrs. Vern Atkins.

Coiffures Reflect, Punctuate

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS NEWS FEATURES

Sleek at the top of top fashion is the coiffure message most couture designers believe in for fall 1969.

Bill Blass, Geoffrey Beene, Chester Weinberg and Donald Brooks all like the small, uncluttered head.

Chester Wenberg's Pleated Skirt, long torso blouse, floating scarf and swinging shoulder length hair point to fall in action. The cap hugs the head and lets long hair blow with abandon. Shown under Weinberg caps are close fitting falls of human hair by Helene Curtis.

Coiffures not only reflect but punctuate the major fall fashion lines which are stretched out but supple, rhyming with body curves through soft knitted fabrics.

Helene Curtis Industries, in their sixth season of matching hair styles to head line designer fashions, reports that while the 1920s are back in review, with hip-hugging chemises, long scarves, beads and fringe, hairstyles are reminiscent of but still more sophisticated than those of 40 years ago.

Tongue in Cheek

This fall one curl will do for dozens, hair will be swept off the face instead of toward it, and there will continue to be far more distinction between daytime and evening coifs. Some hairstyles are frankly tongue in cheek, and others are sleight of hair-piece illusions.

Geoffrey Beene, for example, keeps his mannequins' heads completely smooth with skimmed back hair, and ends tucked neatly in at the back. His bow to the '20s is one little curl, right in the middle of every model's forehead.

Curl Round, Orderly

Since Chester Weinberg likes the look of long hair for day, and short hair for evening, his models wear shoulder length falls under tight fitting caps with suits, and add specially designed back twists for evening. These ornaments of hair are wound with jewelry or scarves that match the Weinberg costume.

In keeping with the classic look of evening wear, curls avoid massing for the popular tumble of last season, and tend to be round and orderly in little crown shapes at the back of the head Flattering Style for Fall '69 evenings is Pantene's version of the pompadour. A great roll of luxuriant hair frames the face for a look like a fragile Oriental flower, while loose tendrils and wisps soften the effect even more. A small bun sits high on the back of the head. The long, body-hugging mat jersey dress embroidered in an Art Deco motif is by Gayle Kirkpatrick.

Charity Circle Rummage Sale Sert. 25, 26

A report on the rummage sale scheduled Sept 25 and 26 at All Saints Episcopal Church was made at the Sept 16 meeting of Charity Circle of The King's Daughters at the home of Mrs. Frank Okada, 624 E. MacArthur St. Assisting the hostess was Mrs. Charles Wegner.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to finalize payments of the $1,000 pledged to St. Elizabeth and Appleton Memorial hospitals.

Members heard committee reports on the Roaring Jazz Party and the Antique Sale, both of which are planned for the coming year.

Named delegates to the annual King's Daughters' convention Oct. 16 at Butte des Morts were Mrs. John Sjepard, Mrs. Robert Lang, Mrs. Robert Wilson and Mrs. C. W. Peterson. Members attending from the state have been invited to tour Silvercrest Home in Neenah.

Assuming her duties as president was Mrs. Shepard. Assisting her will be Mrs. Okada, vice president, Mrs. Howard Grupe, secretary, Mrs. Wegner, treasurer, Mrs. James Thielman, publicity and Mrs. Robert Wilson and Mrs. Robert Knapp, board members.

Serving on the council will be Mrs. Shepard, Mrs. Okada, Mrs. Carlton Kuck and Mrs. Harold Bravick. Mrs. Jack Anderson and Mrs. Frank Pechman, steering committee and Mrs. Wegner and Mrs. E. R. Shannon, welfare hours' chairman. Mrs. Knapp, bridge marathon Mrs. Fenlon, stationery, Mrs. J. W. Glaeser, and projects chairman, Mrs. R. E. Wuerger.

Pair to Mark 50th Wedding Anniversary

NEENAH — Mr. and Mrs. James C. Jensen, 311 Van St., will celebrate their 50th anniversary Sunday at a family dinner. Afterward the couple will greet guests at an Open House from 2 to 4 p.m. in Fellowship Hall at Trinity Lutheran Church.

The couple was married Sept. 24, 1919, at the church. Mrs. Jensen, nee Green, an honor attendant, plans to be present at the celebration. Mr. and Mrs. Jensen have two daughters, Mrs. Gordon King, Minneapolis, and Mrs. Howard Asmus, Neenah. They also have five grandchildren. Mr. Jensen operated a painting and decorating business until his retirement nine years ago.

Confessions of an Inveterate Saver

BY ERMA BOMBECK

Women generally fall into two basic classifications: the savers and the tossers. I am a saver, but my husband is bent on my conversion.

"Wilda Jean Needy is on the phone," he yelled. "She wants to know if you have an eyewash cup. I told her you had one and just threw it out."

"You didn't!" I shouted, grabbing the phone. "What are you trying to do to my reputation? Hello, Wilda Jean? Of course I have an eyewash cup. Who's sick? You don't need a heating blanket with a short in it, do you? Or a hot water bottle that leaks? Or a pair of surgical gloves that have melted into mittens? Come on over and I'll dig out the eyewash cup for you."

I hung up the phone and faced my husband. "That was a pretty mean thing for you to do. All those people out there. They depend on me. Remember two years ago when the PTA needed two dozen cardboard fans? I went right to the catch-all drawer and produced two dozen like new fans from the So Long Funeral Home."

"I've been meaning to speak with you about the catch-all drawer."

"What about it?"

"It's gotten a little out of hand."

"If it's the 15 bleach bottles that I'm going to make piggy banks out of some day, I'll put them in the garage."

"No."

"I know. It's the bag of keys that don't open anything? Or the straw hats from the World's Fair? Or the pillow I started to embroider when you were in service, 'I'm Saving All My Sugar Stamps For You - Sink Tono' - or maybe it's the stack of Supp-Hose Newsletters."

"It's everything," he said quietly. "You can't go on saving every piece of string, foil, paper or bottle cap you get. The other day I touched a door knob and a couple thousand rubber bands nearly flogged me to death."

"I try to throw things out. It's just that you never know when you're going to need a box of quilt patches or a box of dominos or a laundry bag of brackets. Remember the time you wanted a pair of tricycle wheels to attach to the garbage can and I had them right at my fingertips?"

"They weren't at your fingertips," he said with a sigh. "I slept with them for eight years along with a punctured air mattress and 136 clay flower pots. Do you know what I want you to do? I want you to promise me that every day you'll throw away at least one thing I don't care if it's only a gum wrapper. I want you to kick the saver's habit. Here, start with this burnt-out light bulb in the catch-all drawer."

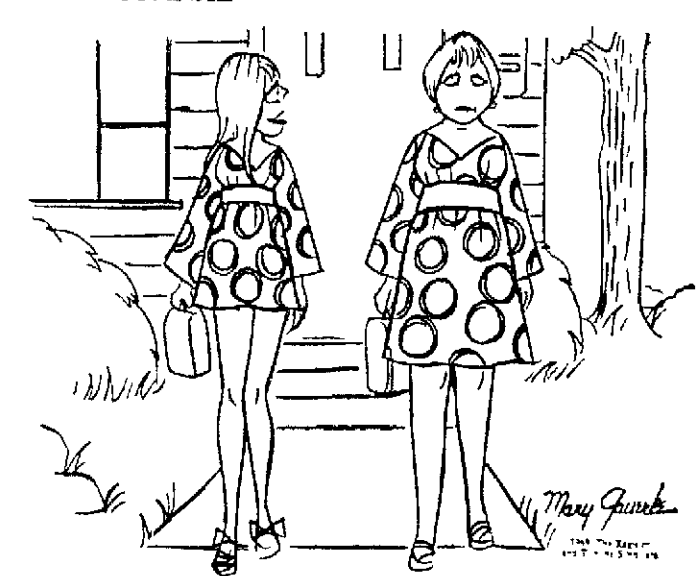

"But I can't. I use old light bulbs all the time. I darn socks with them."

"You haven't darned a sock in 20 years. Throw it out!"

"Mark my word," I said, "if Wilda Jean calls tomorrow and needs an old light bulb, I'll never speak to you again."

Nation Needs Basic Nutrition Education

Even with an increase in income, unless there is a simultaneous nationwide effort to educate the public on good nutrition, many persons may end up eating more but not necessarily better, two leading nutritionists warned here today.

"Nutritionists have long been aware that even among persons with incomes well above those considered in the recent Presidential report, nutritional intake may be more than adequate with respect to calories, but sadly deficient in essential nutrients. Further-more, how effectively food is used by the body also depends on a person's general state of health," declared Dr. Elmer Louis Severinghaus.

Dr. Severinghaus, one of the country's leading nutritionists, is consultant to the Vitamin Information Bureau (VIB). He formerly was professor of public health nutrition, Institute of Nutrition Sciences, Columbia University; clinical professor of medicine, New York Medical College; physi-cian-in-charge of a Municipal Nutrition Clinic, New York City, and vice-president for Clinical Research at Hoff-mann La Roche, Nutley, N. J.

Malnutrition Amid Plenty

"There's more to nutrition than just putting a certain number of calories into one's mouth or eating only favorite foods," he said. "While the available food choices in the U. S. are among the most varied in the world, even Americans who can afford to buy what they need nutritional-ly, often make the wrong choices. The widespread prob-lem of obesity in this country is just one reflection of poor eating habits."

Dr. Severinghaus pointed out that what long has been needed is an intensive nation-wide effort to bring basic information about good nutri-tion to all groups of people in the U. S.

For instance, a survey car-ried out in Berkeley, Calif., disclosed that 30 per cent of the housewives in that college town had never heard of the four basic food groups, fur-ther suggesting that even in a community that is economical-ly not below average many do not know how to choose foods wisely and good nutrition may be left to chance.

Admittedly, it doesn't help that some of the richest sources of certain essential nutrients are not the most popular foods, but that is the way it is. For instance, leafy green vegetables such as kale, spinach, broccoli, turnip greens, chard, brussels sprouts, and mustard greens, but excluding lettuce, are among the best sources of vitamins A, B2, folic acid and K. Liver is a source of A, B1, B2, B12, niacin and biotin, but few people would rate such foods as "tops" in popularity.

Another Man Concur

Dr. George M. Briggs, chairman of the Department of Nutritional Sciences, Uni-versity of California at Berke-ley, and former president of the American Institute of Nutrition has this to say:

"Over the past two decades, the American public has been eating more processed foods than ever before because it prefers this type of food. And it's perfectly all right as long as one chooses food carefully. However, today over one-half of what we eat on a dry matter basis, is in the form of processed foods and sugar, fat, or processed grains and we have been neglecting some of the more valuable foods as far as vitamins and minerals are concerned."

"By and large, in our coun-try there are many homes, probably more than one-third of all the people in our country, in which parents have no training in nutrition at all. The children in these families tend to eat more poorly, nutritionally speaking, than from homes where there has been some nutrition train-ing in the past, particularly for the mothers. Thus, a more concerted educational effort needs to be made to bring the importance of this message into the home and into our schools," Dr. Briggs said.

The Vitamin Information Bureau is a non-profit organi-zation established to provide scientific information on the role of vitamins and minerals in health and disease. It produces educational materi-als for use by teachers, nurses, physicians, and the public-at-large.

Parnell Denies Venue Change For Bookseller

Judge Says Official Actions Have Not Prejudiced Public

Circuit Court Judge Andrew W. Parnell has denied a move to have the trial of an Appleton bookstore operator, charged with possessing and selling obscene magazines, moved out of Appleton.

The attorney for Eugene Court, 43, 508 S. Walnut St., operator of The Book Seller, 609 W. College Ave., moved for the change of venue in Circuit Court on Sept. 15.

Attorney Gordon Myse told the court he did not believe his client could get a fair and impartial trial in Outagamie County, due to recent public actions regarding the controversial obscenity issue.

Public Action Myse, in support of his motion, cited a resolution passed almost unanimously by the Outagamie County Board, on April 15. The board urged law enforcement officials to take a hard-line stand against pornography in the county.

Myse also cited an Aug. 6 resolution presented to the Appleton City Council, which proposed a licensing ordinance to control the sales of books and magazines. The council has taken no action on the resolution.

Parnell, in a decision released today, stated, "There has been no evidence introduced to show that the effects of the resolutions or the actions of any agency created a county-wide community prejudice against the defendant or against the nature of the crime he is charged to have violated. Circuit Court juries involve citizens from all parts of the county."

Fair Trial "The court is not satisfied that the defendant cannot have a fair and impartial trial in this county on the basis of the showing made," Parnell stated. Court, who has pleaded innocent to the felony charge, is scheduled to stand trial during the fall term of Circuit Court, which starts next month. He is free on bond.

Knowles Asks Counties to Aid Fight Against Inflation

Governor Urges Construction Cutbacks; Cites State Action

BY DON CASTONIA Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Gov. Warren P. Knowles has called upon Wisconsin counties to aid in the fight against inflation by "taking a reasonable approach" toward their 1970 budgets.

The governor, who was addressing delegates at the Wisconsin County Boards Association convention here this morning, urged careful review of proposed capital outlays and asked county supervisors to consider deferment of those projects "to give assistance to the President, who is seeking to bring about fiscal responsibility."

Knowles and 14 other governors met with President Nixon and his advisors in Washington Monday in an attempt to find ways to curb inflation.

Buildings Cancelled Knowles said he is urging the highway department to look at its programs. "We have already cancelled out two state buildings where bids were 15 per cent

He added that he will be meeting with state university officials later today to review their building programs to see where further cuts may be made. However, he said, he did not know where the university building program could be reduced and still meet current needs.

Ruin Industry Knowles noted that university construction programs already had been cut by the Legislature from the $150 million dollars he had recommended to $70 million in the budget.

The governor said that if the

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A proposed $9.6 million school budget was unveiled Monday night to the board of education and a meager turnout of interested residents of the district.

The budget represents what school administrators and teachers feel is needed to "appropriately run the district in 1970," Supt. of Schools William Spears said.

The request is 19 per cent over the $8 million 1969 budget which was the center of a controversy between Mayor George Buckley and the board of education.

Spears hinted the budget could not be cut significantly if the school district is to present a suitable educational program.

Perennial Victims He also said the perennial victims of fiscal control board budget cuts — capital improvements and maintenance — must be left intact this year.

"We can no longer afford to cut these things," he said.

Then Spears presented what he termed "our gift horse," and a major reason the budget request was not higher. All state aids will total nearly $1.7 million, he said, or double those received a year ago.

The main reason, he said, is that Appleton has moved from flat to the more lucrative equalized aids.

Because of the change in the state formula for aids and the more rapid growth rate of enrollment than valuation in this district, Spears said, the district will be receiving about $1.3 million in state formula aids compared with $610,000 in 1969, up over 7 per cent. The formula-decided aids are the major portion of the state aids to school systems.

50 at Meeting

One disadvantage to these equalized aids, however, is that budget cuts will reduce state aids. For every $80,000 cut from the proposed budget, Spears said, about $20,000 in state aids will be lost because the formula is based partly on the local share of the budget.

About 50 persons attended the publicized hearing on the school budget but at least 40 were school administrators, available to answer questions, and city and towns officials.

The hearing lasted about an hour and drew no sharp questions, as last year's request did. However, one board member suggested this may just be "the lull before the storm."

A year ago, Buckley, determined to keep down the tax rate at all costs, attacked the board of education for disregarding the plight of the over-burdened taxpayer. He pushed for a $1 million cut, but the fiscal board agreed to only a $500,000 reduction, leaving a budget of just over $8 million.

In a simplified format geared to the average person, Spears explained the proposed budget, using an overhead projector. He outlined where the money's coming from and what's it's going to be spent for.

Calling it a budget "we can live with," he said that inflationary and enrollment increases, in effect, justify over $1 million of the increase alone.

Additional Students

It costs about $700 to educate one student per year, and so the additional 1,000 students calls for an additional $700,000. Add to this, he said, the 5 or 6 per cent inflation factor — which represents about $400,000 to $450,000 — and you have over $1.1 million in increases.

He then made his plea for the maintenance and capital improvement portions of the budget.

Suggested Changes Rejected

No Alterations Made In Housing for Elderly

If Appleton's housing project for the elderly has what one housing authority member termed "the institutional look," it apparently won't be changed substantially from present plans.

Representatives of Hutter Construction Co., Inc., Fond du Lac, and Brust and Brust, Inc., Milwaukee architects, turned aside suggestions for major design changes Monday night in their first meeting with the housing authority since being chosen developers last week.

Chief advocate of change was Leon Jensen, immediate past president of the authority. He said he hoped it would be possible "to avoid the institutional look," suggesting "making it more attractive, making it less of a rectangular sort of thing."

Rectangular Plan

The 10-story high-rise apartment building is on a rectangular floor plan, with bands of dark and light brick forming horizontal lines on the exterior.

Architect John Brust told the authority that modern architecture stresses simplicity, for reasons of both appearance and economy. "We've got the most economical shape," said Brust, but he said the treatment of the exterior could be modified to suit housing authority tastes.

Jensen argued that other developers had submitted proposals showing circular and octagonal buildings, and he surmised that if the cost had been prohibitive the designs wouldn't have been suggested.

John Oliver, authority secretary, recalled one proposal that had the lines of a shallow "Y" and he asked whether that shape would work. The developer, George Hutter, and Brust said such a design would result in waste space at the crotch of the "Y."

Same as Fond du Lac

Members of the authority also asked what differences there were between the plan and a project Hutter handled for the Fond du Lac Housing Authority. The developers replied that the position on the site will angle for best exposure to sunlight and take advantage of the nearby Fox River view. Inside, a stairway has been re-positioned and corridors jog at the building's mid-point to eliminate a "bowling alley" appearance, they added, and the outside brick treatment differs from the Fond du Lac project.

After the design had been discussed at length, Harold Bravick told fellow members of the authority, "Let's not get involved in another design. This is it, let's face it. It's a good design. It's got good living quarters. What's important is not the exterior but the interior living for these people."

Space Okay

Without dropping his other reservations, Jensen agreed, "The living space is okay." Bravick also said time is important in carrying out the project. The Hutter representatives said it could take several weeks to rework the design and then it would be at risk of being turned down by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in Chicago.

Norman DeBroux, authority president, added that a meeting of representatives of the authority and developers is scheduled for Oct. 3 at the Chicago HUD office and if the design were altered drastically, "we may not have that meeting."

One Opposed

Hutter was named developer by the authority last week after HUD rejected the local body's selection of a Milwaukee firm. HUD suggested Hutter instead. Jensen was the lone member of the five-man group opposing the HUD directive.

The Hutter proposal, carrying a cost estimate of $2,177,600, was third-highest in a field of five competitors.

The authority preferred a proposal by Towne Realty, Inc., Milwaukee, costliest at $2,246,700. Next in price was the only local proposal, submitted by Oscar J. Boldt Construction Co. and Zwack & Peeples, Ltd., architects, both of Appleton, $2,189,000.

Wendt, Ceda, Rhom & Tipples, Ind., Northfield, Ill., offered a $2,169,680 proposal, and Public Facilities Associates, Inc., Madison, a $2,074,800 plan.

approaches to curriculum from our students" Smith said the concept of the Lawrence University Community Council (LUCC) and its implementation "have been bold, imaginative steps" in the university's governance. The council, composed of students, faculty and administrators, "is involved in governing is a being watched by the nation as necessity." He called for establishment of a system of student appointments to standing committees of the faculty, saying, "Their insights and approaches to the solutions of problems, I have found, are sincere, refreshing and exciting."

Smith also suggested examination of traditional degree requirements with an eye to allowing each student to set his own goals in consultation with his advisor. The system could be altered each year by re-examining the goals and restating the requirements, he said.

Most Exciting

"If Lawrence were to follow a route based upon individual hopes, goals and needs," he said, "we may very well be able to create one of the most exciting undergraduate, truly liberating arts, programs in the country; and we may be able to learn some very interesting visitation hours was "generally liberal," the university must be concerned with "the privacy of the person who wishes to be alone, as well as one who wishes to entertain." He also said the institution "should not set itself up in a manner to encourage cohabitation" nor "to condone or encourage premarital sexual relations."

In drug matters, he said, both a continuing, extensive educational program and psychological or medical help are needed. "Students who are selling or trading narcotics, hallucinogens also drew Smith's attention. He noted that while his attitude with

On Use of City Water

Appleton water users cooperated better than water plant equipment during last week-end's oversized plumbing job at the treatment facility.

According to Gary Stegeman, water plant superintendent, water utility customers were "definitely restrained" in cooperation with his request that every water user be one go easy on water consumption while pumping capacity at the plant was restricted by said.

Stegeman said he was "real after he pleaded guilty to a disorderly conduct charge a.m. Sunday when a valve blew given last weekend. Customers brought after he beat up his wife at their home." Outagamie County police arrested Skenandore at his home Friday. His wife suffered a cut on her forehead for about 15 minutes, until another valve could be located.

Panel Tells Counties

State Welfare Bound to Fail

Post-Crescent Staff Correspondence

MADISON — The present system of welfare in Wisconsin is designed to fail, members of a panel on the effects of the state budget on local government agreed Monday.

However, the panelists, who were addressing the Wisconsin County Boards Association convention, were split as to why the welfare system was failing. Arnie Agnew, chairman of the Rock County Board, and Assemblyman John Parkin, who is also chairman of the Wood County Board, charged the present welfare programs were racked with abuses and should be tightened to give counties greater control.

James Sykes, chairman of the Dane County Welfare Committee, contended the problem will never be solved until steps are for people going on welfare. Parkin drew applause from county board delegates when he said: "Social worker graduates from the University of Wisconsin only know the words, 'gimme, gimme, gimme.'"

He said, "it is time we stood up to the feds." The Wood County assemblyman contended the he was not opposed to helping those who needed help. "We should be our brother's helper, not his keeper."

Agnew proposed that federal and state funds be given to counties with no strings attached for welfare programs. He suggested the state set a poverty level — preferably of $2,000 annual income — and then leave all policymaking to the county. All able-bodied persons should be required to work, Agnew said, and county-administered job training programs be made available along with scholarship programs for needy students.

Not Programs

Senator Says Welfare Funds to be Put Back

MADISON — State Sen. Walter Hollander, R-Rosendale, Monday predicted the restoration of some welfare funds but not necessarily a reinstatement of programs which were eliminated in the recently-adopted state budget.

Hollander, chairman of the Legislature's joint finance committee, also said shared aids returned to local units of government, and not increased state spending, were responsible for most of the increase in the state budget.

a panel on the effects of the state budget on local government at the opening session of the Wisconsin County Boards Association convention.

Hollander said $374 million of the $447 million increase in the local government in the form of various aids. The direct increases in spending by the state itself could have been handled without a tax increase, Hollander contended.

He indirectly blamed the affect of the state budget on local government with such a delicate issue as job training," Agnew said.

He also suggested free legal council for anyone who felt he was wrongly denied welfare.

Sykes contended that once people were on welfare, it was often too late. Under-employment is more of a problem than unemployment, he indicated.

The Dane County official said the minimum wage should be raised sufficiently to prevent financial pressures from breaking up families and forcing them on welfare.

He also denied that welfare recipients did not want to work or that they were receiving too much money.

About 90 per cent of the welfare cases in Dane County are unemployable, he said. Sykes noted the average monthly family income in Dane County, after taxes, was about $1,000.

Welfare families received $250, and this has now been cut back to $208.

Tourism May Get Boost by New Council

8 Northeastern Wisconsin Counties Form Organization

A temporary organization of persons from eight northeastern Wisconsin counties was formed late this morning as the first step in setting up a regional tourism promotion organization.

The seven persons, not necessarily representing any organization or their county, were among about 30 who attended a meeting set up by the State Tourism Information Section to discuss the regional approach.

While counties and communities would retain their own identities and promotion, the regional group would use funds, probably matched by state monies, to promote the entire region, Herbert Lemke, chief of the tourism section, said.

Little Opposition

The idea drew little opposition from those present although Floyd Dickson, a Door County resort owner, questioned where the local funds would come from. He was told there could be many sources, including regional group memberships, contributions from local Chambers of Commerce and counties and other groups.

Named to the tentative organizing group were Louis Micheln, Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce assistant manager, from Outagamie County; Jürgen Moritz, Oshkosh, manager of the Pioneer Inn, Winnebago County; James Palm, Green Bay, North Central Airlines official, Brown County; Arlie Davison, New London radio station owner and secretary of the Waupaca Chamber of Commerce, Waupaca County, and Gale Degner, Fond du Lac Association of Commerce executive assistant, Fond du Lac County.

Representatives also were

Wolf Floodplain Studied

NEW LONDON — Technical information for regulating the Wolf River floodplain was presented at a public hearing Monday attended by about 100 persons.

Titled "Flood plain Information Wolf River, Lake Poygan to Shawano" the U. S. Army Corps of Engineer study accomplished establishing elevations of the floodplain — something hitherto unknown.

It also chronicled the history of flooding on the Wolf River in great depth.

Greatest advantage of the study will be gained by county zoning committees in exactly pinpointing the floodplain of their area.

Col. William Stewart, U. S. Corps of Engineer Chicago regional office head, said, "this is not a flood control or zoning study but a study analysis of hazards."

Stewart said the report was the first compiled by the district office entirely for the state and three additional studies are

Wolf River Study Fails Its Objective

NEW LONDON — The latest Wolf River floodplain study didn't go far enough.

This was the opinion shared by a large number of persons attending a public hearing Monday on the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers study.

Herb Meidam, Town of Fremont chairman, said the study stopped short of its destination. "Why did this report stop at Lake Poygan?" Meidam questioned.

Gordon Bubolz, president of the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission, agreed.

Should Continue

Meidam said the survey should have continued to the dam at Neenah, charging that the dam controlled the level of the river and affected the entire flood plain.

Bubolz said a flood this past June and July was greatly contributed to by the closing of the dam. Not only did the dam cause additional flooding, but caused septic tanks to be flushed out and the effluent aided the growth of algae in the lake.

Toxic Algae

fluent society for high taxes. Increases in spending, he indicated, "evolve from our standard of living and what we want from government."

On the welfare cuts, the Rosendale Republican said he believed a legislative subcommittee would recommend exempting certain items from the 120 per cent of the national average limit.

Rent, in particular, was a major item with which there could be a problem.

In the budget, aid to families with dependent children was limited to 120 per cent of the national average, with the ceiling on rents being $72 per month.

Hollander appeared doubtful the aid programs for children of unemployed parents, children between the ages of 18 and 20 who are still in school, and children with step-parents, would be restored.

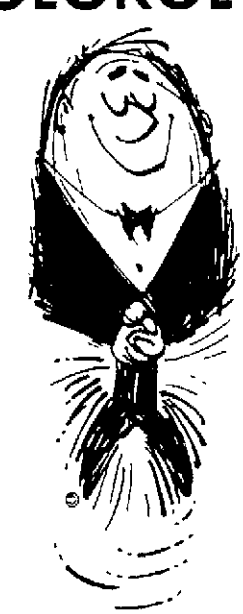

The statute for those programs was abolished, Hollander said. He first indicated the only help available for those families was direct relief from a township or city but later indicated that counties could, if they so chose, continue the programs without state or federal assistance.

He defended the state welfare programs, saying: "I believe we have done a good job of screening applicants."

He noted that in terms of the number of welfare cases per 1,000 people, Wisconsin ranked 45th in aid to the blind and aid to the disabled, 43rd in old age assistance and 41st in aid to dependent children programs.

However, the state ranked fifth in the average amount of payment per case.

That's Autumn You See Outside

BY CHUCK DILDAY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

In case you haven't noticed it, autumn crept in on us at 12:07 a.m. Today is the first day of fall.

The thermometer gave us another reminder when the temperature managed to struggle up to 57 degrees at noon today.

And, as you probably have noticed in driving around the Fox Cities and the surrounding countryside, the flamboyant tints of autumn already are starting to appear on the branch tips of trees. In fact, some maples are showing a glow of red and orange to herald the season.

Your wife also will be reminding you one of these days that it is about time to wash the storm windows and get them up — which is a good idea before your time is taken up raking the falling leaves.

Jackets Are Worn

It's different, too, to watch the youngsters as they go to school wearing jackets or at play in slacks instead of summer shorts.

And, in case you need further reminder, Halloween is only a few weeks away. And then Thanksgiving, and pretty soon the merchants will be reminding us that there are only umpteen over the weekend, Appleton shopping days left until Christmas.

Yep! Autumn is here and its showing itself throughout the state. Better get busy.

Weather was cool and cloudy in Wisconsin today after a couple of days of slightly warmer temperatures.

Police Informed Vandal Damage Building Firms

Vandals caused damage at a warehouse and equipment owned by two construction firms as they were working on the weekend, Appleton police were told Monday.

Gauges were smashed on the instrument panel of a tractor at the Valley Ready Mixed Concrete Co., Newberry Street plant.

Six windows, five of them containing 16 panels of reinforced wire glass, were smashed with stones and chunks of concrete at the Christensen-Wisnet Oil Co., 702 S. Outagamie St.

Officials of the P & B Excavating, Inc., rural Appleton, reported that vandals poured sand into the oil spout of a tractor parked at Verbrick and Wilkie Streets.

200 Pigs Killed in Barn Fire

BLACK CREEK — About 200 pigs died in a fire that swept a large barn on the William Springs farm, route 2, Black Creek, early today.

A passing truck driver discovered the blaze and turned the alarm in to the Town of Center Fire Department about 2:15 a.m. The farm is on Pleasant Road, just east of Outagamie County Trunk A.

Firemen, who found the barn burning out of control when they arrived, remained on the scene until about 5:45 a.m. today. Cause of the fire was not immediately determined. Firemen saved a corn crib near the barn.

Also destroyed were 800 bales of straw, several tons of hay, an elevator, and a corn picker. There was no immediate estimate of the loss. The barn was 100 by 40 feet.

Living quarters at the farm were not occupied. The Springs presently live at route 1, Seymour.

Fire, in the spring of 1967, destroyed a barn and livestock at another of Springs' farms located less than a mile west of the barn that burned today.

Youth Injured In Auto Crash

Steve Van Handel, 9, route 1, Kaukauna, was taken by Kaukauna Ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Appleton about 5:25 p.m. Monday after the car he was in was involved in an accident at Outagamie County Trunks N and JJ, two miles north of Little Chute. He suffered a bump on the head.

County police said he was in a car driven by Margaret Van Handel, also of route 1, Kaukauna, which was eastbound on JJ, when it was involved in accident with a northbound auto driven by Joyce A. Konkle, route 2, Kaukauna. Damage to the two vehicles was estimated at $900.

Vandals Spray Paint On Village Man's Truck

KIMBERLY — Ray McSorley, 220 S. Willow St., reported to police that yellow paint was sprayed on the side of his truck while it was parked in the driveway at his home Saturday.

The paint obscured much of the advertising lettering on the truck, according to the complaint.

Mays' 600th Career Homer Gives Giants 4-2 Triumph

Seaver Hurls 24th Win For Mets

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Didier has become perhaps the first catcher ever to pull off the hidden ball trick, but no one—except Babe Ruth—has ever been able to make them disappear like Willie Mays.

Wonderful Willie, with one wave of his magical bat, became only the second man to hit 600 home runs in a major league career when he blasted a two-run, tie-breaking, pinch hit blast in the seventh inning Monday night, giving San Francisco a 4-2 victory over San Diego.

The homer also put the Giants one half game ahead of Atlanta in the National League's West Division after Didier's bit of mysticism helped the Braves to a 5-3 triumph over Houston.

It also was the seventh inning and Houston had two runs home when Didier waved his magic finger and presto!...the ball disappeared, then reappeared, just in time to catch Norm Miller trying to score from third, ending the threat.

"I saw the pitch was low," Miller explained. "Then I saw something white go back and hit the backstop and I heard Salty

Twins Triumph for AL's Western Title

BY DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The West has been won, but Minnesota's embattled Twins figure they've just begun to fight.

"We've got a long way to go, a subdued Harmon Killebrew cautioned Monday night while the Twins celebrated a 4-3 victory over Kansas City that clinched first place in the American League's West Division.

"We haven't won anything yet," Billy Martin, the Twins' fiery freshman manager, toasted his players with champagne after Killebrew's 47th home run and a pair of run-scoring singles by little Cesar beat the Royals. But Killebrew and several other Minnesota veterans reflected soberly on their next battle.

Having mathematically ousted second place Oakland, the Twins must now prepare for their pennant playoff against Baltimore's runaway East Division champs, beginning Oct. 4 in the Orioles' park.

"Don't get me wrong; it's great to win," said Bob Allison. "But we've got to win three more before we get into a World Series."

In Monday night's only other AL action, Boston nipped the New York Yankees 4-3 and Seattle shaded California 5-4.

Killebrew, who now leads the majors in both runs batted in, fifth and ninth proved decisive 137, and homers, tied the game as the young Royals struck for with a leadoff blast in the fourth three runs, knocking out winner in the fifth. Allison followed with a Bob Miller. But Tovar's RBI singles in the ninth proved decisive 137, and homers, tied the game as the young Royals struck for with a leadoff blast in the fourth three runs, knocking out winner in the fifth. Allison followed with a Bob Miller. The Minnesota double and came around to right-hander, making his first score on two fly balls, sending start since he pulled a rib muscle on Aug. 8, checked the expansion team on five hits until the ninth.

"This was the big one," Martin bubbled after Al Worthington got the final out. "I'm glad we clinched it. Now we can relax."

Mike Garman, a 20-year-old right-hander, beat the Yankees in his major league debut, but needed relief help from Sparky Lyle after the Red Sox came from behind with a four-run burst in the fourth.

George Scott's triple was the key blow.

A two-run throwing error by California pitcher Andy Messersmith in the fifth inning helped the Pilots subdue the Angels. Reliever Diego Segui checked an eighth inning California rally and mopped up in the ninth, preserving the victory for Dooley Womack.

NOTES and NOTIONS

About two years ago, Green Bay's Travis Williams was forced to carry a football under his arm just about everywhere he went — to the dining room, to the movies, etc. This was Vince Lombardi's way of impressing upon the then-rookie the importance of hanging onto the ball. It seems Travis had a propensity for fumbling — especially on pass plays. Williams succeeded in overcoming his weakness. Nowadays, he is carrying the ball over the goal line. His reception of a touchdown pass from Bart Starr in Sunday's regular-season opener (after having scored a brace of TDs in each of the last three exhibition games) was perhaps as much an indication that "Travis is back" as "The Pack is back." Williams has not only become an excellent pass receiver, but he has regained his 1967 skill and confidence as a ball carrier. In fact, experience has made the "Road Runner" more accomplished on scrimmage plays than he was in his sensational opening season.

To the basic Williams' flair, add a dash of Dave Hampton and garnish liberally with Jim Grabowski draw plays and you have the recipe for the Packers' most exciting attack since the 1961-2 heydays of Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor. Hampton, who could turn out to be as good a find as — or even better than — Williams proved that his flashy pre-season work was no fluke. The first two times he touched the ball from scrimmage against the Bears, Dave netted 43 yards — 16 on a run and 27 on a pass.

The speed, drive and determination of the so-called "nickle and dime" boys — Williams and Hampton — moved them both ahead of proven pro Donny Anderson in the Packer running back alignment. Anderson's current frustration is understandable, but his remarks after the opening game of the long campaign were ill-advised to say the least. Bank accounts

Praises Packer Blocking

Both Teams Played Solid, Fundamental Football, Says Phil

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Phil Bengtson, always under control, is not one to effervesce.

Neither, as a perfectionist, is he but I wasn't aware we had he lavish with praise.

But he came away from the projection room Monday with some highly favorable impressions of what had transpired in Lambeau Field 24 hours earlier, and he said so.

A Bernie Bierman disciple with a well developed appreciation of the game basics, the Packers' head coach, general manager launched his analysis had more effective blocking on of that 17-0 conquest of the Bears by declaring, "There was good football in there — by both teams, incidentally.

"Nothing particularly fancy, but good, old fashioned, fundamental football."

Proved Correct

Overall, he was nothing loath to admit, it had been "very encouraging... our evaluation of the strength we thought we had more or less proved to be correct.

"It indicated we have quick running backs, with depth. With their quickness, we're a threat with the running game."

The reference was to Travis Williams, Jim Grabowski, and Dave Hampton, who amassed 188 yards rushing among them as the Packers christened their 1969 National Football League season with their first shutout since 1967.

Bengtson also reported: X-rays of quarterback Bart Starr's injured instep were negative, indicating it was only a sprain.

Sore Shoulder

He is not certain at this point who will be activated to replace linebacker Jim Flanigan, who suffered a broken arm in Sunday's match.

Tight end Marv Fleming's left shoulder is sore but his injury is not considered to be serious.

He was surprised we passed that little (14 times).

The Packs rushing success and miserly defense were "very" encouraging.

There was no particular reason why halfback Donny Anderson did not play against the Bears.

Sprained Instep

Commenting on Starr's injury, Bengtson explained, "we don't know how sore it is, but it appears to be a sprained instep. It happened when he was avoiding a rusher in a passing situation.

"As for Fleming, his shoulder is a little sore but the doctor says it won't take any time to heal."

In discussing the matter of a replacement for Flanigan, expected to be sidelined for at least two months, Bengtson said, "we'll probably add some- body from the taxi squad later in the week, but we don't have a linebacker on it."

Should veteran Ray Nitschke be forced out of action, he noted, Lee Roy Caffey would be required to move to the middle with Fred Carr taking over Caffey's right side station.

In his analysis of the game Phil observed, "I knew we hadn't passed too many times, but I wasn't aware we had thrown only 14 passes. I also was surprised we didn't have a better bulge in the overall statistics as far as the number of plays is concerned. I thought we controlled the ball better than we did (59 to 51)."

How did he explain Grabowski's success with the draw? "We had real good blocking — the line blocked real well. We had more effective blocking on their linebackers than we've had in a long time."

The Bears' great Dick Butkus had been well handled, who had been responsible?

"It varies," Phil replied. "Gil-

One mark of a successful football team is its ability to take advantage of any breaks during a particular ballgame. Like grabbing a fumble, intercepting a pass, or catching a short punt and — either directly or indirectly — turning the opponent's miscues into points.

The Kimberly Papermakers used that same formula at Kaukauna Saturday and came away with an important 18-0 victory leaving coach Jack Wipich's charges the only unbeaten squad in the Fox Cities at 3-0.

Rugged defense and a quick-striking offense have keyed the Papermakers to date. In the trio of triumphs, the Red & White have allowed only eight points (to Clintonville) while rolling up 78 of their own.

The defensive unit set up all three of Kimberly's TDs against the Ghosts. First, pressure on Kaukauna punter gave the Papermakers the ball on the Ghosts' 34-yard line, and in eight plays Kimberly had its initial score.

Gary Wyngaard flopped on a Ghost fumble on the Kaukauna 5-yard line and hung on for a 14-8 victory. Ted Wenning hit on a strike of 12 passes for 126 yards and six of the receptions by Nick Heinritz for 117 yards.

Leads Neenah

Bob Block's 3-touchdown performance against South led Neenah. The Rocket back carried 14 times for 137 yards, a good chunk of the 310 total yards Neenah racked up.

Among the losers, besides Kaukauna, were Little Chute, Appleton East, Appleton West, Menasha and St. John. The Patriots, Terrors, Bluejays and Dutchmen have all lost their first three starts.

St. Mary, which had allowed 77 points in its first two games, yielded just 14 to Weyauwega and came up with 14 of its own to salvage a tie with the Indians.

Little Chute, now 1-1-1, fell behind, 21-0, to a tough Wau-paca outfit in the first three periods but rallied for a pair of final-quarter TDs to make it 21-12. Bill Fitzpatrick caught 10 passes for 108 yards for the Mustangs.

Appleton East and West continued similar seasons in the Fox River Valley Conference. Neither has been able to generate much offense, and that was again the case over the weekend as the Pats lost to Preble, 25-6, and the Terrors were blanked by Green Bay East, 20-0. Bad breaks especially hurt West.

Offense, or lack of it, is still

Weather Bureau, Pentagon Join in Predicting Hurricanes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau and the Defense Department have joined to try to find a better way of predicting the intensity and intentions of killer hurricanes.

Talks between the two federal agencies were initiated on orders from President Nixon in the wake of Hurricane Camille, which devastated the Louisiana and Mississippi coasts last month.

Dr. Robert White, administrator of the Environmental Sciences Service Administration, said improvements are being made by the Department of Commerce, which maintains the Weather Bureau.

White said the talks center on the use of the eye of a hurricane, which is most important, and the use of reconnaissance planes but obsolescent planes, while the Air Force had better planes but less adequate equipment.

Improvement in this area was one of the chief recommendations made by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew when he returned from an inspection of Camille's damage.

"We have to increase the ability to predict storms, where they are coming ashore, their intensity," Agnew said.

The vice president said meteorological reports before Camille struck fell short of what they should have been. He also observed the Navy had good equipment for studying hurricanes but obsolescent planes, while the Air Force had better planes but less adequate equipment.

Tropical Storm Sends High Water Into Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Ramping waters, collapsed bridges and axle-deep mud isolated several sections of Florida's panhandle today in the wake of a storm that spun off the lowlands along the Gulf of Mexico.

Record rainfall continued along the Ochlocknee River system, a sprawling agricultural area curving west and north of Tallahassee to the Georgia border.

The Weather Bureau said Tallahassee had received 12 inches and Blountstown 11 inches during the 24-hour period ending late Sunday night.

The Tallahassee Weather Bureau issued flood warnings for Blountstown, Bloxham and Quincy, and predicted the waters would rise above the disastrous flood levels of 1964.

No 'Buddy System'

Aldrin Sr. Criticizes NASA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edwin E. Aldrin, space safety consultant, retired Air Force colonel and father of the only man to walk both in space and on the moon, says NASA has rejected his idea of using the old military "buddy system" in the next manned lunar mission.

Aldrin, a pioneer in military aviation and at 73 still a qualified pilot, says he proposed to the space agency postponing the Apollo 12 moon shot and running it in tandem with the Apollo 13 mission as a safety measure.

"It is time that we make some arrangement to rescue our astronauts if anything goes wrong," Aldrin said.

"They could launch one of the spacecraft with a two-man crew and have it serve as a buddy for the other, in case of emergency," Aldrin said.

"I told George Mueller (NASA's director of manned space flight) we should move Apollo 12 back and try out the buddy system, but I got shot down," Aldrin told a reporter.

The senior Aldrin has been serving as a NASA safety consultant, under Jerome Lederer, NASA's director of manned space flight safety.

"I'm a consultant but I'm not consulted," Aldrin complained. Apollo 12 is scheduled for launch Nov. 14, followed three months later by Apollo 13. Both are designed to land men on the moon, as Aldrin's son, Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin Jr., did as part of the Apollo 11 mission last July.

Protection Rescue The elder Aldrin said the buddy system, with one flier staying close to another for both protection and rescue purposes, was a major morale factor among Air Force fighter pilots.

Aldrin has gone through the suspense not only of watching his son on the Apollo 11 mission, but of the worry of the four-day Gemini 12 mission in which his son set an extravehicular activity record, still in effect, of 5½ hours outside the spacecraft.

Lederer answered Aldrin's charges by saying the buddy-system proposal was impractical, and would require not only dual spacecraft but a tremendous mission control center capable of controlling two spacecraft at the same time.

"This would be tremendously expensive, and I don't know if it could be done," he said.

Likely to be Fatal Lederer also has pointed out, in talks, that "an accident on the lunar surface is likely to have fatal consequences. The survival limit on the lunar surface for oxygen is 48 hours.

"In the current state of the art it would be impossible to launch a manned rescue vehicle to get there in this time or to provide space within the rescue LM or command module for the return of rescued astronauts.

"To pre-launch an LM in place on the lunar surface to act as a spare would require assurance of landing on a spot near the expected manned landing and doing it automatically, which in itself would require an extraordinary engineering and trial effort, at great cost."

Lederer said there was no question but that in the future astronaut rescue capability from lunar-surface or orbital emergency must be provided.

"But it's out of the picture for Apollo," he said.

Uptight? Dump Bra, Coeds Urge CEDAR FALLS, Iowa (AP) — "Is your girl uptight and irritable? Throw your support to Bra-less Friday."

So reads an invitation distributed to men's dormitories on the University of Northern Iowa campus by coed leaders of a sort of freedom demonstration today.

The affair will reach a climax at 10 p.m. with a rally at Prexy's Pond, a shallow pool on the university grounds.

"We don't have any plans for a mass disposal of bras in the pond," said one coed, "but you never can tell what some of the students might do."

Exploratory Blast The commission described the initial blast as exploratory, to determine whether weapons devices of much greater force could be tested safely on the island. And officials said later tests would be canceled if the exploratory blast gave any hint of potential disaster.

The Princeton and her destroyer escorts, headed here from Long Beach, Calif., will take positions 25 to 30 miles away from ground zero—the spot where the test will be detonated.

The ships will house more than 150 project workers. About 100 other persons will remain on the island during the test, and the rest of the 800 now working on Amchitka will be flown to Adak Island or Anchorage.

In addition to the three Navy ships, two trawler-type vessels also will be standing off Amchitka. They are being used to study biological life in the area.

Newsman at Distance The AEC plans to keep newsmen away from the site, with its official press office to be set up 1,400 miles away in an Anchorage hotel. An AEC spokesman said newsmen would not be allowed on the carrier or on the island with scientific observers.

Meanwhile, in Victoria, B.C., a seismological report said earthquakes and tidal waves along the west coast of Canada "cannot be ruled out as a possibility" after the blast.

Dr. E. G. Milne, seismologist with the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, said Saturday it would be "extremely foolish" to disregard the possibility of an earthquake in the wake of the underground explosion.

"Of course it could happen," he said. "There is a major geological fault in the Aleutian Archipelago and another along the Alaskan coast. It is possible that the explosions could trigger a slippage along the fault—that is, an earthquake."

Moslems Convene To Condemn Israel

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Leaders of 24 Moslem moderates — most of them moderates on the Arab-Israeli question — assembled in Morocco's capital today to condemn Israel's annexation of Jerusalem. But a dispute appeared likely over Arab demands for stronger words.

Revolutionary Arab leaders, including Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser, sent word they would not attend the three-day meeting.

Non-Arab leaders were expected to limit their protests to adoption of resolutions condemning the annexation of Jerusalem by Israel after the 1967 war and the fire Aug. 19 in Jerusalem's Al Aqsa mosque, one of Islam's most holy places.

The conference was called to take advantage of the widespread indignation which the burning of the mosque caused in Arab lands. The Arab states hoped to widen the discussion from Jerusalem to a general condemnation of the Israeli occupation of parts of Jordan, Egypt and Syria.

Cordial Relations But some of the non-Arab countries maintain cordial relations with Israel, and they were expected to insist that the conference deal only with Jerusalem and the mosque.

Although Israel has charged an Australian Christian with setting the fire in the mosque, the Arabs charge that it resulted from Israel's occupation of Old Jerusalem, the Arab sector which Jordan had taken in the 1949 Palestine war.

Several of the more militant Arab countries, including Syria and Iraq, were boycotting the meeting because only observer status was granted the Palestine Liberation Organization.

The boycotters claim that Jerusalem is the capital of Palestine, and any discussion of the fate of the city must include representatives of the Palestinians.

The meeting is sponsored by Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Morocco.

Nasser Seeks Delay Egypt appeared to have lost interest as the predominantly moderate lineup became apparent. Nasser unsuccessfully tried to secure a postponement on the grounds the meeting coincided with a trip he planned to Moscow. Then he developed influenza and sent his vice president, Anwar Sadat.

Moslem countries in black Africa also are staying away, because they get substantial aid from Israel.

Shah Mohamed Reza Pahlavi of Iran, President Mohamed Yahya Khan of Pakistan, Jordan's King Hussein and Saudi Arabia's King Faisal arrived in Rabat Sunday and were greeted at the airport by King Hassan II of Morocco.

Chiefs of state or prime ministers were also expected from Algeria, Mauritania, Somalia, the Yemen Republic, Afghanistan, Gambia, Lebanon, Malaysia and Kuwait.

One of the most significant acceptances was that of Mauritania's president, Mokhtar Ould Daddah, whose entire mineral-rich desert nation has been claimed by Morocco for more than a decade.

India, which has 70 million Moslems, was not among the 35 countries invited, but the Indian government generally follows pro-Arab policies and sent good wishes to the conference.

Through His Distinguished Vatican Emissaries POPE PAUL VI

Answers Questions The Whole World Has Been Asking

- The Pill
- Population Explosion
- Love, Sex and Marriage

For Concerned Men and Women of All Faiths

Starting Sunday, in the Sunday Post-Crescent, the Vatican, the voice of Pope Paul VI, speaks out on today's "Crisis in Morality," a series of articles for concerned men and women of all faiths.

The Chicago Sun-Times, The Post-Crescent and a group of other major newspapers asked the Vatican to answer the world-splitting controversy aroused by the Pope's encyclical on birth control. With the encouragement of Pope Paul VI, these are the answers from the most qualified men suggested by the Holy See.

The Vatican is, and has been for centuries, the source of world-wide moral guidance and inspiration. Now . . . from this revered institution . . . a clear perspective on sex in marriage and a profound understanding to help us meet the problems and pressures of modern life.

Corporate Spending Keeps Inflation Going

Two Surveys Indicate Costs Not Keeping Industry From Continuing Expansions

BY ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — When a private survey on Tuesday forecast a shocking rise in corporate spending next year for plant and equipment, the nonchalance displayed by Nixon administration spokesmen was simply a cloak to hide their deep feeling of helplessness over runaway inflation.

Indeed, before the bad news that the investment boom is continuing was released to the public, it had become known to President Nixon's top economic policymakers and was mulled over by them. The astounding forecast by the Rinfret-Boston Corp., an economic consulting firm, that corporate investment would rise 9 percent in 1970 was slipped to the White House on the previous Thursday — five days before its public unveiling.

Unknown to Rinfret-Boston, the administration had almost identical information of its own. A highly secret, experimental survey of business investment conducted by the Commerce Department foreshadowed what one economist there described as a "huge surge" of spending next year. So incendiary is this information that the report has not yet been released and may never see the light of day.

Playing It Cool
Given this advance warning, the administration could have announced the results of both its own and the Rinfret-Boston survey, expressed alarm over the inflationary pace, and called for new tactics in the war against inflation. Instead, the calculated decision is to play it cool.

Thus, the administration's public response is to suggest that the Rinfret-Boston forecast is just a shade exaggerated (while suppressing its own corroborating survey), to express doubt that it means all that much anyway and, finally, to voice confidence that present policies are slowing down the inflationary engine.

In truth, however, that posture is less a product of confidence than of despair. Nixon on economic advisors confide that, based on past records, the Rinfret-Boston survey is probably very accurate indeed and that it spells the worst possible economic news. Furthermore, they admit that the administration simply has no new weapons to use in the war against inflation and claim that the bevy of proposals being thrust upon it from alarmed quarters are all defective. In that helpless position, the reaction has been to put up a sunny front.

Confidence Jolted
What makes all this so remarkable is that only a few weeks ago, as we reported, Nixon economic policymakers were confident that the tight monetary policy had brought inflation under control and that a possibly severe recession loomed for next spring. Now, based on the new investment data, they believe a 1970 recession is most unlikely.

But worse things than a recession may be just over the horizon. The new demand for funds to fuel corporate investment is expected to push interest rates to new highs, further depressing both the bond market and the stock market. That would extend Wall Street's mood of growing panic into 1970.

There is now fear in Wall Street that the Federal Reserve

Board may overreact to the bad news and further tighten the already tight screws on the money supply, inducing an economic crash. The administration, however, is confident that Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Fed will keep monetary policy at its present tight level and no tighter.

But the forecasts of more inflation ahead require much more than a continuation of present policy in the opinion of several economists, including Dr. Pierre Rinfret, president of Rinfret-Boston. Rinfret, a 1968 Nixon campaign consultant, who is still in frequent contact with the White House, feels that radical new tactics, including selective credit controls, are necessary.

Crippling Housing
Rinfret is not alone. There is a considerable body of opinion which feels that, while the present tight money policy is crippling the housing industry, it has done nothing to curb consumer credit aggravated by the proliferating credit cards.

On top of all this, the administration's past fiscal decisions are coming back to haunt it. Assuming that inflation would be under control by 1970, President Nixon had proposed that the present 10 per cent surtax fall to 5 per cent on Jan. 1. Now, with surtax extension enmeshed in the tax reform imbroglio, it is at least possible that the entire surtax may go off the books by then.

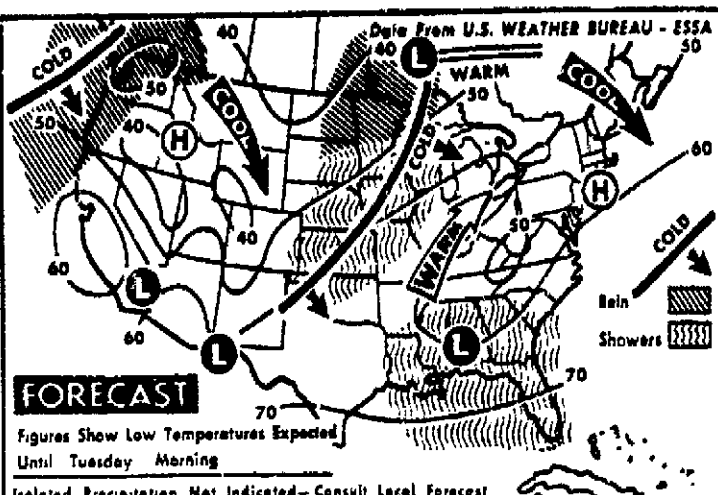

The non-extension of the surtax into 1970 will release ten billion dollars to corporations and consumers. The nightmare of this gusher suddenly heaped on the inflationary pile adds still another dangerous dimension for Mr. Nixon's economic advisors. The most candid of them admit that all the devices they have tried so far have failed. What to do next, they confess, they simply know not.

2 Stolen Vehicles Found Quickly, One Damaged

Two vehicles stolen in Appleton late Saturday and early Sunday were found hours after they were reported missing. Gustave Weckwerth, 1019 W. Hawes Ave., told police at 10 p.m. Saturday that his 1968 auto was taken from a W. Wisconsin Avenue tavern parking lot. The keys had been left in the car.

He found the auto about 9 a.m. Sunday at Brewster and Locust Streets. Weckwerth said the car's muffler was broken, there were scratches on the rear bumper, the air cleaner had been removed, and the auto had been driven about 100 miles.

Ray Sanders, 325 W. Spring St., told police at 8:55 a.m. Sunday that a Valley Refrigeration Co. van-type truck was taken from his home early Sunday. The 1969 vehicle was found in the 800 block of W. Winnebago Street about 10:45 a.m. The vehicle had not been damaged.

aiding retarded children. The several hundred delegates expected at the conference will hear several other speakers, including representatives from the state's three colonies for retarded children.

30-Year Bout With Hiccups 'Not Funny'

THOMSON, Ga. (AP) — For Walter Broome the only thing worse than a florist with an allergy to roses is a florist with hiccups. Broome, 52, has been plagued with hiccups "off and on" for almost 30 years.

Broome says an attack of hiccups usually lasts about two days. When an attack begins he goes to bed and takes a pill prescribed by his doctor. He says this helps, but nothing has been able to rid him of the hiccups permanently.

"Four days is the longest I've ever had them at one time," Broome said in an interview.

"It's worse than pain, really," he said. "When they do stop, you're afraid to move—even to burp. You're always scared they'll come back."

For Broome they always do. "That wouldn't be so bad except for the fact that the bouts often come back within a week," he said.

Broome's latest attack ended a few days ago. He said he lost 10 pounds. "It may seem funny when it's all over, but when you have the hiccups like I have them, it's not so funny," he said.

He said he and doctors do not know what starts them.

Broome said he has tried many remedies suggested to him, but the hiccups "always come back."

He said he developed his worst case of hiccups when he was in the Army in 1940.

"The doctor tried everything. Finally, he said there was nothing else to do but operate," says Broome. "He brought out the biggest syringe I've ever seen. It must have been a foot long."

Broome said he took one look at the syringe, began worrying and forgot the hiccups. But, he said, they came back later.

Sen. Nelson to Travel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., will attend the meeting of the Food and Agricultural Organization in Rome starting Nov. 8.

Dignitaries Line Up For Democratic Fete

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey are on the list of Democratic dignitaries expected next month for the party's annual Midwest conference, the party's Wisconsin chairman said Wednesday.

James W. Wimmer Jr. said Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla., is the latest party figure to accept an invitation to the Oct. 3-5 affair.

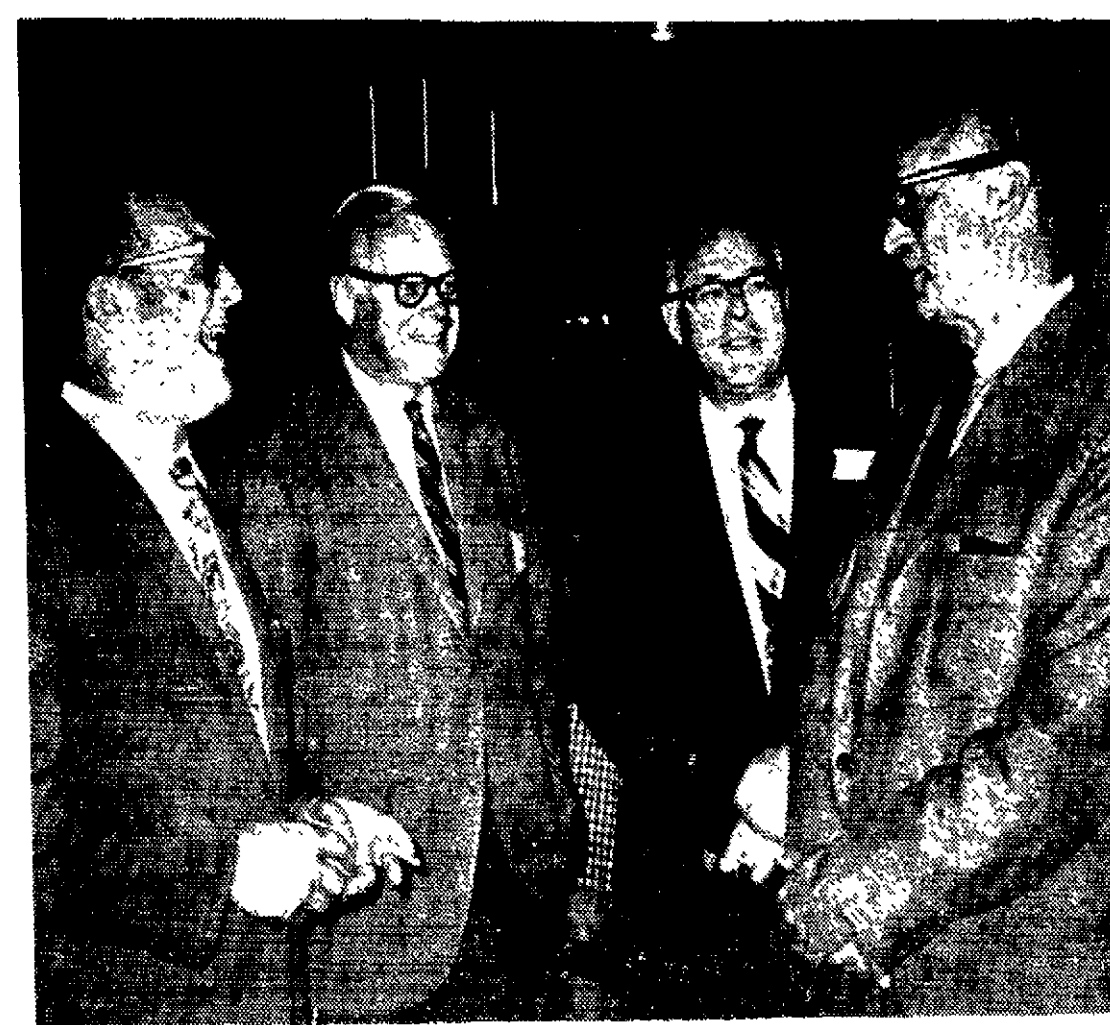

Wimmer said others expected to attend beside Humphrey and Muskie include Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D.; Julian Bond, Georgia legislator, and Adlai Stevenson III, Illinois state treasurer.

French Poet Heads Writers' Organization

MENTON, France (AP) — French poet Pierre Emmanuel has been elected president of PEN, the 40-nation writers' organization.

Paper Information Service Inducts Ten New Members

Get-Acquainted Luncheon Is Held at Waupaca Country Club

WAUPACA — Ten new members were formally inducted into the Wisconsin Paper Industry Information Service during a get-acquainted luncheon and meeting at the Waupaca Country Club.

Welcoming 50 new and old members was John T. Thomas, president, Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., Kaukauna, who spoke of how the 49 papermaking and processing plants, in 34 cities and towns in Wisconsin, "need each other and need to get our message across to the community. It is our responsibility to let everyone know papermaking is the key industry of Wisconsin and that Wisconsin is the top papermaking state in the union."

The Information Service is designed to tell the story and, most importantly, improve the image and health of the industry, according to its manager, Tom Branagan, who has offices in Neenah.

Elder Wallenda Plans Act for 'Golden Jubilee'

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Karl Wallenda, semiretired patriarch of "The Flying Wallendas," says he is going back to the high wire and trapeze full time next year "to celebrate my golden jubilee."

Wallenda has spent 49 years thrilling circus crowds with death-defying acts. He retired from the family act two years ago and has been working with the Imperial Circus here, mainly as an executive, although he has been making some appearances as a personal thing.

He said he and grandson, Alberto, 19, will go to Sarasota, Fla., next month to find a third man for their act. His youngest daughter, Carla, 33; her husband, Richard Futzman, 28; and Bay; C. Reiss Coal Co., Sheboyher son, Ricky, 14, have decided to go their own way with their own act, Wallenda said.

Gigantic Task

How it goes about this gigantic task each year was carefully delineated by Robert Suess, manager, marketing services, Appleton Coated Paper Co.

"Our service is educational and informative, designed to serve the industry and the people of Wisconsin," he said. "It is our job to provide all of the facts and figures, present the governmental information, organized mill tours in a statewide program, keep up with what is happening and needs to happen in environmental matters, such as anti-pollution measures; plan and promote Wisconsin Paper Week; provide teacher aids; produce and distribute educational filmstrips; implement beautification measures; provide career counseling; make case studies, prepare education exhibits, issue publications; prepare news materials and maintain the Wisconsin Papermobile."

"The guts and strength of this organization is how well we exchange information and then give it to the public," he added.
